Write Your Congressmen to Sign McLeod Bill Petition

Every citizen should take prompt and vigorous action to see that Congress adopts the pending McLeod bill in justice to the millions of depositors whose money is tied up in closed Federal Reserve member banks.

As the first step, telegraph your representative in Congress at once urging him to sign the mandatory petition being circulated by Representative McLeod, to force a vote in the House on April 23 on the measure.

Appeal to him to join the constructive-minded Congressmen who have already signed the petition, so that the necessary 145 signatures can be obtained swiftly.

This is the only way to assure action on the bill at this session.

In your telegram, place equal stress upon your belief that your representative and your senators, if they really represent you, will whole-heartedly support the measure when it comes before them for decision.

The McLeod bill is so plainly justifiable that it should be passed unanimously.

It provides that the national government shall take over assets of closed banks which were Federal Reserve System members, issue currency on these assets, and repay the depositors in full.

If you want this bill passed now, telegraph your Congressman today to sign Representative McLeod's petition.

KIDNAPED BABY DIES OF COLD, HUNGER

Today

Dr. Wirt to the Stand.
The Real Thing in Austria.
Why Paint Toenails?
Slow Waltz, Less Fighting.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MUCH EXCITEMENT in Washington over the Congressional examination of Dr. Wirt, concerning his statement that members of the "brain trust," close to the President, were planning a real revolution, in imitation of Stalin.

News columns will help you to estimate this plot and its seriousness. Dr. Wirt said it would be the happiest day in his life if it should turn out THOSE CLOSE TO THE PRESIDENT WERE NOT PUSHING US INTO A REVOLUTION.

SOMEBODY ASKED Dr. Wirt "whether he was directly or indirectly in the pay of the United States Steel Company." "Big Steel" certainly does not want revolution. It has very large investments, not only in Gary, where Dr. Wirt is in charge of education, but all over the United States and in foreign countries.

A company worth one thousand millions is like an Italian balancing plaster images on his head. It wants no sudden upheaval.

SENATOR "JIM" REED from Missouri was on hand, smiling, to look after Dr. Wirt's interest, which means that Dr. Wirt will have fair play, an opportunity to develop the whole plot of "treason? Stratagem? and spoils," if any.

The most exciting and enlightening allegation in his testimony was to the effect that Dr. Frederic C. Howe, head of the AAA consumers' council, had said: "If there was a way to stop feeding the people on federal relief, quicker progress could be made toward what we are after," namely, quicker progress toward the revolution. It is held self-evident that when men are fed they don't revolt.

President Roosevelt has announced his determination that nobody in the United States shall go hungry, when he is willing to work. That might postpone the revolution, and the arrival of "the man on horseback."

WHILE CONGRESS is hunting for a revolution, Vienna, and what is left of Austria, is threatened with one, without hunting for it. Signs placed secretly on mail-boxes read: "Workers and comrades, remain united and be careful. The day of revenge is coming." Signed "A Fighter."

With that comes news that the Vienna-Paris-London express train was wrecked in Austria by the removal of a steel rail, causing the death of a fireman and one other, and injuring many. The result of such tactics, keeping travelers and money out of Austria, may bring revolution more rapidly.

IN NEW ORLEANS the convention of "American cosmeticians," manufacturers and distributors of things that ladies put on their faces, announce more in the way of transformation than has been seen thus far, hair of many colors, easily changed, very fine "precious stone" effects on the finger-nails.

Many things can be forgiven, but hope and pray that ladies and cosmeticians can be persuaded to give up painting the toe-nails. It is a terrible thing, when a young woman crosses her legs, to see, peeping out of new-fangled sandals, a big toe with a nail made to look like a cabochon ruby.

DOES A WOMAN, young or old, imagine that any human being, especially a total stranger, could possibly be interested in her big toe-nail? Is there nothing that can go along in the good old way? Besides, painting the toe-nails makes the foot look as though it were suffering from blood-poisoning.

KNOWLEDGE OF mob psychology is shown in the statement of a night club manager: "When a fight breaks out in the club, the orchestra has orders to stop jazz and everything exciting, and play a quiet, dreamy waltz. That quiets them."

According to information obtained by Mr. "Whirligig," a quiet waltz keeps those not interested in the fight from joining it.

An intelligent Frenchman, Gustave Le Bon, has written a book called La Foule, "The Crowd," that confirms the night club manager's theory. Crowds do not reason; logic, argument have no effect on them. But music does affect them, and so does loud yelling.

IF YOU FEEL gloomy, and perhaps begin to feel that "the world is going to the dogs," remember that the Gracchi believed it, in Rome long ago. Adam and Eve believed it when they were put out of the garden. The world has always been "going to the dogs," yet always getting better.

If nothing else will cure you, take your automobile for a drive through the peach orchards of Georgia, now in bloom. For about two weeks more, on Georgia's rolling hills and level fields, thousands and thousands of acres will look like beautiful waves of perfumed pink.

GENEVA IS discouraging any limitations of arms agreement. No nation seems willing to say just how many guns, airplanes, submarines and how much poison gas would be "enough."

If European nations could arrange to respect each other's rights, give up the idea of cutting each other's throats, live decently for a while, and to let the white Europeans recover from the big war, there would be no need to worry about "arms limitation."

This country, it is to be hoped, will keep thoroughly prepared, with everything it needs in the way of defensive weapons, without asking anybody's permission

WILLS QUITS JUVENILE POST

Assistant Pitt Dean Named New Head At Home

Determined to end his five-year rule over the antiquated Juvenile Detention Home, A. L. Wills resigned today as superintendent of the home.

His resignation, effective May 15, was accepted "with regret" by the board, at a meeting held this noon in the chambers of Juvenile Court Judge Gustav L. Schramm, according to Mrs. J. B. Roessing, chairman of the board.

As successor, Walter Rome, 35, assistant dean of men at the University of Pittsburgh, was immediately chosen, Mrs. Roessing said.

Although Wills was reported as being dissatisfied with the action of the board during the past, Mrs. Roessing said his letter of resignation praised the work of the new board, six of whose members were named by Judge Schramm.

His letter of resignation stated that Wills felt free now to pursue a graduate course at the University of Chicago, since certain defects in the Juvenile Court system had been or were being remedied.

Mrs. Wills said that her husband felt "five years were long enough time in which to replace the old fire trap buildings of the home" and that Wills considered he had done all he could. Immediately after assuming his duties five years ago he began fighting for a building to replace the present structure at 3336 Fifth avenue.

Rome said he had accepted the post, but that he has no plans at present. He added:

"I'll have to wait until I get on the job and see what there is to be done, before I make my plans."

P. S. C. BANS CITY AT UTILITY QUIZ

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, April 11.—The Public Service Commission today rejected the offer of the City Council of Pittsburgh to send a representative to all conferences at which rate reductions by Pittsburgh utilities are discussed.

In a letter to John J. Kennedy, special assistant city solicitor of Pittsburgh, Louis J. Tevell, secretary of the commission, wrote

"The Commission greatly appreciates the city's offer of co-operation. However, its practical experience in the conduct of informal conferences with public service companies during the past several years has convinced it that the most satisfactory results can be obtained only when the conferences are limited to representatives of the Commission and of the utilities."

Tevell said the commission was anxious to avoid incorrect and undesirable publicity in connection with the hearings which are to get underway soon to bring the

Harry Thaw's 'Ideal Beauty' Divorced

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 11.—(INS.)—Mrs. Francine Tackel Levin, the youthful blonde whom Harry K. Thaw planned to glorify on the silver screen, was granted a divorce by Supreme Court Justice Frederick P. Close yesterday.

Formerly an artist's model and a clothing mannequin, Mrs. Levin was chosen by Thaw as the ideal beauty for the screen. He said he intended to produce pictures, but he never got around to it.

Bosses Get Tip From Workman At Westinghouse

Into the decorum of today's meeting of the stockholders of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company came the unexpected voice of a youthful employe who just "sat down and talked things over" with A. W. Robertson, chairman of the company's board of directors.

A. L. Humphrey, executive director of Westinghouse Air Brake Company, and H. S. Wherrett, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, were elected new directors and five others directors were re-elected.

Then E. R. Daly, an employe in the sales department, arose at the rear of the room and talked for 20 minutes with President F. A. Merrick and Chairman Robertson. Daly said:

"I think it would be a mighty good thing for the company executives to meet with small groups of employes an get their slant."

Chairman Robertson replied:

"I think that is a mighty fine suggestion. I believe we will follow it."

Directors re-elected were Jerome J. Hanauer, of New York; W. L. Mellon, F. A. Merrick, George M. Verity, chairman of the board of the American Rolling Mill Company, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the board of the Chase National Bank of New York.

The two new directors filled vacancies of long standing.

Concluding the meeting, President Merrick said:

"Things are a little more encouraging for 1934. This year started out with more uplift than since 1931. We are on the upward turn."

GIRL ENDS LIFE TO JOIN SISTER

Death today had ended the pitiful story of two orphan sisters of the Strip.

On Easter Sunday morning, Annie Kelly, 26, died of asthma in their dingy room at 1528 Penn avenue.

Today in St. Francis Hospital, her sister, Mary, 23, destitute and heartbroken at the loss of her sister, died from poison swallowed yesterday morning, the Coroner reported.

There was nothing more to live for, Mary had told her landlord, Charles Wengress, after she took the poison, he said.

The two girls, orphaned by the death of their mother 18 years ago, had tried to eke out an existence, according to Dr. E. H. Hankey, of Penn avenue and Sixteenth street, who had treated the mother and Annie. He had never seen the father, he said. A brother lived with the two sisters occasionally but he has not been seen recently.

Annie had been employed as a bookkeeper. When she died Mary was left penniless. She was in poor health and could not obtain work.

PEN INMATES FRIGHTENED BY BOLT

Lightning Hits Guard Tower as Storm Rages Here

Lightning struck a guard tower on the west wall of Western Penitentiary this afternoon, as thunderstorms swept the city and environs.

Prisoners pitching horseshoes in the prison yard below were startled by the crash, which knocked a cross-shaped top piece of ornamental iron from the tower. It fell outside the walls into the front yard of the prison.

Officials in the penitentiary office and the hundreds of inmates in the workshops were unaware the prison had been struck until the horseshoe pitchers notified guards.

No one was in the tower at the time.

The storms were the prelude of colder weather on the way from the Northwest, Observer W. S. Brotzman said. The mercury will fall to around 35 tonight, he predicted.

Snow flurries may supplant the rain, the weather man asserted. Snow was falling in Detroit and other lake cities today. Rainfall since yesterday totaled .31 inch. Tomorrow will be fair.

Lightning Gives 350 Scare at School Play

CLARION, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Lightning struck a transformer just outside the Junior High School last night, while an operatta was under way, breaking 15 or 20 windows and causing a near panic among the 350 spectators.

Thirteen-year old Mary Belle Baker, playing a piano overture, did not miss a note during the excitement, her example helping to prevent a panic, school officials said.

Rosa Ponselle's Concert Postponed

Because "unforeseen complications make it impossible" for Rosa Ponselle to appear with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra as soloist on Sunday night, April 29, as originally scheduled, the concert has been postponed until Wednesday night, May 16, the orchestra management announced today. All tickets sold for the original date will be honored at the later concert, to be held in Syria Mosque.

'Schnozzle' Wavers As House Battles

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Jimmie (Schnozzle) Durante followed his nose into the House press gallery yesterday to do a little "lobbyin' around." After watching a parliamentary battle, Durante said:

"Hot-cha! It's mutiny! Am I mortified!"

'Al' No Puppy, Quits Nila on Honeymoon

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Nila Cram Cook, former disciple of Gandhi, and her new husband, Albert N. Hutchins, whom she married after a whirlwind courtship on an ocean liner, are separated on their honeymoon.

Hutchins, a former mess boy on the liner, is in Wilmington, Del., visiting his parents. Miss Cook said:

"He is away for only a few days."

She indicated that it may become a permanent rift "if I have to travel about a good deal." She said:

"He is a very nice boy, but I don't see how marriage can go with my work."

It seemed, she added, that she would be moving often—to Chicago for the World's Fair opening, then to her family's "estate" near Davenport, Ia. She added:

"And then, I want to go to California, to write for the movies. My husband can't go along idle, like a puppy dog."

The former Iowa girl added that "Al" does not wish to be "merely Mr. Cook."

No immediate divorce is planned, Miss Cook said. "Al" is trying to make up his mind what he wants to do.

Nila's 6-year-old son, Sirios, is living with a relative two blocks from his mother's hotel.

The Iowa "estate" Miss Cook mentioned is 10 miles south of Davenport.

G. O. P. Sees Chance To Keep Radical Hunt Alive

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—While Dr. William A. Wirt, the Gary (Ind.) educator, stood dismissed by the special House committee named to investigate his charges of an attempt to overthrow the present social order, Republican members contended that new fields of exploration of the "new deal" had been opened.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Guy Rexford Tugwell and Brig. Gen. W. I. Westervelt, Chicago businessman and former aide to George N. Peek in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, loomed as the chief figures in a possible future inquiry.

It was the philosophy of Tugwell, which Dr. Wirt said was most freely quoted to him at the Virginia dinner given by an Agriculture Department employe.

WIRT GOING HOME

Dr. Wirt prepared to return to his home today. He appeared at the committee room with his counsel, former Senator James A. Reed, only to be informed officially that he would not be called again and the hearing was postponed until next Tuesday.

Declining to comment on his testimony, Dr. Wirt referred all inquries to Senator Reed. He declined to indicate his next step in his crusade.

FIRST LADY HITS WIRT CHARGES

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today contradicted the contentions of Dr. William A. Wirt that the subsistence homestead project at Reedsville, W. Va., is "a Communistic effort."

The wife of the President gave her views in response to questions at a White House conference with newspaperwomen.

Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"Never in this country to my knowledge has it been considered Communistic for an opportunity to be given to people to earn their own living and own their houses."

She added that while it is a fact that the government will provide the initial capital on this particular project, any private enterprise that wishes to do so may establish the same sort of communities. She declared:

"It is hoped that many private enterprises will wish to do it. The government is just pointing the way."

Savoldi Enrolls Baby With 'Irish'

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star now a professional wrestler, who said some time ago that he'd like to father a whole football team, got a start in that direction when Mrs. Savoldi presented him with a 10 pound son at Lutheran Hospital, yesterday. Savoldi has wired Notre Dame entering Joseph, Jr., with the freshman class of 1954.

Panel of Famed Painting Stolen

GHENT, Belgium, April 11.—(INS.)—The right panel of Hubert Van Eyck's world-famous painting, "The Worship of the Lamb," painted in the fifteenth century, was stolen during the night from the Cathedral of Ghent, it was made known today.

The panel was one of two taken from the cathedral by Germany during the war. The Germans were forced to return it in 1919.

Washington Cherry Blossoms on Time

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Aided by the recent warm sunshine, the Japanese cherry trees along the Potomac are expected to blossom by the end of the week. The District Commissioners proclaimed "Cherry Blossom Week" from April 14 to April 21.

Some of the buds were in bloom today.

MAN, 70, DENIES FATHERHOOD

Whether a 70-year-old storekeeper could be the father of a 16-year-old girl's baby was the question taken before the State Superior Court here today.

The case was appealed from the Somerset County Court by William Ramstedt, 70, who had been adjudged the father of a baby born to Virgie Alwine, of Conemaugh Township, and ordered to pay her $30 quarterly for the next 14 years.

The aged merchant based his appeal on evidence that two physicians had examined him and found that fatherhood was impossible.

On behalf of the young mother, evidence was produced to show numerous instances in which octogenarians and even one man 102 years old had become fathers.

Judge Frees Man Of Childless Wife

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 11.—(INS.)—Children "sometimes are the only things that make marriage worth while," Supreme Court Justice Henry G. Enzel, Jr., declared in granting an annulment of marriage to Edward Kronman, a Freeport dentist. The dentist sought the decree on the grounds that his wife had concealed from him a condition which made it impossible for her to have children.

Flames 'Steal Show' From Vince Barnett

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(AP.)—The guests expected almost anything to happen when Vince Barnett, Pittsburgh boy who has become Hollywood's best known "ribber," went into the kitchen to supervise the meal—someone's watch turning up in an omelet, for instance, or the sausages proving to be rubber.

Instead, the kitchen caught fire and the ranch house on the edge of the Mojave Desert burned down, causing $5,000 loss.

The guests—Jack La Rue, actor; Marty Brooks, Mort Mandell and Irving Pelson, writers, and Jules Covey, lawyer, stood in the cold night air and wondered if a Barnett joke had gone awry.

Fire authorities said, however, a defective flue was to blame.

BOY ADMITS ABDUCTION OF CHILD

Victim Held Captive For Two Days in Chicago Attic

BULLETIN.

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—A few hours after blonde, 2-year-old Dorette Zietlow was found dying from cold and hunger in an abandoned ice house, a Coroner's jury today recommended that George Rogalski, 13, be held to the grand jury for murder.

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Little Dorette Zietlow, 2 years old, died today of cold and starvation a short time after a 13-year-old boy confessed holding her captive for two days in a crumbling attic.

Police announced that George Rogalski admitted luring the child from the home of her grandmother to a deserted building. He was quoted as saying he did not attack her. Doctors found no evidence of an attack.

The boy was locked up for juvenile authorities.

He induced the child to go with him last Sunday, his statement said, by promising her some candy. Then police quoted him as saying:

"I took her to the building, jumped through a window, helped her down and carried her to the attic.

GIVEN NO FOOD

"The stairs had been wrecked and I had to climb up the wall, getting a foothold in the plaster.

"When I got her there, I took off her clothing and looked at her. I went away and returned later. Then I left and did not go back Monday, because I went to school. Tuesday afternoon I went back, and I thought she had been moved. I was scared. No one was around so I wasn't so scared.

"I thought she needed food, but I was afraid to let my parents know. I looked out a hole in the building and saw some kids staring up. I chased them away. Then I left and went home."

Afterward two boys made their way through the wreckage of the building and found the child, nude, dirty and unconscious. They thought she was dead, and went home, so frightened they did not speak of it.

LIVING WHEN FOUND

Later they told others in the family and last night police found the child. A flicker of an eye lid told them she was alive and they rushed her to a hospital.

Three physicians could not hear her heart beat, at first. They rubbed the stiff body with hot oil to stimulate the circulation, and injected heart stimulants and food. They announced, after many hours' work over her, that they thought she would live, if she didn't develop pneumonia.

But she died at 2 a. m., at the very hour that Rogalski was being locked in the juvenile detention home. Police said he had, despite his youth, a previous record for molesting girls.

The girl was starved and frozen, unprotected and unfed in the attic of a building whose windows long since have been broken out and whose doors have been for weeks boarded and nailed.

Dorette had been sought by police, firemen and neighbors. Rogalski made his confession to Police Capt. Charles Essig who said his fate now is up to juvenile authorities.

Dorette lived with her grandmother. Her mother is a patient in a hospital for the insane at Dunning, Ill., and her father is an unemployed laborer.

VOTERS SWAMP CONGRESS WITH DEMANDS FOR BANK BILL

FEUD FLARES AT NRA COAL HEARING

Central Pa. Operator Faces Charge of 'Dictator'

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The long standing feud between Northern and Southern Soft coal operators flared up anew today at NRA hearings on new wage rates with producers from the West Virginia "smokeless" fields claiming their Northern competitors had assumed "unwarranted dictatorship."

For decades Northern and Southern operators in the vast Appalachian fields stretching from Central Pennsylvania to Tennessee, have fought for rail rate advantages.

Today their feud concerned wage differentials. Since negotiations on wage rates for their code started last summer, the South has maintained it was entitled to lower wages. The code, as finally approved, gave the South a basic wage of $4.20 as compared with $4.60 for the North.

APPROVED BY UNION

Under the new scale ordered by NRA, the South would pay $4.60 and the North $5. That scale was approved in wage contracts with the United Mine Workers of America by the Northern and high volatile Southern groups. The basic wage also was approved by the smokeless operators, but they were unable to agree with the union on piece work rates.

Speaking for the smokeless group, W. A. Richards today challenged the statement of Charles O'Neill, spokesman for Central Pennsylvania coal producers, that declining production in Central Pennsylvania has brought about a decline in tonnage output per man.

DICTATORSHIP CHARGED

Richards criticized the part taken by O'Neill in drafting the wage scale approved by Recovery Administrator Johnson. He said:

"If Mr. O'Neill had spent as much time investigating earnings under his own rates as he did trying to fix the rates for smokeless, his own miners would not have their present depressed earnings.

"The olive branch that Mr. O'Neill holds out so lovingly to smokeless is not an olive, but a mailed fist of unwarranted dictatorship and it has no place in a code of fair competition."

America's only woman coal operator, Miss Josephine Roche, of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Company of Colorado, opened today's session of the coal wage hearing with an unqualified indorsement of the seven-hour day and higher wages for soft coal miners.

LIVES PERILED, OIL BOARD TOLD

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—An assertion that employes in the petroleum industry were being "barbecued" through the use of cheap equipment and lack of safety devices was made to the Petroleum Administrative Board today by Harvey Freming, president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers of America.

Freming testified at a hearing before the Administrative Board on Oil Refinery Control, at which 24 major companies presented a new control plan.

He contended since the oil code became effective September 2 the employment curve had gone downward.

As a consequence of the use of cheap equipment, Freming continued:

"Injuries and deaths have been sustained by our men, who have been barbecued—just barbecued.

"All of the factors that would guarantee safety and security have been taken out of our code."

Shorter Week Urged In Hard Coal Mines

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Equalization of mine operators and work or shortening of the work week to 32 hours in the anthracite industry was recommended in a report by a special committee made public today by Secretary Perkins, of the Labor Department.

Congress Approves Public Grazing Bill

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—The administration measure granting the Interior Department control over grazing on the public domain was passed by the House today. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Erie Boy Checked on Bus As 'Human Handbag'

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11.—(AP.)—A live piece of "baggage," 4 years old but brighter looking than the newest Gladstone bag was on a bus somewhere between Memphis and Houston, Tex., today.

In the checkroom of the Union Bus Terminal he was found by reporters, a baggage check attached to the lapel of the neatly tailored polo coat he wore. He had been checked at Erie, Pa., and was bound for Houston.

A ticket agent had an envelope containing his half-fare ticket, a way bill and $2.65 in cash.

Just why Donald was making the trip and the reason for his method of travel he could not explain. He replied to queries:

"I'm going to see my mommer."

And then in the next breath:

"I've been to see my mommer."

The 'human baggage' left Erie Sunday night and [illegible] Houston at 11:30 o'clock tonight.

During his [illegible] here Donald was required to remain in the checkroom.

SEES PHILIPPINE FREEDOM NEAR

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Complete, absolute and unqualified independence of the Philippine Islands before the end of the Roosevelt administration was predicted on the Senate floor today by Senator Tydings (Dem.), of Maryland, in the debate on taxation of Philippine cocoanut oil.

Tydings, who is chairman of the Senate Territories Committee, said:

"It is no secret to tell my colleagues that a plan now is under way which I believe will meet with the approval of the President, Congress and the Philippine people to grant absolute independence to the Filipinos before the end of the present administration.

"I plead with you, therefore, not to jeopardize this plan with discriminatory taxes against island products which might cause the Filipinos to doubt sincerity of our motives."

Tydings has refused to divulge details of the plan he mentioned.

DETROIT TOOL STRIKE SEEN

DETROIT, April 11.—(AP.)—Representatives of 62 shops employing tool and die workers in Detroit today refused to entertain wage and hour demands of the Mechanics' Educational Society, which has threatened to walk out at midnight Thursday unless "satisfactory answers" were received.

The refusal was made known after a meeting of the employers' representatives with Matthew J. Smith, general secretary of the society. The workers had demanded wage increases of 20 per cent and a 36-hour, five-day week.

Executives of the trades union immediately called a conference of officials to consider their future course.

Bill Aims to End Labor Racketeering

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11.—(AP.)—Contractors or labor organization leaders who require workmen to refund part of their wages to hold their jobs are declared guilty of misdemeanor under legislation signed today by Gov. Lehman.

The measure is designed to put an end to the "kick back" racket. There is an exception in the bill covering labor organization dues.

ILLINOIS SWEPT BY DEMOCRATS

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Leaders of organized Democracy in Illinois whose candidates won nomination in yesterday's statewide primarly almost as they pleased, labelled "the tremendous Democratic vote" today as a "tribute and a compliment to the Democratic administration, both national and local."

The significance of the election lay largely in the fact that it was the first in which an entire state was afforded opportunity to register its opinion of its Congressmen since the Democratic landslide of 1932.

Henry T. Rainey, Congressman from the Twentieth District and Speaker of the House of Representatives, scored a five-to-one victory over James Kirby, a State Representative.

The national administration was not a direct issue, the Democrats having been content for the most part to campaign on local issues, with little more than perfunctory reference to the "new deal."

GIBBS RESIGNS, FLAYS RWD

With a final, stinging rebuke to the new Relief Works Division, Maj. Ralph W. Gibbs today resigned as head of the State-Federal Employment Bureau to run for Congress.

Gibbs had directed the employment bureau since last December, when he succeeded Harold F. Bucher, removed by state officials.

Again assailing the Relief Works plan because it does not give work to any individual except those on relief rolls, Gibbs pledged his aid to "the needy workingman who has fought to keep off relief lists."

Explaining that he did not feel he should retain his post and run for political office, Gibbs said:

"If there be one public agency which should not be tinged with the slightest suspicion of political favoritism, it is the public employment service."

Gibbs said he will seek the Republican nomination for Congress in the Thirtieth District.

400 Aviation Workers Join Hartford Strike

HARTFORD, Conn., April 11.—(AP.)—The aviation industry strike in East Hartford spread today to the plants of the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Company.

Four hundred workers in three departments walked out joining 150 persons who quit their jobs yesterday at the plant of the Hamilton Standard Propeller Company in a strike for the restoration of the 1929 wage levels.

RAIL LEADER SEES STRIFE

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP.)—Railroad labor told the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today that "serious unrest and strife" will develop in the industry unless the railway labor act is revised to eliminate "unfair practices."

George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and chairman of the legislative committee of the Railway Labor Executives Association, made this statement in testifying for the bill recommended by Joseph B. Eastman, rail co-ordinator, to create new machinery for settling labor disputes.

He pointed out, as Eastman did yesterday, that the labor act provides no machinery for enforcement of its provisions and contended practices had developed that tended to defeat its purposes.

In this connection, he cited the growth of company unions, asserting that 35 or 40 per cent of the rail employes are now in such organizations rather than the "standard unions."

BOROUGH FIGHTS CAR BONFIRES

The Pittsburgh Railways Company was criticized for burning old street cars at their West Park carbarns in McKees Rocks, by Controller Dan J. Buckley at the McKees Rocks Council meeting last night. A motion passed allowing the continuance of the "bonfires" was later withdrawn by Council after Mr. Buckley's objections.

In accusing the railways company, Buckley said:

"You are doing this so you can get out of paying taxes on assessed valuation. You should dismantle the cars and give the wood to the poor people instead of bringing it in the heart of the borough and using it as a dumping ground."

The entire body of Council and other borough officials will meet with railway officials Thursday to discuss an agreement.

Copper Code Awaits Roosevelt Signature

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The copper code, one of the more complicated industrial pacts so far devised, today was complete and ready for signature, but its approval was held up until the return of President Roosevelt and Hugh S. Johnson.

CANNON 'ANGEL' BARES PLOT TO BEAT SMITH

$172,800 in Campaign Gifts Revealed To Jury

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP.)—Testimony that Edwin C. Jameson, New York insurance executive, contributed $172,800 in 1928 to aid in defeating Alfred E. Smith for president was given a jury today in the trial of Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

The Southern Methodist churchman and Miss Ada L. Burroughs are on trial in District of Columbia Supreme Court on a charge of conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act by failing to report all of $65,300 received from Jameson.

Bishop Cannon was active in Virginia in opposing Smith for President.

Reports made to a congressional committee read into the court record showed that Jameson also collected $29,045 as chairman of the insurance division of the Republican National Committee.

Jameson, the report said, contributed $30,000 to the Republican state committee of Virginia in addition to $65,300 to Cannon.

His contributions included $20,000 to the Republican state committee of North Carolina, $50,000 to the national constitutional Democratic committee, $5,000 to the Republican state committee of Indiana, and $2,500 to the Republican National Committee.

LOTTERY RELIEF FOR VETS AIRED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Hearings on the scheme to provide federal revenue for war veterans by means of a national lottery were opened before a House Ways and Means Sub-Committee today.

Led by Representative Kenney (Dem.), of New Jersey, its sponsor, a long list of advocates of the proposal attempted to show this method of raising money is more acceptable than the levying of taxes.

Supporting the proposal are the Women's Moderation Union, which claims it speaks for "hundreds of thousands of women throughout the country who favor legalized lotteries;" the Common Cause League of New Jersey, representing 2,500 voters, and Thomas J. Kirby, president of the American Disabled Veterans.

Under the plan there would be monthly lotteries with tickets selling at $2 and $1 each. These tickets would be sold through the postoffices. A grand award of $120,000 is provided while numerous other prizes range down to as low as $500.

FARMER SLAIN IN GUN DUEL

WABASH, Ind., April 11.—(AP.)—Charles E. Capes, 62, a farmer, was shot and killed in his home eight miles north of here this morning in an exchange of shots with another farmer, Zack Sweazy, 60. The shooting followed a quarrel over Sweazy's attentions to Miss Mabel Capes, 38, daughter of the slain man.

Sweazy, in a suit filed last week, alleged he had contracted a common law marriage with Miss Capes and that her parents had compelled her to leave his home and return to them.

At a hearing Mr. and Mrs. Capes denied holding their daughter.

Sheriff Harve Shoemaker was told by Mrs. Capes that her husband was working in the field this morning when Sweazy approached the house carrying a shotgun.

She said her husband, hearing her scream, obtained a shotgun and confronted Sweazy in the living room. Both men fired simultaneously, she said.

AIR MAIL 'WRECK' CHARGE PROBED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Republican members of the Black air mail committee today resumed their probe of charges that unsubsidized aviation companies plotted to force cancellation of air mail contracts.

Senator Austin (Rep.), of Vermont, quizzed William I. Denning, one-time attorney for the Scheduled Air Transport Operators' Association. Denning admitted conferring with Silliman Evans, assistant postmaster general, and Stephen A. Cisler, superintendent of air mails, but denied being in any plot to force air mail cancellations. He was asked:

"For a long time you were working for the distinct objective of forcing cancellations?"

Denning answered:

"For cancellation of extensions which were not in conformity with the Comptroller General's opinion."

Denning produced a file of correspondence, nearly all relating to cancellation of air mail contracts. It disclosed he was anxious to secure cancellation of extensions.

GEN. JOHNSON AT SEA SEEKING M'INTYRE

Roosevelt Aide Waits Train as NRA Chief Hunts Him in Boat

International News Service.

MIAMI, April 11.—Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson is one of the few men who have left Washington for Miami by train and arrived by boat—by two boats in fact.

The NRA chieftain, NRA Counsel Donald R. Richberg and Johnson's secretary, Miss Frances Robinson, left Washington Monday by train for Miami, bringing important papers to present to President Roosevelt.

Johnson's troubles began innocently enough. He was greeted yesterday at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., an hour out of Miami, by a youth who presented himself as the son of a man who was a friend to Johnson back in his military days.

LEAVE TRAIN

Johnson and his old friend's son chatted until the train was near Miami, where the NRA chief had expected Col. Marvin H. McIntyre, a presidential secretary, to meet him. But his new friend advised that Col. McIntyre was planning a fishing trip and would not be at the station.

At this point, the newcomer advised the NRA chieftain that should he have the train make a special stop at Little River, a suburb of Miami, he (the friend) would place the general in his boat and spin several miles over the water to a spot where McIntyre could be found with several other friends. This sounded simple enough, so off got the general, Richberg and Miss Robinson.

SAILING, SAILING!

The quartet stepped into the friend's boat and the little craft started gaily off in the general direction of a spot where, in truth, several of those Johnson expected to meet could be found—but not McIntyre. He was waiting at the station.

As land was just out of swimming distance, the motor broke down.

During a quarter hour of aimless drifting, Johnson's attention was called to the near tropical heat of Biscayne Bay here. He was warmly clad in gray and carried across his knees a natty gray overcoat.

Fortunately for the visitors, two youngsters soon came by in a small boat and took the party to the dock where Johnson ran into a number of friends. These brought him to White House headquarters where Col. McIntyre now was waiting.

Roosevelt Trip Ending, NRA Work Waits Him

International News Service.

MIAMI, April 11.—White House work moved in on the last hours of President Roosevelt's vacation aboard Vincent Astor's yacht today.

Messages from White House headquarters here out to the Nourmahal told the Executive the outlines of NRA problems he will be asked to solve in a conference with Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson even as he rides the train northward to Washington Thursday.

Gen. Johnson carried a glowing report on business conditions to give to President Roosevelt. Johnson said he will recommend dropping the licensing provision of the NRA. He assertetd:

"Business conditions generally are good. I certainly do think there has been an upturn."

Johnson denied with emphasis that the NRA has been aiding "big business" at the expense of the small businessman.

STOCK MARGIN CURB BEATEN

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Six marginal requirements were stricken from the stock market control bill today by the Senate Banking Committee without a record vote.

The committee completely revised the vital marginal section of the bill, adopting the Glass proposal to vest control over the problem with the Federal Reserve Board and the proposed federal securities exchange commission.

They would regulate the markets under the bill as now drafted.

The committee vote was the climax to a bitter dispute over provisions of the stock market control bill. Several modifications already had been made in the drastic marginal requirements of the original measure.

The Glass proposal was substituted for a provision under which purchasers of stock would have been required by law to put up 60 per cent of the market value in cash or in stable securities.

Hull Heads Guests At Soviet Embassy

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Social and official Washington, the latter headed by Secretary of State Hull, were entertained last night by Ambassador and Mme Alexander A. Troyanovsky, of Soviet Russia, in the 80-room redecorated embassy once owned by the Czar.

A plentiful supply of vodka was on the tables.

N.Y. Lawmakers Linked in More Utility Letters

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—Continuing its investigation of alleged legislative activities by the Associated Gas and Electric Company, the Federal Trade Commission put into its records today a letter bearing the name of D. Mallory Stephens, New York Assemblyman, and further letters from W. T. Thayer, New York State Senator.

Stephens, a Republican, was listed as a resident of Putnam County, N. Y.

Other letters purporting to have been sent by Associated Gas to Charles J. Hewitt, identified only as "chairman of a finance committee," and Eberly Hutchinson, a member of the New York Legislature, were filed at the same time by W. T. Chantland, commission counsel.

REPLIES MISSING

These letters asked the recipients to oppose legislation. No letters signed by Hewitt or Hutchinson were introduced.

Chantland also placed in the record an Associated Gas interoffice memorandum suggesting too many people were writing to Thayer.

The letter to Stephens was from L. A. Reinhardt, general superintendent of the Harlem Valley division of Associated, and dated February 2, 1927. It referred to Assembly bill number 319, and said:

"We will appreciate your opposing this bill on the floor and also in committee, should it be referred to your committee, you knowing from your practical experience in the electrical industry that this should not become a law."

BILL 'KILLED'

An answer from Stevens, dated February 8, 1927, referring to two letters from Reinhardt, said:

"I have the assurance of the chairman of the Labor Committee that this bill will be killed in committee. You may rest assured that I will do all within my power to fulfill your wishes in the matter."

Meanwhile, Associated Gas and Electric Company issued a statement to reporters, reiterating:

"Not one cent has ever been paid out by any of our companies to influence the action of any public official."

The statement also defended the right of the company to make known any objections it had to legislation.

HEARING ORDERED

A hearing before the Public Service Commission in Harrisburg on April 23 for final action on the traction conference board agreement was ordered today by Commissioner S. Ray Shelby.

The hearing before the full commission was ordered by Commissioner Shelby so Attorney William G. Negley, representing the Allied Boards of Trade, may present arguments against further extension of the agreement. Briefs must be filed by April 18.

Negley said the Allied Boards of Trade oppose extension of the agreement on grounds that it does not serve the public interest, that the Pittsburgh Railways Company, during the 13 years of the contract, has failed to fulfill its purposes, and has shown "bad faith."

CITY STANDS PAT

Meanwhile, the temporary extension from February 1 to May 1 will continue in effect. Definite action by the commission is expected by May 1.

John J. Kennedy, special assistant city solicitor appeared before Commissioner Shelby and reported there is no change in the city's official attitude from that last September when a two-year extension was authorized by the old City Council.

MEMBERS SIGN PETITION FOR QUICK ACTION

Needed 145 Signatures Sought By Week-End; 103 Obtained

By JOHN P. COWAN
Sun-Telegraph Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Swamped by letters and telegrams from their constituents urging action on the McLeod bill for the 100 per cent payoff of depositors in closed banks, Representatives in Congress today increased signatures to the petition for the discharge of the Banking and Currency Committee from consideration of the measure.

Today, 103 representatives had signed when the House convened, and assurance was given that the necessary 145 would be obtained before Saturday.

ELLENBOGEN CHANGES

Representative Henry Ellenbogen (Dem.), of Pennsylvania, originally an opponent of some essential features of the McLeod bill, who drafted a measure of his own to provide for the payoff of only the smaller depositors, today looked with more favor on the legislation pioneered by Representative Clarence J. McLeod (Rep.), of Michigan.

Mr. Ellenbogen said:

"The people all over the country are wrought up over this matter as a result of the nationwide discussion through the Hearst newspapers. Cheerfully I can say that I am for the McLeod bill in principle, and I have decided not to introduce another measure."

Bills introduced yesterday by Representative Prentiss Brown (Dem.), of Michigan, and Representative Charles V. Truax (Dem.), of Ohio, providing for modifications of the McLeod bill, were referred in routine manner to the Banking and Currency Committee.

KELLY FAVORS BILL

Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, a wheelhorse in the fight for the McLeod bill, said:

"These new bills only muddy the water. Those representatives who sympathize with the depositors in closed banks and who really want to do something practical to get them a payoff will walk up and sign this petition, discharge the committee and bring the McLeod bill out into the open where we have a chance to debate its merits and then have a vote on it. I believe that the majority will be glad to go on record in favor of it.

"In doing so they will be carrying out the will of their constituents and will perform a constructive service for the economic good of the country."

Meanwhile, the bill was gaining favorable sentiment in the Senate where many members have pledged to vote for it.

During the committee's hearings several witnesses remarked the measure discriminated against the depositors in the state banks but its author, Representative McLeod, (Rep.), of Michigan, explained that most of the closed state banks have huge reserve funds tied up in the larger national banks which are now closed.

RFC WOULD PAY

The McLeod bill would authorize the RFC to take over the assets of all the closed national banks at their face value and thereby permit the banks to pay off deposits in full. The RFC would slowly liquidate these assets over a period of 10 years.

Representative Carl M. Weideman (Dem.), of Michigan, who placed the petition on the Speaker's desk, said:

"This outpouring of telegrams proves two things. It shows that the people want legislation enacted which will bring 100 per cent payoff to the depositors of the closed banks and give economic stabilization to hundreds of communities where business has been paralyzed since the banks were closed.

"It proves, too, that the people harken to the suggestions of the Hearst newspapers. Editorials today urging constituents to wire their congressmen have met with an instant response."

Pay Bank Depositors

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS:

As an important help toward national recovery, the undersigned urges passage of the McLeod Bill, now before Congress, which provides for paying in full depositors of closed banks which belonged to the Federal Reserve System.

Toward this end I urge that the RFC make loan arrangements with the closed banks.

This procedure would give positive stimulus to business by converting frozen, idle and at present useless bank deposits into immediately available purchasing power.

I urge immediate Congressional action on the McLeod Bill.

CONVICTS SET BEDS ABLAZE, GO ON HUNGER STRIKE

'TOUGH GUYS' CURSE GUARDS, WARDEN

Revolt at Holmesburg Laid to Ringleaders in Eastern Pen Riots

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—Having carried out their threat to "raise hell," 25 hard-shelled convicts in the county prison at Holmesburg have been on a hunger strike for the past five days, it was revealed today.

The self-imposed fast followed a brief outburst of violence in the prison last Thursday, the "tough guys" shouting and cursing, shattered the beds in their cells, hammered on the iron bars of their doors, and set fire to their mattresses in the corridors.

The rioters and hunger strikers, prison officials said, are all prisoners who were transferred from Eastern State Penitentiary, where they were ringleaders in the disorders of last September and November.

GUARD DOUBLED

Guards at Holmesburg have been on double vigil since the outbreak Thursday. It was at first feared the trouble would spread to other convicts, but a statement on behalf of Warden William B. Mills said the rioting and hunger striking had been confined to the former Eastern Penitentiary inmates.

The statement said the trouble "is well in hand and no outside help is necessary."

The insurrection broke out after one of the transferred prisoners had been placed in solitary confinement for stealing food. His comrades sent a message through guards to the warden that "we will raise hell" unless the disciplined prisoner were restored to his full privileges.

WARDEN STANDS PAT

The warden refused to comply and the rioting broke out.

Many of the fasting prisoners today were reported in a weakened condition. No attempts were made to feed them by force, but officials anticipated that many of the strikers will soon capitulate the pangs of hunger and rene eating.

NEW DILLINGER TIP FAILS HERE

Another "tip" that John Dillinger, the nation's Public Enemy No. 1, was in Pittsburgh was discounted by police today, following a rumor that he was with another man and woman on Shady avenue last night.

Federal agents and city police watched a parked car in Shady avenue, near Walnut street, for two hours after the Indiana desperado was reported seen. A man finally approached the auto and identified himself as a California physician.

Earlier, Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren had ordered his men off the hunt for Dillinger. Murren said:

"I am convinced he's in Chicago. He's too smart to ride around the country as reports indicate.

Weather Conditions.

A disturbance, with the principal center over the lower lakes (Buffalo, N. Y., 29.30), and a secondary center over Northern Texas (Dallas, 29.71), covers the lake region and most of the central valleys, while high pressure central over Montana (Havre, 30.52), overlies the western plains, the Northern Rocky Mountains and the Canadian Northwest. There have been thundershowers, mostly light to moderate, in the Ohio and Middle Mississippi valleys, and snows in the lake region, the Upper Mississippi Valley, and portions of the Canadian Northwest and North Dakota. It is snowing over Southern Michigan and Southern Wisconsin this morning. It is colder in the Canadian Northwest, the Northern Rocky Mountains and western plains, and in the lake region, and somewhat warmer in the Upper Ohio Valley and Tennessee.

FALLING BOTTLE HURTS WOMAN

Mrs. Ruth Stathis, 34, of 513 Second avenue, was in Mercy Hospital today with a laceration of the head suffered when she was struck by an olive oil bottle that fell, police said, from a fifth floor window of the Argonne Hotel, Third avenue, late yesterday.

Mrs. Stathis was walking in Third avenue when the bottle dropped and struck her. Knocked unconscious, she was taken to the hospital in a commandeered taxicab. Her condition was regarded as fair.

TECH'S MODELS SEEK GRACE

Paris models, it is said, learn to walk gracefully by balancing books on their heads. Tech co-eds, practicing for their appearance in the Tartan Style Show, walk along the narrow top rail of the Tech senior fence.

Eight co-eds and 11 men will model in the show, set for the Tech gym April 20, at 9:30 p. m.

A committee of seven judges, including Miss Virginia M. Alexander, head of the department of costume economics, selected the models on a basis of popularity, appearance, ability to wear clothes, size, figure and personality.

They will wear clothes which will be examples of the latest for college men and women.

A dance will follow the show. The Carnegie Tartan, student newspaper at Tech, will sponsor both.

PLANES SAVE 62 STRANDED ON BERING ICE

Soviet Leader Forced To Leave 28, Under Moscow Orders

MOSCOW, April 11.—(AP.)—Three daring Soviet aviators wrote a new, illustrious page in the history of Arctic endeavors today by rescuing, withing 24 hours, 62 members of a party of 90 Russians, marooned for two months on a drifting ice floe in the remote Bering Sea.

Among those brought to shore was Prof. Otto Schmidt, leader of the scientific expedition to Wrangel Island, which came near disaster when its vessel, the Cheliuskin, was crushed by ice and sank February 13 on the return trip.

Despite his protests, Schmidt was ordered into an airplane. He is ill with a bronchial ailment.

ONE U. S. PLANE

While a brief spell of favorable weather lasted, the fliers Kamanin, Molokov and Slepney—the latter in an American plane—brought off 29 more castaways this afternoon, in addition to the 33 rescued last night and early today. All were landed safely on the mainland at Cape Van Karem, Siberia, after hazardous flights over hitherto unexplored territory.

In the last cargo of the saved castaways was Commander Schmidt. He is expected to be flown later to Alaska for treatment.

An official announcement, following radio dispatches to Moscow, said only 28 members of the party remain on the floating ice, which apparently accounts for 12 women and children and five men previously taken off.

TRIED FOR WEEKS

The fliers had been trying for weeks to reach the party, while ships were also heading to the rescue.

Kaminin and Molokov flew to the icy camp from Cape Van Karem, while Slepney was already there with a plane which was slightly damaged in landing several days ago.

The approximate position of the castaways was 350 miles northwest of Nome, Alaska, whence a Russian air relief expedition departed for Cape Van Karem last week.

At one time it was feared the fliers had met disaster in a rescue flight, for they were missing for days. They turned up safely, having been forced down by the weather.

ASKS PACT COPY IN WILL FIGHT

Dr. R. J. McCready, aged Sewickley physician, who is contesting the will of his wealthy wife, Mathilda S. McCready, has filed an equity suit to compel the executors to produce a copy of an alleged pre-nuptial agreement.

Under the will Dr. McCready receives $12,000 a year. He seeks a larger share of the $1,507,797 estate. He does not deny making an agreement not to claim any part of his wife's property, but avers he never received a copy of it. He needs it to properly present his claim, he said.

Mrs. McCready left most of her estate to charity, including $700,000 for a home for women afflicted with mental ailments, to be built in Moon Township.

10 Million Granted Penna. for Relief

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(AP.)—The Federal Emergency Relief Administration today announced a grant of $10,059,931 for April relief in Pennsylvania, but with the proviso that $59,931 is to be used to pay college students for part-time work done during March.

WRECKAGE IN SYLVAN AVENUE, HAZELWOOD, AFTER FIRE SWEPT A ROW OF HOUSES BLOWN APART BY AN EXPLOSION

LIGHT IN WOMAN STIRS SCIENCE

TRIESTE, Italy, April 11.—(AP.)—If that "strange blue light" flashes again from the breast of Trieste's "electric woman" scientists are going to be there to see it.

Disappointed because they just missed catching sight of it during the night, they decided to stay constantly at the bedside of the patient.

Both doctors and nurses at the Pirano Hospital aver they have seen the light from the breast of Anna Monara. They say it appears when she is sleeping soundly.

Six scientists were summoned by the night nurse but they disturbed the patient in entering her room and the light blinked out.

There are any number of scientific theories. Dr. Carlos Saiz, psychiatrist, stated:

"I venture to believe the phenomenan is caused by electric and magnetic organisms in the woman's body, developed to an eminent degree in her case."

Many natives think that it is a miracle or else that the patient swallowed a flashlight.

OFFICER SLATED TO LOSE JOB

Patrolman William Warnock, who played Peck's Bad Boy two weeks ago by commandeering a taxicab for a wild ride, was recommended for dismissal from the Police department today at a hearing before the Police Trial Board.

The suspended policeman was accused of drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer.

He had commandeered a cab driven by Emil Nedobylek, at Bigelow boulevard and Herron avenue, at the point of a pistol, forcing the driver to take him on an aimless trip which ended at the Pennsylvania station, where the taxi-driver summoned railway police to arrest Warnock.

Four Families Routed By Blast in Hazelwood

Dwellings Set Afire; Chimney Falls On Firemen

A terrific explosion, presumably caused by gas, rocked the Hazelwood district early today, breaking windows in homes within a three-block radius.

The blast, followed by fire, swept through a row of three-story frame houses, leaving four families, including 16 children, homeless.

While firemen from five engine and one truck company summoned by two alarms fought the flames, a chimney toppled, showering two firemen with brick.

The pair, Hoseman Charles Wilenpart, of 332 Ashton avenue, Hazelwood, and Hoseman Lawrence O'Toole, of 5035 Belt street, both of Engine Company 13, were taken to Mercy Mospital.

Fire Chief John Heinz, who estimated the damage at $10,000, said the explosion apparently occurred in a vacant house at 4407 Sylvan avenue, occupied until three days ago by Joseph Depietro.

The force of the explosion hurled portions of the porch columns and front door of the vacant house across the street.

Flames, fanned by a high wind, spread to the homes of Charlotte Elmore, 4403 Sylvan avenue; Cannon Pittman, 4405 Sylvan avenue, and Louis Childs, 4409 Sylvan avenue. All are Negroes.

Mrs. Mattie Weaden and her five children, living at 4411 Sylvan avenue, told firemen they were showered with piaster. Police established fire lines as a neighborhood crowd of 500 persons, attracted by the blast hurried to the scene of the explosion.

LIEUT. MASSIE RADIOS EX-WIFE

International News Service.

LONDON, April 11.—Word from Lieut. Thomas Massie, U. S. N., was sent today to his divorced wife, Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie, ill in a Genoa clinic following a suicide attempt at sea.

Mrs. Massie, central figure in the sensational attack and murder case of two years ago in which Lieut. Massie and her mother were tried for the slaying of a young Hawaiian, was "pining" for word from her husband, Dr. Emilio Borelli, head of the clinic, informed the London Daily Express.

A message from Lieut. Massie, Dr. Borelli told the Express, "would be the surest and quickest method of bringing her back to normal health."

Using the radio telephone through its New York correspondent, the Express communicated with Lieut. Massie, who is on duty in the Pacific Ocean aboard the U. S. S. Oklahoma. Lieut. Massie, whom Mrs. Massie divorced in Reno last February, asked the Express to send the following message to his former wife:

"I am terribly grieved. Of course I hope you will get in touch with me if I can possibly help in any way. Fondly, "TOMMY."

Body of McDowell In State at Dublin

DUBLIN, April 11.—(INS.)—The body of William W. McDowell, United States minister to the Irish Free State, who died suddenly while speaking at a banquet in his honor given by President Eamonn De Valera, was lying in state in the United States legation today.

It will be taken to Queenstown Friday and placed aboard the liner Manhattan to be taken to the United States for burial.

2 FIREMEN DIE IN 5 & 10 BLAZE

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., April 11.—(AP.)—Fire Chief Roland Jensen and Fireman Sylvester Palo lost their lives early today when the floor of the F. and W. Grand 5-and-10-cent store in Smith street, collapsed after a fire in the cellar had eaten away the supports, plunging the two men into the flames.

Another fireman, George Stevenson, was pulled to safety from the very maw of the flames.

The three were first to arrive at the scene of the fire and immediately went into the blazing structure, carrying a fire hose. As the floor gave way and they fell, Stevenson was able to cling to the hose and was pulled out of the flames by other firemen.

In an adjoining building, Mrs. Jane Quinn, 88, mother of Arthur J. Quinn, Comptroller of the Port of New York, was carried to safety through blinding smoke.

DEMPSEY TILT NETS GRAPPLER

Universal Service.

CENTRAL CITY, Ia., April 11.—Mrs. John Plummer, living here in meager circumstances with her three children and working as a CWA fund janitress at the high school for $7.20 a week, was upset when she saw a newspaper picture of her husband, professional wrestler.

The reason was that he was posing with an attractive 96-pound woman identified in the picture as Mrs. Plummer, who drew much attention when she ripped the shirt and pulled the hair of Referee Jack Dempsey at an Alexandria (La.) wrestling match recenlty.

Mrs. Plummer has never been served with divorce papers and still believes they are married. She said:

"I don't dare say anything because John would beat me up."

However, R. L. Whelan, of Cedar Rapids, United States deputy marshal, said he would ask a federal investigation.

Kathleen Norris Sees War in Year

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 11.—(AP.)—Kathleen Norris, novelist, who addressed the Western Hospital Association convention here yesterday, expressed the opinion Europe will be at war in another year and that the American people learned temperance during the prohibition period.

Mrs. Norris said she was no authority on international jealousies, but that from her own observations during a recent European trip she predicted war there within a year—and hopes she is wrong.

FILM STARS AID DIRECTOR IN BALM SUIT

Bert Wheeler, Lew Cody Deny Love Claims of Actress

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—More movie stars were to parade to the witness stand today to testify for Harry Joe Brown, film director, in efforts to disprove the claim of dark-eyed Miss Marjorie Whiteis, known in pictures as Marjorie Gay, that he jilted her to marry Sally Eilers, beautiful blonde star.

Brown's counsel refused to reveal who would be the "star witnesses" today, but stated that "they're all good friends of Mr. Brown who will resume the stand today and call them to his defense."

Miss Whiteis is seeking $100,000 heart balm.

Lew Cody, film villain, and Bert Wheeler, screen comedian; and Carol Miller, a pretty blonde actress dancer, were among the witnesses who testified for Brown yesterday.

Wheeler testified:

"Yes, I've known Brown for 14 years. A long time before he went away everybody knew about the trip and talked about it.

WHEELER WEARS MAKEUP

"I've known Miss Gay for about three years. I met her on parties, and once about three years ago we had a big party at our house and she was there. I also met her on boat trips."

Miss Whiteis had claimed that Brown had slipped off to Europe without telling her about it.

Wheeler's face was plastered with grease paint, his eyelashes dripped mascara and his hair was slicked down as he testified. He had hurried to the courtroom from a studio where he was filming a picture. Immediately after his testimony he rushed back to the studio.

Cody also appeared in makeup.

Miss Whiteis had testified that cablegrams Brown had sent her from Europe, and which contained the word "bestest" revealed that he loved her.

CODY GETS CABLES

Cody said he had known Brown 15 years and that he himself had received "bestest" cablegrams from Brown and did not consider the term one of endearment, but one which conveyed friendly regards.

Miss Whiteis and Brown visited him in his Malibu home, Cody testified, but there was no discussion of a sale of the Cody home to Brown. Miss Whiteis had testified Brown and Cody had discussed Brown purchasing the home for them after his marriage to her.

Sid Rogell, a film executive, testified that he frequently had taken Miss Whiteis on parties, but not at Brown's request, as Miss Whiteis had testified.

Miss Eilers smiled as the film people paraded to the stand to give testimony for her husband.

INSULL TO SAIL FOR U. S. FRIDAY

International News Service.

ISTANBUL, April 11.—Samuel Insull, indicted former utilities magnate of Chicago, will be extradited to the United States on Friday.

Insull will leave Istanbul aboard a small boat which will take him to Port Panderma Thursday. He will then go by train, an overnight ride, to Smyrna, where the Turkish government formally will turn the Chicago fugitive over to Burton Y. Berry, young third secretary of the American embassy, who has been designated to return Insull to the United States.

The transfer will take place aboard the small cargo vessel Exilona, of the American Export Line, on which Berry and Insull will go to the United States on a month-long trip, including stops at Sicily, Algiers, Casablanca, Morocco, Boston and New York.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 11.—(INS.)—Warrant asking that Samuel Insull, fallen utilities magnate, be turned over to Illinois authorities when he is received from Turkish authorities, was signed today by Gov. Henry Horner. It will be sent to Secretary of State Cordell Hull at Washington.

Seeks Money Back For Wedding Permit

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(AP.)—Edward Howard, 23, who gave his profession as actor and described his intended bride, Margaret Sage, as a prominent debutante of Atlanta, Ga., appeared at the marriage license bureau here yesterday and asked for his money back.

He gave no reason for his change in marital plans.

'Stone Boy' Taken Home, Plays in Rain With Gun

International News Service.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 11.—Benny Hendricks, the "stone boy" whose plight aroused wide interest, was secretly removed from the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital and taken to his home in Larksville by his mother, Mrs. Teresa Hendricks, it was revealed today.

The mother said she believed the boy showed no improvement despite the battle waged by physicians at the hospital to halt the spread of the malady which is slowly petrifying Benny's body and that she preferred to have him at home with her.

Dr. H. Alexander, head of the orthopedic ward at the hospital who was in charge of Benny's case, declined to comment on the boy's removal. It was learned he had objected vigorously to the mother's action.

Despite the rain, a reporter found Benny, wearing neither hat nor coat, in the yard of his home this afternoon, playing with a toy gun.

NUDIST LEADER WON'T TELL ON SENATOR

By THOMAS F. CULLEN
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—America's nudists may hide nothing when they engage in their ritual of a "sane and normal life," but they have their secrets.

And one of the most jealously guarded, it was learned today, is the name of the member of the United States Senate who has enlisted in the nudist cause, seeking surcease from legislation and the cares of state by thoroughgoing and enthusiastic participation in clotheslessness.

The Rev. Ilsley Boone, head of the International Nudist Conference, otherwise spoke freely of nudist plans for the present year, now that the slowly-retreating winter has given way to the warmth and sunshine needed for comfortable observation of nudist customs.

The Rev. Boone said:

"There is one member of the United States Senate who is a nudist, but I cannot give you his name. We do not give out that information."

ON BANKS OF POTOMAC

An he was equally reticent to disclose whether the solon revels in nudity on or near the banks of the Potomac or in the vicinity of his constituents, whoever or wherever they may be.

The Baptist minister, who has made nudism his life work, said:

"Nudism has been favorably received in America, and around every corner are large groups of people awaiting the opportunity to join the movement.

"Nudism is not a religion and it is not a cult. We resent the term cult being applied to our group.

"Nudism is a philosophy of life and health. We believe in a simple, practical form of life."

WHEN MODESTY BEGINS

In 19 states of the union, the Rev. Boone declared, there are now regularly organized nudist "leagues." He said:

"We believe in the value of sunshine and air on the human body. Practise nudism not as a religion but as a mode of living. There is nothing in our philosophy which runs counter to the religious tenents of any denomination and our members come from all faiths without surrendering any of their dogma.

"Real modesty negins when the last rag has left the body."

Activities of the nudist movement are not confined to clement weather, the minister said, adding:

"On the contrary, we practise nudism all year round, even outdoors in severe winter weather."

To prove his point he exhibited a photograph of a nude group on an ice-covered lake which he took last winter.

"Was the Senator among them?"

He replied:

"I am sorry, but we respect the wishes of our members. We cannot reveal any names."

Bellevue Man Faces N. J. Fraud Charges

Marquis T. Perkins, 70, of Ridgewood street, Bellevue, said to be under indictment in the Federal Court at Trenton, N. J., on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, will be arraigned Saturday before the United States commissioner, when an order for his removal will be asked.

According to a copy of the indictment here, Perkins and others were indicted for making alleged fraudulent promises and representations in sale of stock of the Associated Mortgage Company of New Jersey. The indictment was returned March 28, 1933.

West Homestead Chief 'Fed Up' On Seeds

Chief of Police D. R. Lindberg, of West Homestead, recently appointed by the Allegheny County Thrift Garden Association to distribute seeds in his district, last night "threw up" his job.

After working several weeks collecting applications from persons desiring free seeds for their gardens, the chief was notified that only persons on relief are eligible to receive them. Said the chief:

"All that work for nothing, I'm through."

SHOW 'TOO NUDE' FOR JAPANESE

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The plight of an American theatrical troupe, asked to leave Japan, is a matter of nudity—and the Japanese ambassador can explain that.

The ambassador, Hiroshi Saito, came from Washington yesterday to make two speeches, and took the time to defend Oriental morals, where they conflict with Western standards.

It was his understanding that the chorus of the American show is considered too nude for Nipponese study. He said:

"In Japan necessary nudity is accepted, but nudity for nudity's sake isn't."

Thereafter he confined his remarks mostly to the Japanese moral situation, explaining that men and women in the country, desiring to bathe in the open, did so without blushing, but universally abhorred any display of nudity.

SPANKED GIRL GETS $100

GOODLAND, Kan., April 11.—(AP.)—The suit of Miss Georgia Hill, alleged victim of a "slipper spanking" administered in December, 1931, by 10 of her high school mates, has been settled for $100 and court costs, amounting to approximately $35. The suit against the city, brought under the Kansas mob law, asked $15,000.

Miss Hill was 18 years old at the time. She is also asking $25,000 from the 10 girls for injuries allegedly resulting from the spanking. This case was set for trial next Friday.

Her attorney said the girls had a rule prohibiting "dates" at basketball games and after a game a group of them, believing she had broken the rule, sought to punish her.

FARMER SEEKS DIVORCE

Joseph Skurka, West Deer Township farmer, believes it is cheaper to have a wife than have housework done by others, under certain conditions.

He admitted as much to Judge John P. Egan yesterday, when he sought a divorce from Rosie Skurka, East Pittsburgh, with whom he lived only two weeks, following their marriage February 27, 1927.

Skurka testified his wife was willing to live with him provided he turned over property in her name, which suggestion was the cause of some quarrels. Skurka said he endeavored to have his wife return to him and Judge Egan asked:

"I suppose it is cheaper to have a wife than pay someone to do the work."

Skurka smiled as he answered in the affirmative, but he said he was unable to have his wife return to him on his terms. He testified he had known her only two months before they were married. It was Skurka's second marriage. He is the father of grown children.

ANNOUNCEMENT

By the MANAGEMENT of HOTEL WILLIAM PENN

The United States Court made the following decree under date of April 9, 1934, in re. petition of the Receivers for directions and decree concerning order of Pittsburgh Regional Labor Board and walkout or strike at William Penn Hotel.

DECREE

And now, April 9, 1934, this cause came on to be further heard at this term and was argued by counsel; and, thereupon, upon consideration thereof, it is ordered, adjudged, and decreed, as follows: That the action of the Pittsburgh Regional Labor Board directing "the re-employment without discrimination of all striking employees and that those who have been engaged to fill the strikers' places be released and the former employees put back at work within the period ending March 24, 1934," is without binding force or effect upon the Receivers appointed in this cause and is to be treated merely as a recommendation of that Board; that the employment by the said Receivers of their former employees at the William Penn Hotel who walked out and left their employment on or about February 5, 1934, is an administrative matter and is left to the discretion of the Receivers with the suggestion that the said Receivers consider this matter with an open mind to see if some plan can be worked out and put into effect by which as many as reasonably practicable of the said former employees who have not committed acts of intimidation or violence be re-employed as vacancies occur or positions are made available by increased business; and that this order and decree shall be without prejudice to the right of the said Receivers to apply to this Court for such other or further relief as to them shall seem necessary.

Per Curiam

THE MANAGEMENT OF THE WILLIAM PENN HOTEL

will consider for employment any of its former employees now on walkout, or strike, who indicate they desire employment by applying for work at the hotel within five (5) days.

The Management will give employment without discrimination by reason of their having walked out or struck, to those who so apply as rapidly as practicable as vacancies occur or increased business permits. Such employment will be given preferentially to those who are heads of families and based upon the longest terms of previous employment, but not to any one who has engaged in violence or intimidation.

This plan of re-employment is based upon immediate termination of all so-called strike activities.

DU MAURIER, NOTED ACTOR, DIES AT 61

LONDON, April 11.—(AP.)—Sir Gerald Du Maurier, 61, noted actor, died in a nursing home today after an operation for an internal disorder.

Famed as an actor, producer and manager, Sir Gerald was born at Hampstead, England, March 26, 1873. He was the son of the late George Du Maurier, who was renown as an artist on the staff of Punch and as author of "Trilby."

At 21, Sir Gerald made his first stage appearance at the Garrick Theater in the play, "The Old Jew."

He came to the United States in 1896, playing in "The Dancing Girl," "Hamlet," "The Seats of the Mighty," "The Red Lamp," "Trilby" and "King Henry IV."

One of his big successes was scored at the Hicks Theater in May, 1907, when he appeared as Montgomery Brewster in "Brewster's Million."

As his fame grew steadily, he was called upon to appear at many command performances.

Sir Gerald interrupted his brilliant theatrical career in 1918 when he joined the Army as a cadet in the Irish Guards. He did not reappear on the stage until September 8, 1919.

He terminated his managerial association with Wyndham's after 15 years and went to St. James' theater where he became associated with Gilbert Miller in 1925.

He appeared there as Lord Arthur Dilling in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." Sir Gerald and Miller ended their association in 1929.

He received the honor of knighthood in the New Years honors of 1922.

He was author of "A Royal Rival" and part-author with his brother Guy, of "Charles I and II," and of "The Dancers."

Sir Gerald was featured in the motion picture "Escape" three years ago and appeared in "Lord Camber's Lady," in 1932.

EARLE SURVEYS POLITICS HERE, LAUDS NRA

Praising the New Deal and pledging himself to continued support of President Roosevelt, George H. Earle, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, visited Pittsburgh today to look over the political situation.

Earle, a Philadelphian, who gave up the post of ambassador to Austria to be the Democratic organization candidate, arrived at about the same time one of his rivals, Attorney General William A. Schnader, slipped into the city for a similar purpose. Schnader is a candidate for the Republican nomination.

MEETS LEADERS

Accompanied by Judge Joseph G. Tumolille, of the Philadelphia Municipal Court, Earle conferred with Democratic leaders. He is paving the way for a return visit April 17, 18 and 19, when he will tour Western Pennsylvania counties.

He said:

"Franklin D. Roosevelt is the first President of the United States who has given the employe, the farmer and the small business man a new deal and a square deal. The fundamental difference between Roosevelt Democracy and Republican leadership is that Roosevelt backs human rights and the Republican leaders stand for property rights.

"We Roosevelt Democrats judge our success in national, state and city administrations by how we have cut down unemployment, stopped the selling of homes over our citizens' heads, and raised wages.

"The Republican leaders judge their achievements by what price city bonds are selling at and whether the budget is balanced.

"During the last year, to the best of my ability, I have carried out the liberal and humane foreign policies of President Roosevelt in Austria. If elected Governor, I shall continue to support in every way the man who came to office in the midst of utter chaos and now has our country strongly on the road to prosperity and happiness."

Among those who greeted Earle were Joseph F. Guffey, candidate for United States Senator on the same ticket with him, and David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman.

SOCIALISTS CRITICIZE

Pennsylvania Socialists today issued an attack on Earle, contending he approved "the bloody suppression of the Austrian workers." They said:

"Pennsylvania is a great industrial state in which the forces of capital and labor are constantly clashing, and in which our civil rights are in constant danger of being destroyed.

"To delegate the power vested in the Governor to an individual so definitely committed to the policy of bloody suppression of the people, is to invite disaster."

RAIL MEN PICK CANDIDATES

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—Independent candidates in both Republican and Democratic primary campaigns have the indorsement of the co-operative board of the four transportation brotherhoods, with more than 100,000 members in Pennsylvania.

For the Republican nominations for United States Senator and Governor the railroad workers favor Gov. Gifford Pinchot and Charles J. Margiotti, of Punxsutawney, respectively.

In the Democratic contests they prefer Roland S. Morris, of Philadelphia, for the senatorial candidate and Judge C. D. Copeland, of Greensburg, for the gubernatorial.

The organizations represented are the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Order of Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomtive Engineers and Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Candidates for Lieutenant Governor who won approval are State Senator Henry L. Snyder, Emaus Democrat, and Thomas R. Aubrey, South Brownsville Republican.

Philip H. Dewey, of Gaines, Republican incumbent, and State Representative Norbert J. Fitzgerald, Erie Democrat, were indorsed for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

G. O. P. LEADING REGISTRATION

Republicans moved away to a slightly greater lead today, as tabulations of the first registration day reached the Twenty-sixth Ward.

The total for the 26 wards showed 18,131 Republicans and 16,302 Democrats.

However, the Democrats maintained a steady pace in the daily registrations in the office of the Registration Commissioners. The Democrats enrolled during the past few days totaled 493 and the Republicans 470.

The additional wards counted yesterday were:

Ward	Republican	Democratic
Twenty-first	562	524
Twenty-second	522	506
Twenty-third	637	415
Twenty-fourth	502	380
Twenty-fifth	645	147
Twenty-sixth	923	602

The registration office in the new County Office Building is open to those who want to register every day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. except Saturdays, when the hours are 9 a. m. to noon.

Candidates Win Top Positions in Legislative Race

HARRISBURG, April 11.—Additional drawings in the legislative race late yesterday resulted in the following top positions on the primary ballot:

ELEVENTH DISTRICT — Republican: George F. Howe, Richard H. Lawry, Hugh Cameron, Alfred J. Ackerman, Joseph A. Macko, Henry Delallo.

Democratic: Hugh Cameron, George L. Ewing, John J. Handshue, Joseph P. Passafiume, Francis L. Patterson, John J. Connelly.

Socialist: Michael M. Luft, Valentine Hensler.

TWELFTH DISTRICT—Republican: John R. Haudenshield, John M. O'Rourke, Kenneth Ketchum, Cyril F. Ruffennach, Frank P. Burr, Hubert G. Benson, Cornelius M. Carlson, Adolph T. Funk, Edmund H. Lang, Augusta C. Gerhold, S. V. Albo, Merle D. Long.

Democratic: Russell S. Halpin, Edward L. Bladle, Frank A. Coolahan, Carl E. Kahley, Guy Miller, Merle D. Long, William H. Prosser, Guy A. Reed, Jacob S. Heisel, Frank S. Haas, Cyril F. Ruffennach, Herman C. A. Hofacker.

Independent: Thomas McDowell, Kenneth Ketchum, William H. Moran, Joseph A. Rectenwald, William H. Frasher, Albert F. Moelter.

Socialist: Jacob Herman, Mary B. Lehner, Nunzio Fusco, George W. Torrence, John M. O'Rourke.

THIRTEENTH DISTRICT—Republican: Herbert Sniderman, Charles P. Walter, John Arnold, William Bauerle, Stephen J. Walko, Jr., William A. Walker.

Democratic: Joseph F. Pidle, Daniel V. Flask, James Brett, William L. Brown, John B. Helmbold, Herbert Sniderman.

Socialist: Richard H. Allenberg, Frank Laktin.

Long Illness Fatal To Ex-Chief of Cuba

HAVANA, April 11.—(INS.)—Alfredo Zayas, former president of Cuba, died today after an illness of several months from a heart ailment.

WAGNER DENIES GUFFEY AIDED WEIR IN FEUD

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York, chairman of the National Labor Board, in a letter to Representative Norbert J. Fitzgerald, of Erie, has denied that Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, interfered on behalf of Ernest T. Weir, of the National Steel Corporation, in the latter's controversy with the board.

Fitzgerald is a candidate for the Democratic nomination as Secretary of Internal Affairs on a ticket opposed to that backed by Guffey, himself a candidate for the senatorial nomination. In his letter to Fitzgerald, Senator Wagner wrote:

"I have just been shown a clipping from The Erie Times of March 19, 1934, in which you are quoted as stating that Mr. Joseph F. Guffey is now attempting to undermine the National Labor Board in behalf of Mr. Weir.

"I know that you do not wish to do Mr. Guffey an injustice, nor would it be fair to him if I left the impression go out that he was in any way attempting to interfere with the efforts of Weirton steel workers' rights.

"The only connection Mr. Guffey had with the Weirton labor controversy was that he volunteered his services to the National Labor Board to help secure an adjustment of the labor difficulties at Weirton.

"Mr. Guffey was present at the hearing before the National Labor Board and was one of those who persuaded Mr. Weir at that time to enter into an agreement with representatives of the workers for an election at which the workers were to be allowed, under government supervision, to select representatives of their own choosing. I was very grateful to Mr. Guffey for his efforts in this regard.

"I am sure that Mr. Guffey is whole-heartedly in sympathy with the aspirations of the working people of Pennsylvania to secure for themselves a better economic life."

Pinchot Attacks Reed In New Try Over KDKA

In an address over station KDKA last night Gov. Gifford Pinchot repeated his first senatorial campaign speech which had been cut off the night before due, station officials said, to the fact that his voice did not carry clearly.

The Governor declared that long before President Roosevelt was in office he had been fighting for a new deal, and now that the Chief Executive has started it, he stands with him in his fight for the forgotten man.

A large part of the speech was devoted to an attack on Senator David A. Reed, his principal opponent on the Republican ticket.

In a radio address over a state hookup, heard here through WCAE, Attorney General William A. Schnader said his campaign for the Republican selection for Governor will be devoted to "discussion of the problems of state government."

U. S. MAPS VOTE FRAUD CASES

James I. Marsh, first assistant United States attorney, was in Washington today, presumably for a conference with James B. Keenan, assistant attorney general in charge of criminal cases, concerning resumption of prosecutions of vote fraud cases at the May term of court. At that time some of the Republican political leaders under indictment will be placed on trial, it was said.

At Marsh's office in the Federal Building it was said he was called to Washington, but the purpose of his visit was not made public. It is believed here by government officials that Marsh will be placed in full charge of the pending vote fraud cases and that an assistant may be appointed by the Attorney General to assist him.

Earl F. Reed, special government prosecutor in the election cases, resigned last week in order to give his entire time to the defense of the Weirton Steel Company, sued by the government. Reed and Marsh have obtained convictions against 37 men and women, who will be sentenced Friday.

Judge F. P. Schoonmaker yesterday denied the motion of John Stabile for a new trial. Stabile, a political leader in the Eighth District, Third Ward, was convicted with members of the election board in that district.

STROUP ASPIRES TO SENATE

George H. Stroup, burgess of Springdale, is a candidate for the Democratic state senatorial nomination in the Fortieth District. He believes in a stronger old age pension law, unemployment insurance, and revision of the workmen's compensation laws for the benefit of employes, according to his platform. Before being elected as burgess he served as a member of Springdale Council.

Albert C. Walsh, candidate for the Legislature in the Third District, proposes a time limit of not more than 30 years on all laws enacted by the Legislature. He would make the plan retroactive, bringing up in 1935 all laws passed in 1905, either for renewal, revision or repeal. His proposal, he says, would compel the Legislature to vote on such matters as blue laws every 30 years, and would result in cleaning the statute books of many laws which are antiquated or have fallen into disuse.

James Quigley, Democratic candidate in the First District, promises to introduce a single tax bill in the Legislature if elected. He also would rebate a portion of the automobile license tax to the municipal division of origin. A Quigley meeting is scheduled for Friday night at 75 Magee street.

Open Headquarters For Reed Campaign

County headquarters for Senator David A. Reed, candidate for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate, have been opened in the Roosevelt Hotel, Penn avenue and Sixth street, it was announced today. Former U. S. Attorney Raymond D. Evans is chairman of Reed's campaign committe, and Mrs. Walter L. Riggs, of McKeesport, is vicechairman of women's activities.

NEW DEAL QUIZ DRIVE PUSHED BY G. O. P.

comment on the investigation, telling newspapermen to draw their own inference.

Gen. Westervelt, it was reported, was ready to express strong resentment over the administration of the farm relief plan by the liberals of the Agriculture Department.

BRITTEN JOINS DEMAND

Representative Britten (Rep.), of Illinois, joined in the Republican demand that Westervelt be called and declared he had information he was dislodged from his important post. Britten said:

"I have information from Chicago that Westervelt was ousted by the radicals there because he wouldn't stand for their socialistic schemes."

The House committee—in recess until next Tuesday—had voted not to call Westervelt on that day. It was explained, however, that the committee would consider asking him to appear at a future date.

Democratic House leaders and members of the inquisitorial committee derided Dr. Wirt's testimony and were ready to drop the inquiry.

Representative O'Connor (Dem.), of New York, explained:

"We felt, however, that some of these people mentioned might want to appear and we ought to grant them that courtesy. Some of them are in the government and they might lose their jobs."

Those invited to appear Tuesday are Robert Bruere, chairman, Textile Code Advisory Board; David Cushman Coyle, Public Works Administration technical board of review; Hildegarde Kneeland, House economics division, Agriculture Department; Mary Taylor, Agriculture Department economist; Alice Barrows, Bureau of Education, and Laurence Todd, correspondent for the Soviet News Agency, Tass.

It was at the latter's Virginia home that the September dinner, on which Dr. Wirt based much of his testimony, was held.

WIRT STORY DENIED

Todd, who was named as the man who said President Roosevelt is "only the Kerensky of this revolution" denied it. He also asserted that Dr. Wirt talked most of the time on his monetary theories.

Others in the party denied they made statements to the effect that "brain trusters" were planning to overthrow the present social order or thwart national recovery.

Republicans sought to call Frederic C. Howe, of the Consumers' Advisory Board, a veteran political crusader. He was named as having suggested that if the government stopped feeding people they would immediately demand a change in government.

Capitol opinion of Dr. Wirt's testimony divided on political lines—with Republicans insisting he made a case showing the need for investigation of the "new dealers" and the Democrats asserting he "flopped."

RAINEY LAUDS INQUIRY

Speaker Rainey, who was named as having told Westervelt the government would take over more and more industry, said he would not ask the committee to hear him. Rainey declared:

"Westervelt won't back up that statement—he is a high-class man."

The Speaker, who had previously called the inquiry "silly," said it had served a good purpose. He explained:

"It releases the country from fear of revolution. There were a lot of people afraid of it."

Representative McGugin (Rep.), of Kansas, member of the committee, said Wirt had done well in the face of a "gag" by the committee. He asserted:

"I say now that Tugwell does not want agricultural recovery as we understand it—that is, profit for the individual farmer. He wants control of the land."

Representative Lehlbach (Rep.), of New Jersey, said:

"Wirt covered the ground thoroughly and in my judgment, effectively."

He urged that Tugwell, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and other "brain trusters" be called.

Representative O'Connor (Dem.), of New York, said:

"I never had such a let-down in my life. He didn't name a single responsible government official. He testified as to every government employe with whom he talked without naming anyone holding a key position."

The committee had before it a demand by National Commander E. A. Hayes, of the American Legion, urging a thorough investigation of Wirt's statements.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS :-:

By PAUL MALLON

Roosevelt 'Failure' As Uncle Sam's Spendthrift

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The administration does not want Congress to know yet, but it is getting around to the point where it is about ready to confess that it is not nearly as good a spendthrift as it thought it was.

The double entry bookkeeping system in the Treasury Department has confused the exact cost of the New Deal so well that Congress will never find out about it unless some one tells them. The system has the Congressmen dizzy. The administration will probably leave them that way.

The Senate was so much in doubt about the Treasury condition last week that it tried to tack a lot of new unneeded taxes on the revenue bill. At the same time Speaker Rainey made a speech in which he stated:

"Our recovery up to the present time has cost us nothing at all."

The truth is they are both wrong.

FACTS

If you get a gross of lead pencils and some bifocal glasses and some expert assistance from the right people, you will find that President Roosevelt's deficit for the first year is going to be about 4½ billions. He promised in his budget it would be 7¼ billions.

The secret behind it is he thought he could spend money a lot faster than he has been able to.

He promised in the budget that he could spend 7½ billions before the end of his first fiscal year, June 30, in emergency relief measures. So far he has been unable to spend 3 billions.

There are two reasons for that. The main one is that Public Works Director Ickes has strained and grimaced. Theoretically, all his three billion dollar fund is gone. But it is not being spent. It has only been allotted.

The other reason is the CWA. The cost there has been below estimates.

EXPENSES

When you put Mr. Roosevelt's two budgets together, you can see that he expected to have his total cost of government this fiscal year amount to 10½ billions. At the rate he is going, the actual cost to be expected at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, is about 6½ billions, or 4 billions short.

The regular budget of running expenses will just about balance, despite the veterans' pay restorations. Assertions now being made that Congressional action threw the budget out of line are NOT justified by the figures. The amount involved is not sufficient to have any influence on the general budget set-up.

INCOME

The amount of money coming in is satisfactory. It is running at just about the rate on which the budget estimates were based. Up to April 1, the income tax brought $590,000,000 clinking into the till. You can expect about $250,000,000 from the scource in April, May and June.

Considerable applause has been wasted on the fact that March income tax returns were 28 per cent above last year. That is true, but it is also true that the returns were considerably (not slightly, as advertised) below what had been expected.

It means that income receipts will run short of the budget estimate of $864,000,000.

The miscellaneous taxes brought in 92 per cent more this March than last, but that is no surprise. A fair guess would be that about $370,000,000 will come in during the next three months. Therefore, you can expect that the miscellaneous taxes will bring in a little more than the budget estimate by June 30.

That is because of beer and liquor.

MEANING

These figures are neither exact nor official, but they are sufficiently good guesses to warrant emphatic conclusions. Under existing expectations they will not turn out to be far wrong.

What they should mean to the man in the street is that most of the yelling lately on all sides as to the condition of the Treasury is atmospheric static; that the Treasury condition is less than two-thirds as bad as Mr. Roosevelt last December announced it would be.

It means further that Mr. Roosevelt's eventual budget balancing intentions will not work out. A large portion of what he is unable to spend this year must be spent next year because it is already allotted and appropriated.

President Begins To Worry Over '35 Deficit

Thus his deficit next year will be above his expectations, possibly three to four billions above, although it is too early to tell about that yet.

WORRY

There are inner indications that Mr. Roosevelt has already begun to worry about that subject. His next year's (beginning July 1) budget is framed. Congress has already passed most of the appropriation bills for it.

His efforts will probably be directed energetically toward balancing the budget the following year, as promised, but how he is going to do it no one knows. It depends entirely upon relief demands.

The deficits, of course, go on the debts and will have to be paid off eventually.

TAXES

The Senate got its wires crossed completely on the tax bill. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau only wanted the loopholes plugged so that the Wiggins, Mitchells, et al could not escape fair taxation. He did not want a revision of the tax rate structure. Back in his mind is an idea that next year he will be in a position to propose a complete revision of the federal taxation structure.

145 Rum Store Aides Furloughed by State

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—A hundred and forty-five state liquor store clerks and assistant managers have been furloughed by the State Liquor Board.

The assistant managers were laid off March 16, the board announced yesterday. The clerks' furloughs were effective April 1.

THUGS' BULLETS END PRAYER OF VICTIM

International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Vincent Gullato, proprietor of a lower East Side grocery store, was dead today and police were confronted with one of the strangest underworld tragedies on record.

Gullato was at work in his store last night when two young bandits entered with drawn guns. Grimly they ordeed Gullato and his clerk, Charles Restagno, 18, into a rear room.

When they entered the back room one of the gunmen said:

"Get down on your knees and pray, Gullato. Pray hard. It's your last praying."

Gullato got to his knees, but he did not pray. Instead he pleaded, begged that his life be spared. Loyally his clerk knelt beside him.

The gunmen listened intently for a few seconds. Then one of them spoke again:

"That won't do. Pray now. No begging."

Gullato dropped his head.

"Our Father Who Art in Heaven . . ."

His words were cut short as four revolver bullets drilled through the back of his head. He was killed instantly.

The clerk, Restagno, suffered only a minor wound as one of the bullets grazed his side.

The police offered no explanation for the killing, except that it was undoubtedly the result of an underworld fued.

SILENT SNIPER SHOOTS THIRD

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—The gun of a phantom sniper has barked again, this time in Brooklyn.

William Badalamante, 24, was shot in the back last night as he was walking through the crowded Williamsburg section. He was the third person this week to be struck by a sniper's shot. The others, a man and a woman, were killed.

Badalamante's condition was described today as not serious. The bullet, which penetrated the back, was of .22 calibre, the same as dropped Nathan Ellentuck, 21, on a Queens golf course, and, a day later, Mrs. Yetta Einhorn, as she stood before her small store in Orchard street, Manhattan.

As was the case in the previous shootings, no shot was heard. The angle of the wound in Badalamante's back indicated the shot was fired from above.

The shootings are believed the work of a maniac.

POLICE PROBE BODY APPROVED

A commission to investigate the city Police Bureau, with the idea of purging it of graft and corruption, has been approved in committee by City Council.

The commission, to consist of five experts selected by Council, will probably be approved finally Monday. It will be given full power by Council to use the power of subpena in calling witnesses in a complete investigation.

The investigating body, proposed by Councilman John J. Kane, was opposed only by William A. Magee, who argued that Council should wait until the National Economy League has set up its program for a city survey.

Kane said he did not object to the Economy League having a member on the commission, or even the appointment of an engineer as suggested by Magee, but that it is time something is done to correct conditions both inside and outside the bureau.

CEREAL RECIPE WINS AWARD

Walnuts, Whipped Cream Make It Tasty Dish

Prudence Penny knows only too well the danger of recommending foods because "they're good for you." No need to arouse dislike in this manner. Even the most prosaic foods can be served in a way that makes them inviting. Take Mrs. E. A. Lundberg's way of preparing raw cereal which makes a dish delicious enough to win today's first prize. You, too, must have your secrets of successful cooking persuasion.

Won't you send them in to Prudence Penny, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph? She daily awards one $5 prize, as well as $1 prizes to the best recipes received.

Five Dollar Prize Winner

MRS. E. A. LUNDBERG,
5468 Broad street.

CEREAL DELIGHT

Six eggs.
Two cups sugar.
Three-fourths cup raw white cereal.
One-fourth cup toasted bread crumbs.
One cup chopped walnuts.
Two level teaspoons baking powder.
One-half teaspoon flavouring (vanilla).
A pinch of salt.
One quart of cream whipped.

Beat egg yolks with dover egg beater until thick, then add sugar and continue beating for a few minutes. Add raw cereal finely crushed toasted bread crumbs, chopped walnuts, baking powder and flavoring. Put a pinch of salt in egg whites and beat until very stiff, then fold into batter. Grease a pan large enough so that batter will be about three-fourth inches thick. Pour batter into pan and bake at 350 degrees F for 40 minutes. Then take from oven and remove from pan at once. Let stand 10 hours, then break into small pieces and place in mold, alternating with layer of crumbs and whipped cream (the last layer being whipped cream). Let stand for two hours before serving. Put in sherbets or on small plates and serve with whipped cream topped with a cherry. This recipe will serve approximately 20 persons.

Five $1 Prize Winners

MRS. JOS. A. JACQUES,
225 Trowbridge street, Hazelwood Station.

STUFFED SHOULDER WITH HORSERADISH SAUCE

Six pounds veal shoulder.
One-half pound veal liver (diced).
Three eggs.
Three slices white bread.
Two tablespoons parsley (chopped).
One-half teaspoon pepper.
One teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons butter (melted).
One-fourth pound fresh bacon (diced).

Bone shoulder carefully to make a pocket. Moisten bread well in water and mix with liver, eggs, parsley, pepper, bacon, salt and one tablespoon butter. Stuff shoulder with the above mixture. Sew the opening. Put in pot, pour half cup of water over top and stew in well covered pot until tender. Then put in another pan, spread top with one tablespoon of butter, sprinkle with cracker meal and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

SAUCE

One cup horseradish grated.
One-half cup sour cream.
One-half cup water.
One-half teaspoon each of sugar, salt, pepper.

Mix water with horseradish, sugar, salt and flour. Boil 10 minutes then add cream and boil for a couple more minutes. Serve with stuffed shoulder.

MRS. JOHN PHIFER,
923 Ross avenue, Wilkinsburg.

TULIP SALAD

Four red apples, medium size.
One-fourth cup diced apple.
One-half cup canned diced pears.
One-half cup diced celery.
One-half cup salted almonds, chopped.
Mayonnaise.
Lettuce.

Wash and polish the apples. Cut a slice from the stem end and scoop out the centers. Cut down in wide points to represent tulip petals. Mix together the diced apples from the centers, the pears, celery and almonds. Moisten well with mayonnaise. Fill tulips with mixture and set in nests of lettuce.

M. A. JACOBS,
2844 Broadway.

CUBAN CHICKEN.

One chicken.
One cup rice, uncooked.
One can peas.
One chopped pimento.
One green pepper, diced.
One clove.
One sprig parsley.
Three tablespoons butter.
Two onions, diced.
Two and one-half cups strained tomatoes.
One cup water.
One teaspoon paprika.
Three and one-half teaspoons salt.

Clean and cut chicken as for frying. Put butter in pan or cooker. When butter is hot brown the diced onions in it. Then add the tomatoes, water, green pepper, paprika, clove, parsley, salt, pepper and chicken. Bring to boiling point over direct flame. Place cover on utensil, turn flame low. Continue cooking one hour, then open the utensil, add rice, peas, pimento, cover and bring to boiling point, then turn flame very low and continue cooking one hour more. Serve hot.

MRS. JAMES G. BROUNCE,
Hazzard.

SOUR MILK BUNS

One cup sour milk.
One-half teaspoon baking soda.
Three tablespoons sugar.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One cake yeast.
One egg.
Four tablespoons shortening.
One teaspoon baking powder.
Five or six cups of flour.

Mix thoroughly sour milk and soda, then add sugar, salt and yeast, softened in a small amount of warm water. Next add well-beaten egg and melted shortening. Then add the baking powder and enough flour to make a firm dough. Knead very little. Let rise in a warm place for two hours. Make in small flat buns. Place on greased baking pan one inch apart and bake in hot oven until brown.

MRS. ISABELLE BRADLEY,
3064 Zephyr avenue, Sheraden.

SWEETBREAD PATTIES

Two pairs of sweetbreads.
One-half cup mushrooms.
One cup cream.
Three Tablespoons butter.
One-half cup almonds.
One cup milk.
Three tablespoons flour.
Selt, pepper, paprika.

Put sweetbreads in cold water for one hour. Drain. Set on stove in kettle of salted cold water. Bring to boil and parboil 20 minutes. Plunge sweetbreads into ice water until very cold. Trim off all fat and membrane. Cut into fine pieces. Saute mushrooms cut fine. Shave blanched almonds into slivers. Heat milk and cream together, thicken with melted butter and flour blended. Add seasoning to taste. Cook, stirring in double boiler until smooth and of creamy consistency. Add sweetbreads, mushrooms and almonds. Serve in puff paste shells.

ARTIST GROUP CHANGES RULE

The Associated Artists of Pittsburgh voted to eliminate "jury free" pictures from future exhibitions last night at their annual business meeting in the Hotel Schenley.

The adoption last night of the straight jury system ended a controversy which has raged among Pittsburgh artists for the past several years. Under the "jury free" system an artist who had exhibited in 10 exhibitions was entitled to place a painting in the exhibition without the jury's approval.

Directors elected by the artists for a two-year term at last night's meeting are J. C. Kilroy, Raymond Baxter Dowden, Caroline Oliver, Anna B. Craig, and Raymond S. Simboli.

Presiding at the meeting was Miss Louise Pershing, vice president of the organization. For the first time in 24 years Christian J. Walter, president, was absent from a meeting.

State Rum Revenue $482,843 in March

HARRISBURG, April 11.—(AP.)—State taxes on beer and liquor brought $482,843 into the State Treasury in March.

Beer levies produced $330,977 of that amount, and liquor taxes $151,865, the Revenue Department announced yesterday. The March figures bring to $5,191,063 the total received from beer and liquor taxes in 11 months.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH WANT-ADS BRING RESULTS

U. S. PEACE PACT WITH BRITAIN WRITER'S AIM

Events have made the world unsafe for Democracy and only a coalition of England and the United States can preserve it for these nations, H. R. Knickerbocker, noted correspondent and world traveler, asserts.

Writing in the May Cosmopolitan on "This Burning World," Knickerbocker declares that Western civilization is fast disappearing from Europe.

In a recent trip of 10,000 miles seven-eighths of the time he traveled under the shadow of dictatorship.

CENSORSHIP COMMON

Only in England and America do freedom of speech and freedom of the press remain, the writer says. Absolute censorship prevails in Russia, Germany, Italy and Austria and all information objectionable to the authorities in power is suppressed in Poland, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Spain, Greece, Turkey, Portugal and Bulgaria.

France, Knickerbocker points out, is still a democracy, but one in a precarious position, geograpically and politically taking orders from its mobs and trying desperately to save democracy in France and defend the republic against its external enemy.

Without Anglo-American solidarity, Knickerbocker sees chaos, adding:

WAR CLOUDS GATHER

"War on the continent of Europe seems inevitable within the time it will take for Germany's forces to become superior. With no decisive group to oppose the forces of Japanese imperialism in the Far East, war there seems probable within, perhaps, an even shorter time.

"War anywhere will leave no single nation alone. No nation by itself is strong enough to impose conditions that would keep her out of war, once it was started. America and Great Britain, however, are strong to do it. Why not a peace to make the world safe for American and British democrats?"

GOLD DIGGERS WORK IN SEA

ABERDEEN, Wash., April 11.—The gold diggers of Grays Harbor, elated by President Roosevelt's new high price for the yellow metal, are getting out their bathing suits and clam forks.

They earn a living extracting gold from sea sand, an occupation in which they can wear bathing suits. When gold panning is halted for lunch, they chase the elusive clam.

It isn't much of a living, they say, but a patient and industrious beach miner can make $2 a day, since the President has set the price of gold at $35 a fine ounce. Says Charles A. Bushnell, an expert:

"It's a fine life—except when high tide and surf beat in at night and wipe out all your sluice boxes and pound your flumes to kindling."

His sons, Charles and George, just finished two weeks part time gold mining, taking about $30 worth of gold and perhaps $20 worth of platinum.

Student Expelled At Pitt to Speak

Arthur G. McDowell, national chairman of the Young People's Socialist League of America, will address a rally at the Taylor Allderdice High School tonight. His topic will be "The Chances of Youth and Liberty in 1934."

McDowell was one of two students expelled from the University of Pittsburgh in 1929 for activities in connection with the Mooney-Billings case agitation and participation in a campaign against the coal and iron police.

More Transients Seek Shelter Here

An increase in the number of wandering men and boys cared for at the temporary home of the Association for the Improvement of the Poor, 1315 Liverpool street, has been recorded during the last two weeks, according to officials. They attributed the increase to the lure of spring weather.

STUDENTS SEEK WILD WHATSIT IN CANADA

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 11.—(AP.)—America's first Sasquatch-catching expedition headed into the mountains of British Columbia today on a hunt for the horrible, hairy, naked bogey-man of Indian legend.

J. F. Blakeney and C. K. Blakeney, brothers, of Sacramento, medical students at the University of California, read reports of frightened tribesmen that the giant baby-snatcher of old had been seen recently in the mountains north of Harrison Lake, and determined to attempt to photograph or lasso a "Sasquatch."

The fabled Sasquatch, as described in Indian lore for hundreds of years, is about as villainous a phantasm as ever frightened a little papoose anywhere, but adult Indians also are fearful of the monsters.

They are supposed to lurk in caves and glades of British Columbia, coming out in the twilight to peer moodily into Indian tepees, to glower and snatch at children, to steal food, play diabolical tricks and even kill warriors.

Said the Blakeneys, as they left for the haunts of the Sasquatch:

"Our professor of anthropology will be much interested."

British Columbia is a happy hunting ground for weird legends, and there is no lack of witnesses who will swear to them, as hundreds have sworn they have seen Ogopogo, the sheep-headed fresh-water serpent of Lake Okanogan, and the two big salt-water sea serpents, Hiaschuckaluck Cadbarosaurus and his "wife" Amy.

JUNIOR LEAGUER DELAYS CUPID

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Miss Mary Boileu Mixsell, Junior League daugther of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Ruckman Mixsell, has revealed that she and Carlisle Norwood have postponed their wedding date, originally set for April 27.

The wedding will take place during the summer, she said, adding:

"Certain financial matters affecting both of us have made a short delay seem the wise thing. There's been no quarrel or anything like that, and we're still very much in love."

Norwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Norwood, of New York and San Francisco. Only six months ago Miss Mixsell's engagement to Philip Van Rensselaer Schuyler was broken by mutual consent. Last month Schuyler became engaged to Miss Barbara Leslie.

Mary Miles Mintner Wins 'Dress Battle'

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(INS.)—Juliet Shelby, once known to the screen world as Mary Miles Minter, today had won "the battle of the blue chiffon dress."

In the presence of two deputy city attorneys, Hilda Desey, a dressmaker, complained Miss Minter entered the Desey shop and took a $55 dress. Miss Desey testified she had borrowed various sums of money from Miss Minter.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

MONACA 'FIX' PLOT LAID TO EX-TROOPER

Charged with trying to "fix" the star state witness in the trial of the 'Three Toms,' convicted proprietors of the notorious Monaca Club, Jack Tobin, a former state trooper, was at liberty on $2,000 bond today pending a hearing tomorrow afternoon before Alderman A. M. Maloney.

Tobin was arrested yesterday afternoon almost at the time Judge Thomas M. Marshall was sentencing Tom Dolan to a six-months jail term. Dolan was the second of the "Three Toms" sentenced. Tom 'Goose' Goslin was sentenced Monday to a similar term.

Sergt. Vincent Bunch, of the Greensburg barracks, who filed the information against Tobin, charged that the ex-trooper attempted to have another trooper induce Robert Hershman, also a former trooper, and the state's star witness against the club, to leave Tom Coyne's name out of the club's activities. Coyne, a brother of State Senator James J. Coyne, is seeking a new trial.

Hershman was one of the troopers who, posing as college students, obtained the evidence against the club.

TEXT TO VOICE U. S. THOUGHT

When the colossal Mount Rushmore National Memorial is completed in South Dakota's Black Hills, the history text carved in 600 words will be the thought and writing of the American people.

It will portray to the generations through a million years:

That is how former President Calvin Coolidge visioned the completed project for which the Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers are conducting a nationwide competition for that text, written by the people, which will become the final inscription.

Coolidge gave his terse description during an address in 1927 when the site for the memorial was consecrated. He agreed to write the 600 word history, but death prevented its competition.

Now the American public—every man, woman and child—is invited to submit its version of the nation's growth through nine specific episodes. Cash and scholarship awards await the winners.

The rules and competition news offer hints and helpful aids daily in the Sun-Telegraph. A special folder, giving complete information is free for the asking at the Sun-Telegraph downtown office, Fifth avenue and Market street.

A special radio program tomorrow night on Station WJAS at 8:30 o'clock will offer a dramatic sketch of the drafting of the Declaration of Independence. It will be an offering of the "Voice of America," presented by Underwood-Elliott-Fisher.

JUNIOR PATROL

Now that so many of the days are pleasant again, fellows, we want to warn you to be careful about automobiles and street cars.

In all the street cars there is a sign now, "Warn children not to play in the streets."

And that is good advice, fellows. But we know how hard it is for many fellows to find a place to play. There should be a playground near you, or a vacant lot where you can play.

But if there isn't, fellows, we are going to ask you not to play in the street. Walk to a good place to play, a park or playground or field, even though it isn't near your home. The walk is good exercise, too, and you will have more fun without any danger.

And please don't forget the rule, fellows. Always look up and down before you start across the street. Watch out getting on and off street cars. Cross with the traffic lights, and keep your eye on the corner around which cars are turning.

Sunday, we were walking in Highland Park. It was the first time we had ever seen the swell swimming pools the city has there. Of course, the pools weren't filled with water, and will not be until it gets warmer, but we could tell that they must be a fine place to swim and bask in the sunshine.

But there were many other things to see, even though the leaves aren't on the trees yet. There was a pond there, for instance, where men were practicing "casting"—their fishing poles had lines on them with a little bobber on the end, no hooks, and they practiced throwing these bobbers way out on the water.

Some of the men were so adept that they could make the bobbers land in the water with scarcely any splash at all, and right where they wanted them to go. Fishing is a fine sport, but it takes lots of patience. We wonder if many of our Junior Patrol members have done much fishing. Write and tell us about it.

JUNIOR PATROL PLEDGE

I promise to help children less fortunate than I am.
I promise to do my best to make my parents proud of me.
I promise to watch carefully when crossing streets and to aid other children in keeping out of danger.
I promise to study hard and do errands willingly.
I promise to be a 100% Junior Patrol member.

Address this pledge to the JUNIOR PATROL, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa. Upon its recipt you will be registered as a member of the JUNIOR PATROL and will be forwarded a membership card and an official emblem.

Salvation Army Honors Founder

Pittsburgh Salvation Army workers joined workers throughout the world yesterday in celebrating the one hundred and fifth anniversary of Gen. William Booth, founder of the organization. Local observance was marked by a musical pageant and supper in the Army Building, 425 Boulevard of the Allies. The celebration was under the direction of Maj. Thomas Malpass.

Truck Driver's Arm Broken in Collision

An automobile truck driver was pinned under his machine at Seventh avenue and Grant street early today, when it overturned after colliding with another truck, which also overturned.

The driver, who was caught, suffering a fracture of the left arm, was Mike Milmaster, 45, of 3206 Camp street. He was taken to Mercy Hospital. Harry Wilke, 47, of 219 Water street, driver of the other machine, was unhurt.

NO. 74.

AN ORDINANCE—Granting unto the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation the right and privilege to construct, maintain, use and operate a cellar door entrance 3 feet 6 inches x 4 feet adjoining its property at 406 Smithfield street in the First Ward, City of Pittsburgh, Penna., said cellar door entrance being located sixty two feet and six inches (62'6") northwardly from the northerly line of Fourth avenue and extending back three feet six inches (3'6") therefrom.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation in the First Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, Penna. is hereby given the right, privilege and authority to construct, maintain, use and operate at its own cost and expense, a cellar door entrance adjoining its property at 406 Smithfield street in the First Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, Penna, and located as follows to wit:

Beginning at a point on the easterly line of Smithfield street 62.50 feet northwardly from the northerly line of Fourth avenue, thence northwardly along the easterly line of Smithfield street, 3.50 feet to a point, thence deflecting to the left 90 degrees and in a westerly direction a distance of 4 feet to a point, thence deflecting to the left 90 degrees and in a southerly direction 3.50 feet to a point; thence deflecting to the left 90 degrees and in an easterly direction a distance of 4 feet to the easterly line of Smithfield street to the place of beginning, said cellar door to be constructed according to the provisions of this ordinance and in accord with the plan identified as proposed cellar door for the Aaron DeRoy Management Company on Smithfield street, First Ward, City of Pittsburgh, Penna. said plan filed in the office of the Division of Public Utilities, Bureau of Highways and Sewers, Department of Public Works, City of Pittsburgh, Penna. and known as accession number B-412.

SECTION 2. Prior to the beginning the construction of said cellar door entrance the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation shall submit to the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City of Pittsburgh, a complete set of plans in triplicate, showing the location and all details for the construction of the cellar door entrance and shall be subject to the approval and supervision of the Director of the Department of Public Works.

SECTION 3. The right and privilege herein granted shall be subject and subordinate to the rights of the City of Pittsburgh and its powers and supervision over city streets, and also to ordinance of the City of Pittsburgh relating thereto and to the provisions of any general ordinances, which have been or may hereafter be passed relating to the construction, maintenance and use of cellar door entrances on city streets and compensation for the same.

SECTION 4. The Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation shall bear the full cost and expense of the repaving and repair of any street pavement damaged, repair of sewers, water lines and other surface and subsurface structures, which may be in any way damaged or disturbed by reason of the construction, maintenance, use and operation of said cellar door entrance all of the work including the repaving or repairing of any portion of the street damaged, shall be done in the manner and at such times as the Director of the Department of Public Works may order and shall be subject to his approval and supervision.

SECTION 5. The right and privilege granted by this ordinance are granted upon the express condition that the City of Pittsburgh, without liability, reserves the right to cause the removal of the said cellar door entrance upon giving to the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation at least six (6) months written notice from the proper officers of the city pursuant to a resolution or ordinance or Council to the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation, and that the said Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation, when so notified, shall, at or before the expiration of the said six months, remove the said cellar door entrance and replace the street in its original condition at its own cost and expense.

SECTION 6. The Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation shall assume any and all liability and shall save the City of Pittsburgh harmless from and against all damages to persons or property, including the street and subsurface structures therein, caused by or arising out of the construction, maintenance, use and operation of said cellar door entrance, and it is a condition of this grant that the City of Pittsburgh assumes no liability to either persons or property on account of this grant.

SECTION 7. The foregoing right and privileges are granted subject to the conditions that this ordinance shall become null and void unless within thirty (30) days after its enactment by Council and approval by the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation shall file with the proper officers of the City of Pittsburgh, its certificate of acceptance, accepting the provisions of this ordinance, said certificate of acceptance to be extended by the president or secretary of the Aaron DeRoy Management Corporation with its corporate seal affixed hereto.

SECTION 8. That any ordinance or part of ordinance, conflicting with the privisions of this ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this ordinance.

VOLUNTEER AID GIVEN LEAGUE OPPOSITION

Volunteer workers who individually support the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph and associated Hearst newspapers on the stand taken against entry to the League of Nations and World Court, have taken on themselves part of the job of getting signers to the thousands of protest petitions in circulation in the Pittsburgh district. Hundreds of persons have obtained petitions at the office of the Sun-Telegraph for circulation among their friends and neighbors.

The response to the request of the volunteer workers for signatures was virtually unanimous. Hardly one in ten individuals encountered were unwilling to sign. Both men and women are active in bringing the petitions to the attention of residents of Pittsburgh and throughout the state.

LEGION WOMEN ACTIVE

Mrs. William H. Beister, Jr., national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, has urged every loyal American to sign the petition. She declared that the Legion Auxiliary, representing 400,000 service women, the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of World War veterans, is in hearty accord with National Commander Edward Hayes of the Legion. Mr. Hayes last week asked every loyal American to sign the petitions now in circulation.

W. A. Moser, Sergeant Major of Uniontown Post No. 47, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today sent a letter to the Sun-Telegraph. He said:

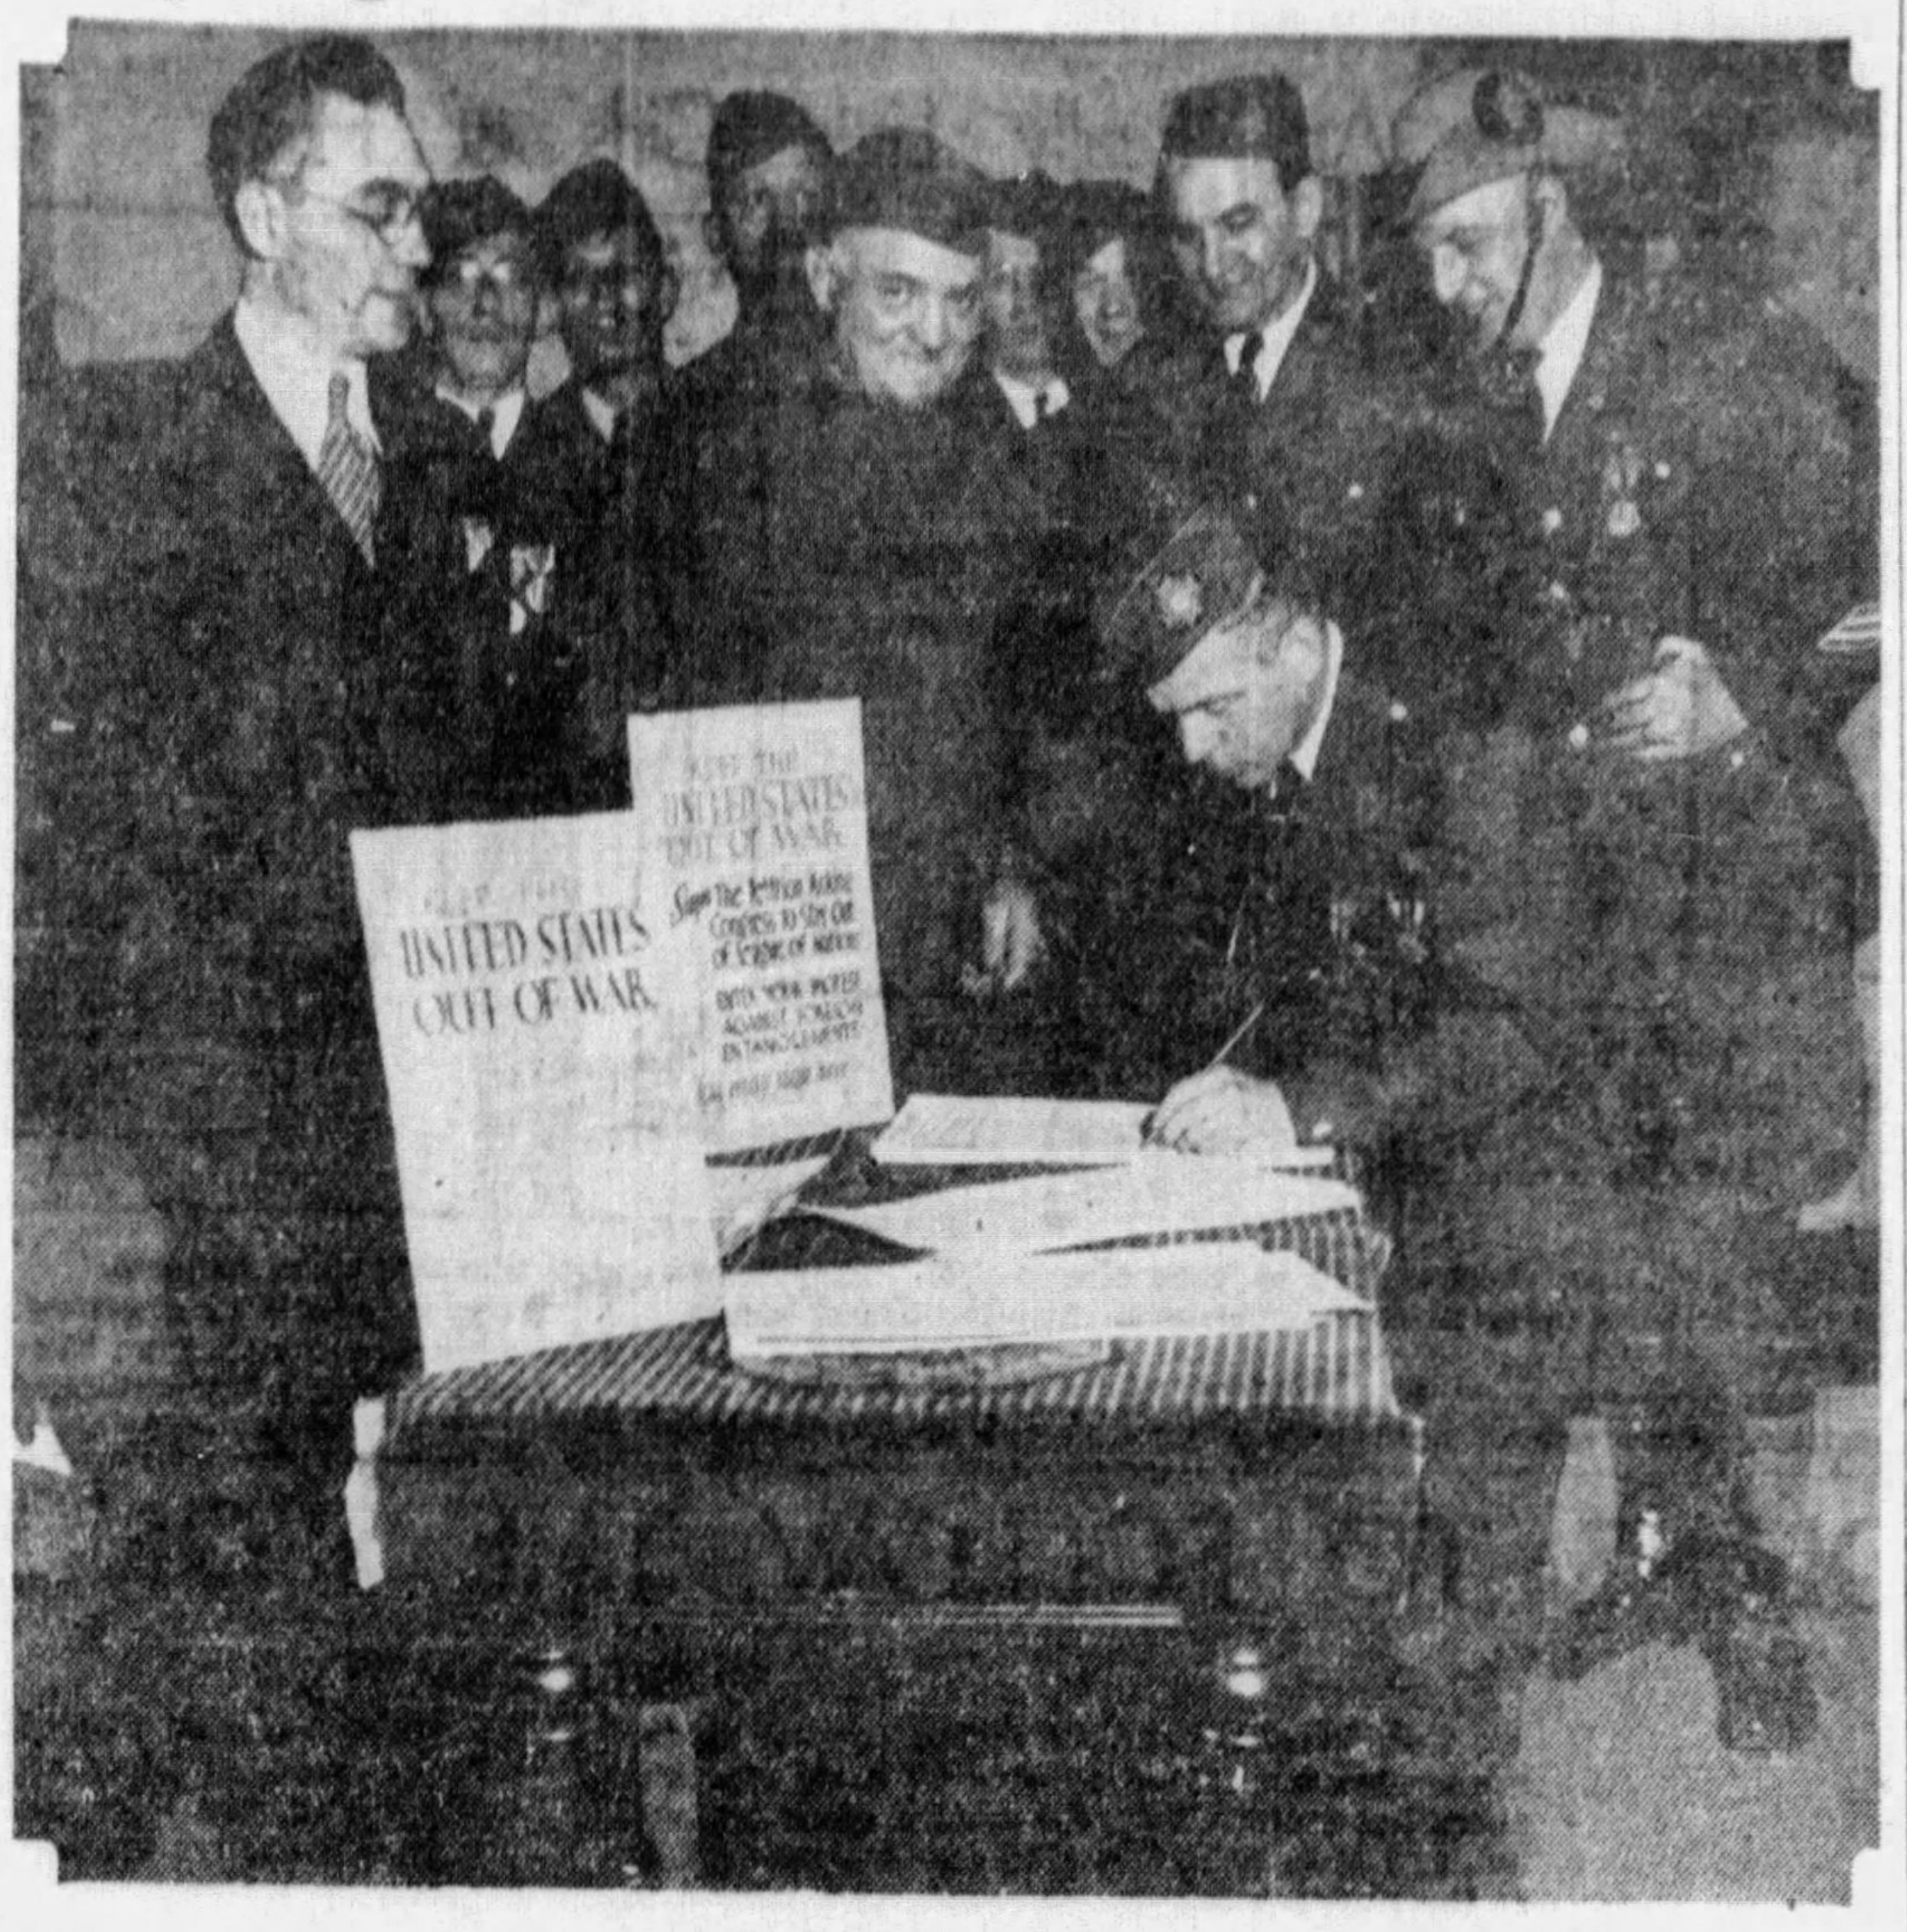
"We are attaching hereto two completed petitions against the participation of the United States in the League of Nations or in the World Court of the League of Nations. As members of an organization that is composed of ex-soldiers who have fought America's wars on land, sea and foreign soil, we believe we are able to judge of the disadvantages in connection with an alliance with foreign powers. We congratulate the Sun-Telegraph on the splendid work the Hearst papers are doing and assure you our services are at your command in this work."

VETERAN SENTIMENT

James J. Pirt, adjutant of McNulty Post No. 214, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Pittsburgh, sends the following comment:

"Enclosed you will find a petition circulated among the members of our post. In this section of Pittsburgh that sent so many men into the armed forces of the United States government during the World War, the sentiment among the ex-service men is very strong against entering into any arrangement with any foreign nation to protect them in their selfish interest. We express our admiration for the interest you have shown in the ex-service man and his dependents and hope that your efforts will keep the United States from being "taken over" again in the future."

Signing Against League of Nations



MEMBERS OF CHATEAU POST, VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS, SIGNING ANTI-LEAGUE PETITIONS

The scene in the lobby of the Fulton Theater as war veterans, there to see "Forgotten Men," a picture of actual war scenes, stopped to sign Sun-Telegraph petitions protesting U. S. entry into the League of Nations or the League Court. The veterans all believe in keeping our country out of foreign wars and foreign wars out of our country. Albert Wintersgill is signing while others await their trurns. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

MAX HASSEL'S BROTHER SUED

READING, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Gangland executioners brought a sudden halt to Max Hassel's career as a beer baron a year ago today, but his affairs are just starting a new course through the courts.

The conservator of the Reading National Bank and Trust Company, Wellington Bertolet, has filed a $776,842.51 suit against Morris Hassel, executor of his brother's estate.

Max Hassel, a Reading resident, and Max Greenberg, of New York, were shot to death in a hotel in Elizabeth, N. J.

The suit, filed yesterday, covers six notes for amounts ranging from $66 to $4,742.40 and the $700,000 balance of an $800,000 mortgage bond given by Max Hassel, Israel Liever and Morris Hassel in the purchase of the Berkshire Hotel. A bond issue for $60,000 is also involved in the claim.

Bertolet filed a second suit to collect $47.85 on a note for the Penn National Bank and Trust Company, of which he is also conservator.

Arms Seizure Nips Uruguayan Revolt

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, April 11.—(AP.)—A plot to overthrow the Uruguayan regime was believed thwarted today with the seizure of a cache of rifles and machine guns. Brazilian troops confiscated the arms in Rio Grande Do Sul, Brazilian border state.

BROKER SLAYS FIVE AND SELF

MINNEAPOLIS, April 11.—(AP.)—Money worries were blamed today for a six-fold tragedy in which a crazed insurance broker killed his wife, his three children and mother-in-law, then took his own life.

The six, all found dead in bed with bullet holes in their heads, were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Freudenfeld, Janet, 14; Carol, 11; Richard, 8 and Mrs. Cora De Haven.

Police found a pistol beside Freudenfeld. They said he had shot his relatives as they lay asleep. He left a note asking that they be cremated and that a family friend, Fred Weil, administer the life insurance, which he said would cover all obligations.

A neighbor was awakened early yesterday by what he believed to be a shot. He called police, but after examining the house from the outside, they did not enter. Later in the day neighbors phoned police again and the bodies were found.

CUBA HOLDS UP LOAN REFUNDS

HAVANA, April 11.—(AP.)—Cuba has declared a two-year moratorium on about $50,000,000 in loans from American and British houses and leaders said today it may be extended even longer.

It was a case, government officials explained, of letting national obligations, including salaries of public employes, go unpaid, or of suspending payments on certain international obligations. Cuba chose the latter course.

Under the moratorium, approved by the cabinet of President Carlos Mendieta last night, interest alone will be paid on the principal of bonds floated through Speyer and Morgan from 1904 to 1927, as follows:

Speyer, 5 per cent, 1904, $10,000,000; Speyer, 4½ per cent, 1909, $10,000,000; Morgan, 5 per cent, 1914, $4,000,000; Morgan, 5½ per cent, 1923 and 1927, $23,000,000 and $3,000,000, respectively.

Robinson, Former Navy Aide, Dies

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., April 11.—(AP.)—Theodore Douglas Robinson, former assistant secretary of the Navy, died of pneumonia yesterday at the Robinson ancestral estate, Cruger Mansion, in the Mohawk Valley town of Warren.

Robinson, who would have been 51 on April 28, had been ill only a few days.

Swissvale to Have Recreation Board

The creation of a recreation board for Swissvale was approved by the Borough Council last night. The board will consist of five men, two from Council, two from the Swissvale School Board, and a private citizen, all to be named by Burgess D. J. Madigan.

Council also passed an ordinance setting a $5 fee for Sunday baseball and football games where an admission is charged or a collection is made. There will be no fee for a free gate, Council maintained.

AUTOIST HURT IN CRASH

The driver of an automobile was injured, his car demolished and windows broken in an inbound East Pittsburgh trolley in a collision on Second avenue, near Bates street, early today. Six street car passengers escaped injury.

Regis A. Cray, 36, automobile salesman, of 59 North Jackson street, Bellevue, the driver, was taken to Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital with head and face lacerations. He was driving his car outbound when it struck a hole in the street and hit the front of the trolley, police said.

SPEAK UP, SISTERS! :-: Glances Into the Realms of Domesticity and Romance :-: By MARION BRUNOT

Maybe Friend Is Afraid To Speak for Himself

Playing Joe up to you. Not so good, is it?

Yet it is what your boy friend does. And it hurts.

You think he is trying to get rid of you, by passing you along to someone else. And where is the able-bodied girl that enjoys that!

And all the time, you care for him, and as for this Joe. He can go and hang himself along with Danny Deever, so far as you care.

Walking home from the dances. Sauntering in the chilly evenings by the light of the arc reflections. Seeing romance in every snug little house you pass. Wondering what sort of domesticity is going on behind the shades of the apartment houses. And you outside with the man you love. And all he talks about is Joe this, and Joe that. Joe's virtues, and why you don't give Joe a better deal.

It's madding, I say.

TALKS ABOUT JOE

My Dear Miss Brunot:

I am 17 years old and am not bad looking and lots of boy friends are my lot. But there is one fellow I want. He works in the same factory I do.

He and I have worked for three years in the same place, and he has taken me out often and he has told me at different times how much he cares. But I feel he is spoofing me. For I don't believe all the things boys tell me.

Every time we go to a dance or a party and he brings me home, I keep hoping it will be for keeps. He is very good looking, and all the girls like him.

Now we go with a crowd and there is a fellow there by the name of Joe. And when my boy friend walks home with me he is always asking me why I don't give Joe a break. He keeps on saying how nice Joe is, and how much this other fellow likes me. Why does he do this? I would far rather he was getting serious himself, and yet how can I say so. I am up against it with this Joe always being played up to me.

TOOTS.

Maybe you are not up against it, as much as you think. This real boy friend of yours may be playing up Joe to find out where he, himself, stands. It is a way some men have. They don't like to step out in the open, for fear their pride gets a tumble.

You know the story of John and Priscilla Alden. There was poor John, dying, no doubt, of love for Priscilla, and yet like the big faithful boob he was, he went to Priscilla's home and laid bare Miles Standish's liking for her.

LOOKS AT PRISCILLA

But Priscilla, although she did live in the good old times when there was nothing but the moon to light the mud roads and when logs burned on the stone floors of the fire places, yet she had a modern mind, and what did she do!

She listened to all John had to say, and then domestically keeping up her spinning, said:

"Why don't you speak for yourself, John."

That's a tip for you, Toots.

You needn't use Priscilla's exact words. But let the regular fellow know Joe hasn't a chance where he, himself, is concerned. That no doubt is what he is waiting for. He is the sort of fellow who likes to walk on sure ice. He isn't going to get pulled under where skating isn't good.

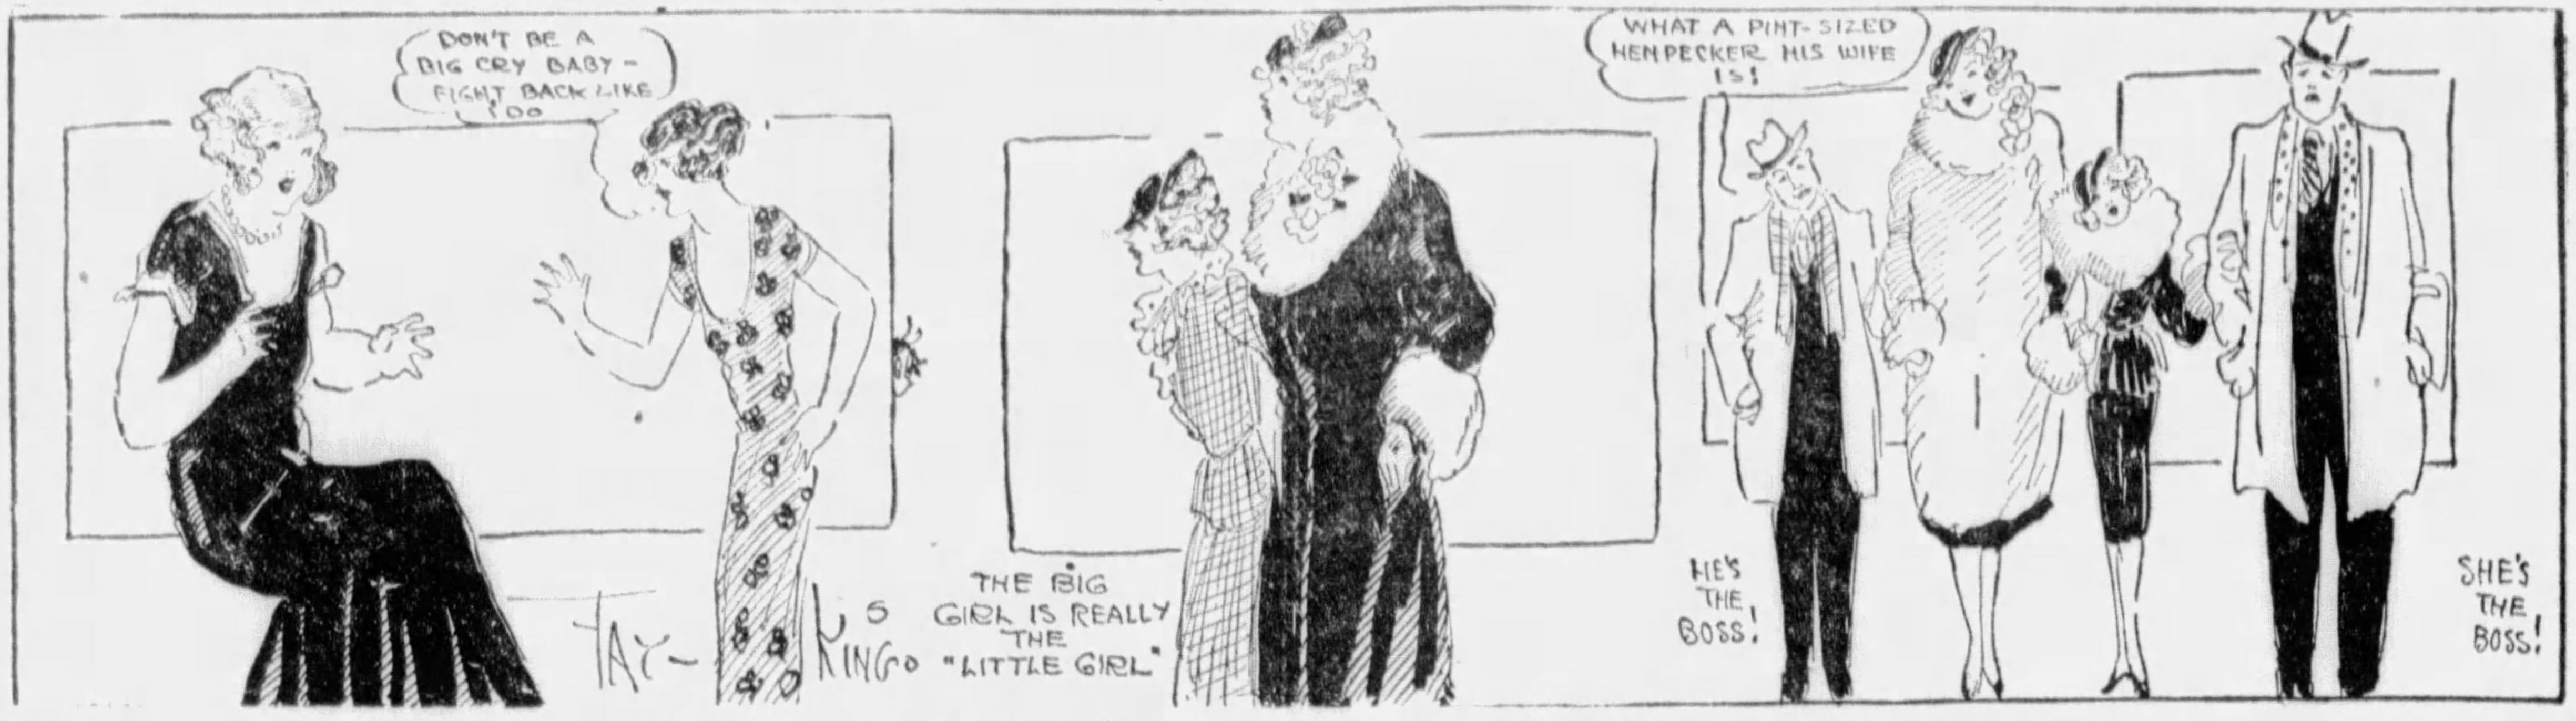
One can't be too taciturn where love is. Girls who have many admirers as you have, Toots, often lose out, because the one man is fearful of his rating. He isn't sure, for you smile so sweetly at all the fellows.

It is the healthful privilege of every girl who can, to be popular. And it does seem to me if I were a young man, I would want just such a girl. I wouldn't be looking for the one who nobody else likes. Yet although many fellows agree with me, they are too reticent to assert themselves this way. They suffer from a certain self-abnegation. They aren't attractive enough, they reason. And so they go with the girl they don't really want and in time marry her. Just because they are NOT QUITE SURE of themselves with the real girl.

Don't let this happen in the case of your John. Why should a girl be disappointed in love, any more than she is in a job.

Don't you agree, Toots?

Fay King Says Big Girls Are Really Little Girls at Heart



DON'T BE A BIG CRY BABY — FIGHT BACK LIKE I DO FAY KING'S
THE BIG GIRL IS REALLY "THE "LITTLE GIRL"
WHAT A PINT-SIZED HENPECKER HIS WIFE IS!
HE'S THE BOSS!
SHE'S THE BOSS!

By FAY KING

To begin, I would state that I am a small person, else you may think I am "picking on" small girls—a la sour grapes. But it is my observation that the big girls are really the "little girls."

There was once a popular song called "You Great Big Beautiful Doll" which certainly applied to large plump girls. They have the most doll-like features and complexions. Also the tiniest hands and feet.

Such girls are most like children, easily moved to tears or laughter. They cannot fight their battles as well as the smaller girls who look more helpless.

We've seen little wives manage husbands like a tug does a great liner, while big women mind like amiable children.

Little women are sometimes tyrants.

SWANK SPRING WOOLENS TO FOLLOW THE SPORTS EVENTS

By PRUNELLA WOOD

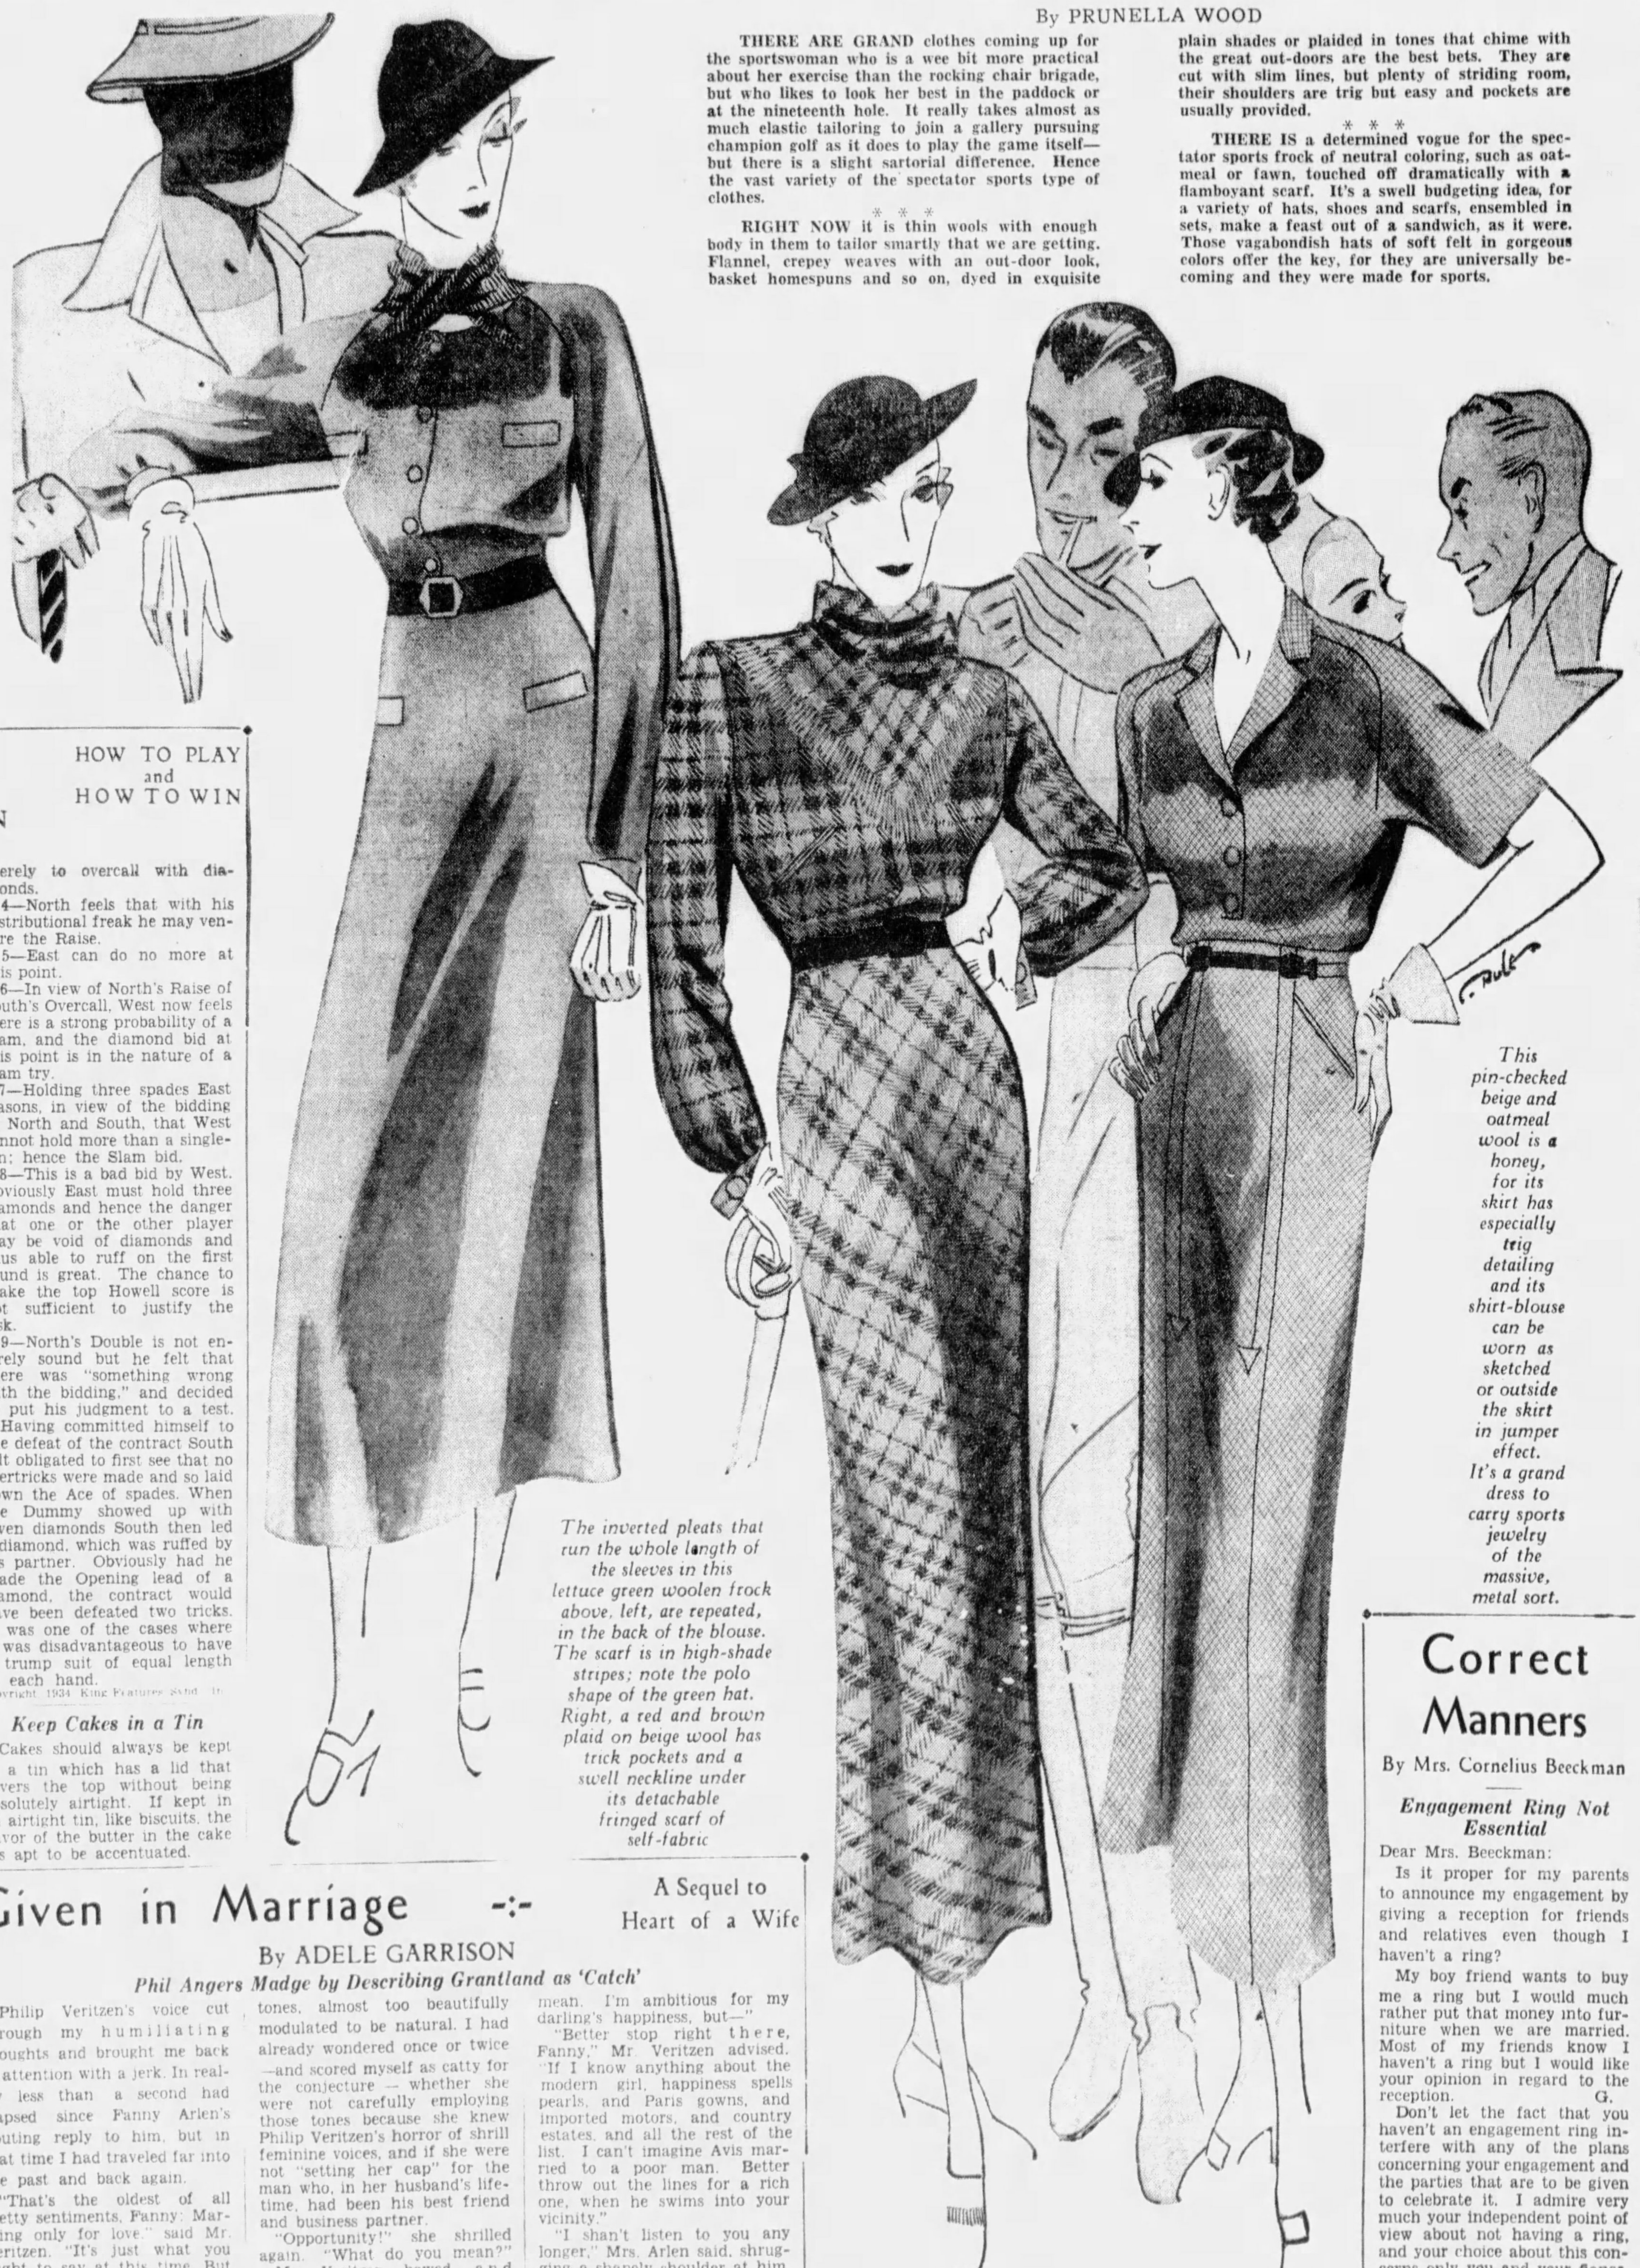
THERE ARE GRAND clothes coming up for the sportswoman who is a wee bit more practical about her exercise than the rocking chair brigade, but who likes to look her best in the paddock or at the nineteenth hole. It really takes almost as much elastic tailoring to join a gallery pursuing champion golf as it does to play the game itself—but there is a slight sartorial difference. Hence the vast variety of the spectator sports type of clothes.

* * *

RIGHT NOW it is thin wools with enough body in them to tailor smartly that we are getting. Flannel, crepey weaves with an out-door look, basket homespuns and so on, dyed in exquisite plain shades or plaided in tones that chime with the great out-doors are the best bets. They are cut with slim lines, but plenty of striding room, their shoulders are trig but easy and pockets are usually provided.

* * *

THERE IS a determined vogue for the spectator sports frock of neutral coloring, such as oatmeal or fawn, touched off dramatically with a flamboyant scarf. It's a swell budgeting idea, for a variety of hats, shoes and scarfs, ensembled in sets, make a feast out of a sandwich, as it were. Those vagabondish hats of soft felt in gorgeous colors offer the key, for they are universally becoming and they were made for sports.



The inverted pleats that run the whole length of the sleeves in this lettuce green woolen frock above, left, are repeated, in the back of the blouse. The scarf is in high-shade stripes; note the polo shape of the green hat. Right, a red and brown plaid on beige wool has trick pockets and a swell neckline under its detachable fringed scarf of self-fabric

This pin-checked beige and oatmeal wool is a honey, for its skirt has especially trig detailing and its shirt-blouse can be worn as sketched or outside the skirt in jumper effect. It's a grand dress to carry sports jewelry of the massive, metal sort.

Contract Bridge -:- -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

The Choice of a Trump Suit

I have frequently pointed out that in a great majority of cases when one player holds a five-card suit and his partner holds three or even four of the same suit and there is another suit in the hand of which each partner holds four, the 4-4 distribution, provided, of course, it has the top cards to justify it, generally is better as the trump suit because the long card in the plain suit can be used to discard a loser in the other hand. This rule is usually applied, however, only to hands of 5-3 distribution or possibly 5-4. There is such a thing as carrying a good rule too far, as a pair found in a Duplicate game recently in New York City when they decided, because of the fact that the hand was played on a match point basis, to prefer as a trump suit hearts, in which each player held four cards, rather than diamonds, in which one player had seven and his partner three. The greed for a top resulted instead in an emphatic bottom score.

East, Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♡ (1)	1 ♠ (2)	3 ♡ (3)	3 ♠ (4)
4 ♡ (5)	Pass	5 ◇ (6)	Pass
6 ◇ (7)	Pass	6 ♡ (8)	Double (9)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Of course, a much better bid than one notrump.

2—Not an extremely good Overcall, but the South player believed in bidding when the bidding was cheap.

3—West believes it is more important to show a Double Raise for the heart suit than merely to overcall with diamonds.

4—North feels that with his distributional freak he may venture the Raise.

5—East can do no more at this point.

6—In view of North's Raise of South's Overcall, West now feels there is a strong probability of a Slam, and the diamond bid at this point is in the nature of a Slam try.

7—Holding three spades East reasons, in view of the bidding by North and South, that West cannot hold more than a singleton; hence the Slam bid.

8—This is a bad bid by West. Obviously East must hold three diamonds and hence the danger that one or the other player may be void of diamonds and thus able to ruff on the first round is great. The chance to make the top Howell score is not sufficient to justify the risk.

9—North's Double is not entirely sound but he felt that there was "something wrong with the bidding," and decided to put his judgment to a test.

Having committed himself to the defeat of the contract South felt obligated to first see that no overtricks were made and so laid down the Ace of spades. When the Dummy showed up with seven diamonds South then led a diamond, which was ruffed by his partner. Obviously had he made the Opening lead of a diamond, the contract would have been defeated two tricks. It was one of the cases where it was disadvantageous to have a trump suit of equal length in each hand.

Keep Cakes in a Tin

Cakes should always be kept in a tin which has a lid that covers the top without being absolutely airtight. If kept in an airtight tin, like biscuits, the flavor of the butter in the cake is apt to be accentuated.

Phil Angers Madge by Describing Grantland as 'Catch'

Philip Veritzen's voice cut through my humiliating thoughts and brought me back to attention with a jerk. In reality less than a second had elapsed since Fanny Arlen's pouting reply to him, but in that time I had traveled far into the past and back again.

"That's the oldest of all pretty sentiments, Fanny: Marrying only for love," said Mr. Veritzen. "It's just what you ought to say at this time. But now that you've gotten it out of your system, don't you think you would do better to consider a bit what an opportunity your daughter may be passing up, if she follows the advice you have just outlined?"

"Opportunity!" Fanny Arlen's voice again held a shrill note, and I reflected that she must be excited, indeed, to betray what I suspected to be the natural timber of her voice. Invariably, during my acquaintanceship with her, she has spoken in soft tones, almost too beautifully modulated to be natural. I had already wondered once or twice—and scored myself as catty for the conjecture—whether she were not carefully employing those tones because she knew Philip Veritzen's horror of shrill feminine voices, and if she were not "setting her cap" for the man who, in her husband's lifetime, had been his best friend and business partner.

"Opportunity!" she shrilled again. "What do you mean?"

Mr. Veritzen bowed, and spread his hands ironically.

"My dear Fanny," he said suavely. "Think a minute, and you will realize what I mean. A moonlight night, an open car, ocean waves rolling up on the beach, a beautiful girl, an impressionable man—what better opportunity could a girl or an ambitious mother wish?"

"I think you're horrid, Phil," Fanny Arlen repeated her former playful indictment, and pouted again. "I'm not an ambitious mother in the sense you mean. I'm ambitious for my darling's happiness, but—"

"Better stop right there, Fanny," Mr. Veritzen advised. "If I know anything about the modern girl, happiness spells pearls, and Paris gowns, and imported motors, and country estates, and all the rest of the list. I can't imagine Avis married to a poor man. Better throw out the lines for a rich one, when he swims into your vicinity."

"I shan't listen to you any longer," Mrs. Arlen said, shrugging a shapely shoulder at him.

"Tell me, Mrs. Graham. You are our hostess. What sort of man is Major Grantland? Do you think it is perfectly all right for Avis to be out with him?"

I saw red for an instant, then, as often happens to my rages, I turned icy cold. And I did not try to restrain the catty impulse which made me say frigidly:

"If I had not known Major Grantland to be everything that is honorable and chivalrous, I should have interposed when your daughter asked him to take her to the beach in his car. As her hostess I would not have permitted her to go. But, knowing Major Grantland—he is a friend of many years' standing of both my husband and myself—I knew that she would have a delightful drive, and I was glad to have her enjoy the outing."

"That is very sweet of you," Mrs. Arlen said perfunctorily, and as if she did not believe a word I had been saying. But Phil Veritzen bowed to me again and gave an ironic little chuckle.

"Praise from Sir Hubert," he said, with a certain sly emphasis that kindled my rage against him anew.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Engagement Ring Not Essential

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper for my parents to announce my engagement by giving a reception for friends and relatives even though I haven't a ring?

My boy friend wants to buy me a ring but I would much rather put that money into furniture when we are married. Most of my friends know I haven't a ring but I would like your opinion in regard to the reception.

G.

Don't let the fact that you haven't an engagement ring interfere with any of the plans concerning your engagement and the parties that are to be given to celebrate it. I admire very much your independent point of view about not having a ring, and your choice about this concerns only you and your fiance. By all means have the reception that your parents are eager to plan for you.

She Speaks First

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When a girl walks with a boy and she meets another boy she knows, who says "Hello" first?

J.

The girl is given the pregotive of first acknowledging an acquaintanceship.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Happenings

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

Representatives of Pittsburgh and Sewickley's smart set had a marvelous time last night at the Twentieth Century Club hissing the villain, cheering the hero and the heroine, for Stage and Play Society presented there a good old-fashioned melodrama, "Black-Ey'd Susan," Douglas Jerrold's play, first presented in 1828 in the Royal Surrey Theater, London.

And not only did the Stage and Play actors of the evening—19 in all!—have an appreciative audience, but a smartly garbed one as well.

Many of the smart set women folks are going in this year for dotted materials—often the sort of dots one associates with the dotted swiss frocks of one's childhood.

Dotted Swiss Pattern Becomes Sophisticated

A sophisticated brown net dress, with dots of the same color in dotted swiss manner, was worn by Annette Chester. And cascades of ruffles down the back of the skirt, ending in a train, suggested the bustle era.

Black-haired Vardi Marshall was striking in a sleek gown of white satin, distinguished by diagonal lines of black dots. Nancy Chess in green bagheera, Margaret Rowe is bright red, and Mary Rust in black and white checked organza were there, and so were Harriet Fickes and Jane Sloan.

Alice Robinson chose a charmingly quaint frock—a ruffled white affair, made, I believe, of mousseline de soie. Petite Polly Schoyer, one of our June brides-to-be, arone of our June brides-to-be, I noticed, too.

Tall, slender Dorothy Clark was vivid in coral red soft taffeta, with a beflounced skirt. With her was her mother, Mrs. Donald G. Clark.

Philadelphia Visitor At Stage and Play

Mrs. David E. Cooper, of Philadelphia, I saw with her parents, the William M. Fureys; Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, always active in Stage and Play affairs; the junior H. Allen Machesneys, Mrs. Wallace Hurtte Rowe, Jr., Mrs. William Booth, Mrs. Herbert DuPuy, Mrs. F. I. Merrick in soft, figured pink satin.

Rosamound Fitch in powder blue crepe and a brief orange velvet wrap arrived with her mother, Mrs. Chester Marsh Van Kleeck. I saw Madeleine McClintock (she designed the girls' costumes for the play, Mrs. Elizabeth Moorhead Vermorcken, Mrs. Arthur A. Little, Elizabeth Macfarlane, Mrs. Sidney Hammond, and the Norman McLeods.

Mrs. William Zang was there, and so were her son-in-law and daughter, the George C. Stephensons; Mrs. Clark Miller in dusty pink crepe, there to see her husband, one of the actors in the play; Elizabeth Cornelius, Alice Orr, Mrs. Alexander Logan Wilson and Mrs. Henry Oliver Evans.

Late arrivals were Mrs. William E. Evans, the W. Eugene Garys, Miss Edith Spencer, Miss Neil Stewart, Mrs. Jesse Macfarlane, Mrs. James R. Macfarlane, Mrs. Samuel Grier, Mrs. George J. Willock, Mrs. Roderick Chester and ever so many more.

Travels of Smart Set Not Over With Easter

Betty Kennedy, the John J. Kennedys' daughter, who's been enjoying the suns of Bermuda for almost a fortnight, will come back to the States on Sunday, but she'll not come home at once. First she'll visit friends in Philadelphia

* * *

The John Guerin Flannerys, of the Schenley apartments, are away. They are paying a spring visit to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where they're stopping at the Greenbrier.

* * *

Helen Josephine Bygate, member of Pittsburgh's school set—she's a student at Connecticut College—has just been elected chairman of sports of the sophomore class.

Alumnae Groups Will Reunite

This is a season, too of school alumnae reunions.

Mrs. E. Herbert Gilg, of Ridgeville street, Squirrel Hill, will entertain the Birmingham School Alumnae at a tea in her home Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

And there'll be a meeting of the Hood College Club at the Woman's City Club on Saturday with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. Officers will be elected Mrs. J. D. Creigh Miller, of Sewickley, is the retiring president; Miss Janet Maxwell, vice president; Mrs. Alexander Thomas, treasurer, and Miss Helen Kelly, secretary.

Howard W. Booth To Wed York Girl

Dr. and Mrs. Roland Jessop, of West Market street, York, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katherine Louise Jessop, to Howard Worthington Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Booth, of Pittsburgh.

Miss Jessop was graduated from the York Collegiate Institute and from Margaret Morrison Carnegie College. Her fiance is a graduate of the Penn State school of engineering and is now living in Oil City, Pa. A June wedding is planned.

Junior Aid Society Will Present Play

The Junior Aid Society of the First Trinity Lutheran Church, Neville street, will present a three-act play, "The Mystery of the Masked Girl," Friday evening in the parish hall.

'SPYGLASS'

The Sun-Telegraph's daily feature 'Through the Spyglass' will be found today on page 22.

ANNE HAMILTON IN FOLK COSTUME

ANNE HAMILTON . . . . . DRESSED FOR A FOLK DANCE

Louise Glover Becomes Bride Of Charleston Man

At 11:45 o'clock this morning in the Church of the Nativity, Crafton, Louise Glover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer W. Glover, of Harvard road, Thornburg, became the bride of James E. Swan, Jr., of Charleston, S. C.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful gown of white lace made with a train, and long sleeves ending in points over the wrists. The neckline of the dress, square in front, was banded with gardenias around the back extending over one shoulder. Her hat was of white horsehair braid, and her bouquet was of white roses, orchids and lilies of the valley, in shower effect

Miss Nettie Gensheimer, of Elizabeth, N. J., the maid of honor, wore hydrangea blue chiffon with a blue hat and carried tea roses. The bride's brother, Harry Glover, was the best man, and two more brothers, George and William Glover, were ushers.

The Rev. Mortimer Glover, brother of the bride, assisted the pastor of the church, the Rev. John Taylor, in solemnizing the marriage.

The reception and luncheon were held in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. K. P. White-Spunner, of Steuben street. Mr. and Mrs. Swan, Jr., will leave for the South by motor and will live in Charleston.

The bride is a graduate of Ashley Hall, Charleston, and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Citadel Military School, attended Columbia University, Union College and was a membe. of the Charleston Bachelors' Cotillion.

Braddock Club To Discuss Musicians

It seems most appropriate that just at a time when Charles Wakefield Cadman is in Pittsburgh, the Braddock Woman's Club should include him in its program of musicians, featuring today's meeting. Other musicians whose lives and works are being discussed are Damrosch, Paderewski, Kreisler and Louise Homer. The papers are being given by Mrs. Thomas Snowwhite, Mrs. T. D. Imbrie, Mrs. George Weil, Mrs. Harry James and Mrs. H. H. Sargent.

Hostesses for the meeting, which is in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, are Mrs. Reuben Abbiss and Mrs. I. M. Eisaman.

Mrs. S. D. Pearson On Air Tomorrow

"Thrift Gardens and Canning the Samples" is the subject which Mrs. S. D. Pearson district chairman of conservation for the State Federation, will have when she speaks during the federation's radio hour, tomorrow at 2:15 over KDKA.

P. C. W. Begins Vocational Week

Vocational week at Pennsylvania College for Women began yesterday, with a talk in chapel by Miss Edith Winchester, head of the secretarial school at Margaret Morrison.

Today, the speaker will be Miss Frances Kelly of the Carnegie Tech Library School, and Thursday, Judge Sara Soffel will talk about the law as a profession for women. Friday Miss Caroline Spalding director of training in a downtown department store will talk on "College Women in Department Stores."

King Is Guest Of Drama League

Dennis King, playing "Richard of Bordeaux" at the Nixon this week, and several members of his company were guests of honor at a tea given yesterday by the drama department, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and the Pittsburgh Drama League, at Tech's Little Theater. Mr. King made an informal talk, graciously answering questions from his audience and after him, A. G. Andrews, veteran actor, reminisced a bit about former days in the theater, especially recalling Sir Henry Irving with whom he played.

Irving, he said, was the first Shakespearean actor who did not depend on an enormous pair of lungs for his effect.

H. C. Stier to Wed Richmond Girl

Saturday in the home of Mr and Mrs. Keats Speed, Park avenue, New York, Miss Margaret Chenault Fant, daughter of Mr and Mrs. George White Goodloe, of Richmond, Ky., will marry Henry Clay Stier, son of Mrs. H C. Stier, of North Lang avenue, East End.

The ceremony will take place at noon and there will be no attendants. Mrs. Stier leaves today for New York to attend the wedding.

Southern Club Changes Plans

The Southern Club has temporarily postponed its annual altruistic day, which was set for Friday afternoon.

Miss Heneker Addresses B. P. W.

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

A first hand picture of what the European units of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs are doing was brought to the :0 members and guests of the Wilkinsburg B. P. W. Club in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel last night by their guest of honor, Miss Dorothy Heneker, of Geneva, Switzerland, international executive secretary.

The Finland Federation, for instance, has a course for unemployed woman as guides, qualifications for which are high and demand knowledge of several languages. Esthonia is just now taking first steps towards organizing a federation; Stockholm, which began with 35 members in 1931, now has 400, and Norway hopes to have 3,500 before the year is out Many more interesting facts were detailed by the speaker, who also outlined the work of several of the unusual committees in the federation.

It was a gala night with the Wilkinsburg Club, whose guests came from the 12 other clubs in the third district. Among these were Mrs. Mary Thompson Denman, of Latrobe, former state legislator; Mrs. Margaret Stewart Gray, founder and first president of the Pennsylvania Federation, and Miss Thyrsa W. Amos, also a past president.

Messages were read from many of the foreign federations and Miss Heneker's own Candian federation. Adding to the international atmosphere, hostesses in the costumes of the 21 nations in the federation sat at the tables and little standards of silken flags of all nations were the centerpieces.

The music, too, gave an international flavor, for Mrs. Flora Bell sang Canada's national anthem, a violin and piano medley of national airs was played by Miss Harriette and Miss Faith Hanna, and diminutive Mary Ready sang an Irish ditty with histrionic as well as musical ability. Dr. Mary E. Coffin, of course, presided, with her usual dignity.

Woman's Club Entertains Cadman

The Woman's City Club is entertaining Charles Wakefield Cadman, distinguished composer and former Pittsburgher, at luncheon today.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole to Attend Regional Conference of W. C. T. U. Here

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, world president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, will be here for the regional conference, one of 30 similar nation-wide meetings, which is to be held in the Hotel Schenley on Friday, April 20.

The group comprising the conference here includes West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania unions.

In the morning a youth group conference will be held, with Mrs. W. Harold Sloan, national director of religious education, presiding. Mrs. Boole will preside in the afternoon when Mrs. Ella M. George, honorary president of the Pennsylvania organization; Mrs. Viola D. Romans, Ohio president, and W. J. Aiken, assistant federal district attorney, will be the principal speakers. Mr. Aiken's subject is "Your Tax Dollar—Whence and Whither?"

John A. McSparran, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, and Mrs. Boole will address the evening session and the program will also include a reading by Mrs. Fern Bair Jamison and music.

The committee in charge is Mrs A. J. Bessalo, Mrs. Charles F. Mazon, Mrs. Winifred Foley, Mrs H. G. Straessley, Mrs. Charles Virden, Mrs. Arch Ritts, Mrs. Eva V. Holliday and Mrs. Harry McCloskey

Gerber Addresses Poetry Society

The April meeting of the Bookfellows' Library Guild and the Poetry Society was held last night in the Second Presbyterian Church. The program included piano numbers by Guido Wilfrid Aland and an address on "What Is Poetry?" by J. C. Gerber, of the University of Pittsburgh. Dudley W. G. Gordon was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. McDermott To Honor Cadman

Mrs. John Lawrence McDermott, of Parkman boulevard, is entertaining this evening at 8 o'clock with a supper party honoring Charles Wakefield Cadman and guests will include Mr. Cadman's friends.

Mrs. Ackenheil Speaker for P. T. A.

Mrs. A. C. Ackenheil, president of the Langley High School Parent-Teacher Association, will be speaker for the Pittsburgh City Council Association's broadcast over KDKA tomorrow at 4:15. Mrs. Ackenheil's subject will be "The Machinery of a High School Parent-Teacher Association."

A parent-discussion class was conducted by Mrs. Leila H. Lytle in the Harwood School yesterday under auspices of the Harwood Parent-Teacher Association. A program of ballet dances under the direction of Frank Eccles was the chief program feature of last night's meeting of the association.

Bane Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday afternoon with the weekly parent-education class. Mrs. Joseph K. Reed leader of the class, will conduct a discussion on "The Fears of Childhood."

At the American Avenue unit's meeting last night, John H. Ihlder, of the Pittsburgh Housing Commission, spoke on housing conditions and there was music under the direction of Miss Helen Wilson.

Fox Chapel Club Hears Garden Talk

A special meeting of the Fox Chapel Garden Club is to be held this evening at Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lawrence's home, "Hartwood," on Little Pine Creek road. Mrs. George L. Cooney, who is a house guest at "Hartwood," will give an illustrated talk on "Gardens of the South."

Mrs. Cooney is a member of the Peachtree Garden Club, of Atlanta, and is author of a recently published book, "Gardens of Georgia." Husband and friends of the members will be guests this evening, too. Miss Selma Brandt will add piano solos to the program.

Fellowship Tea Is Planned At 'Y'

As a part of the international friendship program, East Liberty Young Women's Christian Association is planning a world fellowship tea for April 19, with Mrs. William P. Barker as general chairman. Mrs. Edward O. Tabor, wearing the colorful costume of central Europe, will present a program of international songs and the committee will show a collection of Japanese prints never before exhibited in Pittsburgh.

The aides, clad in brilliant hued Japanese kimonas, will give added color to the International atmosphere.

Missionary Group Will Hear Guests

Three prominent "coast-to-coast motorcade" guests are on the program of the Pittsburgh conference's semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society to be held in the Smithfield Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow, beginning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. William H. Dievler, of Philadelphia, speaks on "Recovery Methods" in the morning. Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, national president, will give an address in the afternoon, and Miss Gertrude Hanks, of Lima, Peru, will tell of the "Finer and Nobler Womanhood" developing in that city.

In the evening Mrs. Dievler speaks on "Renew a Right Spirit Within Us"; Mrs. Nicholson on "A World View of Missions," and Miss Hanks on "Lima High School Girls." Mrs. Melissa Snyder Knowles will sing in the afternoon and Miss Mabel King in the evening.

Mrs. M. W. Good Elected Delegate

The social season has closed in London, so Fred Allen pens a line to ask, "Do you wanna buy a duke? . . . and, the Landt Trio and White squibs, "What radio needs is a good five-cent czar."

Globe Trotter

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Here is one of the nicest dog stories the Globe Trotter has found in many days. It's a story of a dog who is going to play detective—a true story.

Yesterday while waiting for a case to be called in Morals Court, I met Sam Wheeler, the homicide detective. He had entered from a side door. Following him through Magistrate McGowan's court room was a dog. It was a mongrel, but it had fine, soft eyes, which shone with friendliness and loyalty. I asked Sam whether the dog was a witness, and Sam answered that he was not only a witness but was going to do some detective work as well.

A crime had been committed, and a man who lived in a little shack was suspected. When the detectives arrived to arrest him or hold him for questioning, he cleared out, but there in the shack, barking with joy at the officer's approach and leaping at them in gleeful welcome, was the pooch.

Sam took the dog with him to detective headquarters. To identify the occupant of the shack, the detectives are going to have suspects appear before the dog and wait for the pup to leap in recognition of its former master

Will the dog turn informer on its former master? I think so. Sam Wheeler has persuaded it to change its mode of living and become a detective. You ought to see it prance with wagging tail when Sam calle:

"Come on, Orchid. Time for your beef stew."

Local Highlights on WJAS Tonight

Jimmy Bridges' Caballeros play another quarter-hour of romantic tunes at 6:15.

Two favorites — Paul Gannon's songs at 6:45 and the Pickard Family at 8.

Eddie Peyton offers his own version of "Little Grass Shack" as a highspot of the 11:30 Frivolities.

Wilkinsburg Church Forum Slates Rabbi

Rabbi Benedict B. Glazer, of the Rodef Shalom congregation, will address the weekly Wilkinsburg Baptist Church forum at the church tonight. His topic will be "Fascism—The Menace of Religion."

Beauties Compete For Legion Crown

A winner and two alternates will be selected tonight from a group of 14 entrants in a beauty contest being sponsored by Post No. 450, American Legion, in Lithuanian Hall, South Side. Eliminations were held last night when there were 25 contestants.

The cup will be presented the winner tonight by Mayor McNair. Judges will be Howard Nemitz and Allan Haid, of Radio Station WWSW.

Druggists Celebrate Silver Anniversary

The Pittsburgh branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association celebrated its silver anniversary at a banquet in the Hotel Henry last night, paying tribute to Dr. J. A. Koch and B. F. Pritchard, both active in forming the organization in 1909. Dr. George D. Beal, assistant director at Mellon Institute, and vice president of the national organization, was a speaker.

HEINZ

As economic conditions improve, certain businesses stand above the throng—with sales volumes greater than ever before. They are the houses which during the past decade faced the most difficult circumstances with purpose fixed, with policies unswerving. They refused to sacrifice quality for quick profit. They earned the respect and trust of the public. Today they stand as proof positive that it pays to defend sound ideals.

5 months ago we said—

"TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH"

we said—

"Isn't it true? Somebody starts a thing. Somebody else finishes it. And it turns out not so good, off balance, all askew. Both starter and finisher may be experts. Still the broth is often spoiled. That is why we bring you each Heinz soup, not half-made, but finished, complete, ready to heat and eat. You need not add a thing!"

we told you—

"We are proud of our homey, thorough, sound methods of making soup. We follow these methods through to the very end. And when each soup is finished, ready to serve, we taste it, just as you would. We kitchen-test it to be sure of full good flavor and right quality, but above all, its uniformity.

"Too many cooks spoil no broth of Heinz! That is why we can sell them to you on approval: If you don't find Heinz soup the best you ever tasted, return the label to your Grocer and he will refund the purchase price."

Well, it seems that people agree with our ideas about soup-making, our notion of finishing what we start. And it seems that people like our soups, because today they eat as much Heinz soup in a week as they did in a month five months ago when we said, "Too many cooks spoil no broth of Heinz."

AUGUST FLAVOR —caught and held for you!

One day last August we captured the prize Heinz tomatoes at their prime. (Ah! Those extra-delicious, extra-nutritious beauties, reared from our own cross-mingling of the finest of all tomato seeds!) Fast we rushed them to our kitchens, there to sort, wash, press and sieve them, to immortalize their glorious, sunny, dripping-luscious flavor in bottles and in tins.

So now—right now!—thrill your palate, your tongue, with real, delightful August flavor. Freshen your winter-worn being with a harvest of vitamins, caught in August and kept fresh for you.

HEINZ BEANS are the beans that are really OVEN-BAKED!

BAKED the time-honored way in hot, dry ovens, baked through and through till the original moisture is baked out and the rich sauce is baked in.

These are such beans as conjure up memories of childhood feasts. Beans folks like on sight—love, on tasting them.

How the Bright Red Heinz Ketchup Got its Happy-Tasting Flavor!

Once upon a time there were two Heinz chefs and they put their heads together. And one chef, who was a gadabout, said "I will pack my little toothbrush and go around the world in quest of rare delightful spices." And he did. And the other chef, who was a stay-at-home, said "I will grow tomatoes. I will secure the seeds of the finest tomatoes and mingle them until I get tomatoes finer still." And he did.

And when the tomatoes were ripe and red and luscious and bursting with vitamins, they were picked and sorted and washed and scalded and sieved and set to slow simmering. Then the rare delightful spices from far and wide were added. And still piping hot the sauce was sealed in bottles to keep it at its fresh best.

And people tried this sauce with their meats and eggs. They liked its lively flavor much and they told their friends.

And so many, many people began to buy it and enjoy it that it made the Heinz chefs most happy, because it has come to pass that—

BOYS! GIRLS! JOIN AS A CHARTER MEMBER OF THE JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

The Junior Birdmen of America, a new nation-wide organization sponsored by William Randolph Hearst, through the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers, for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 is now ready to enroll membership.

Mr. Hearst originally sponsored the American organization of the Boy Scouts in collaboration with his friend, Sir Robert Baden-Powell. He believes the Junior Birdmen of America is now just as important and even more interesting to boys and girls of America.

This new nation wide youth movement will be conducted through the medium of a daily newspaper column to be published in the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers beginning Sunday and appearing every week day and Sunday.

You can become a CHARTER MEMBER of the Junior Birdmen of America now by clipping the attached coupon and forwarding it to the Junior Birdmen of America, care of the Sun-Telegraph, giving your full name, age and address, and enclosing a dime (10 cents) in cash for your Junior Birdmen wing-pin and membership card. Be sure you state your age so that you can be placed in the proper age group, and, of course, don't forget your 10 cents in one coin, which covers the cost of your membership materials, including postage and mailing.

Full information will be given in this column about model plane building activities and competitions, aviation features, flying articles by prominent fliers, annual banquets, popular pilot polls, contests, trips to airports and airplane factories, and all sorts of live wire activities for the boys and girls, to be conducted under the sponsorship of the Junior Birdmen of America.

Boys and girls sending the attached coupon with their name, address, age and 10 cents in cash will have "charter membership" stamped across their membership cards. Wing-pins, gilt for the Group A members (16 to 21), and silvered pins for the Group B members (10 to 15), will be enameled in red, white and blue. Membership cards will be gold or silver, corresponding to the age group to which you belong.

Membership cards and Junior Birdmen wing-pins will not, however, be mailed to charter members until after the daily Junior Birdmen column begins in the Sun-Telegraph. But you must send for your membership—using the attached coupon—before the column starts—if you want to become a CHARTER MEMBER.

The daily column, in addition to publishing Junior Birdmen news, feature articles and club activities, will tell you how every boy and girl will be able to organize a Junior Birdmen FLIGHT SQUADRON in his or her city, town or neighborhood.

BECOME A CHARTER MEMBER OF THIS GREAT NATIONAL ORGANIZATION!

Watch for the first daily column in this newspaper.

COUNTY CONTRACTS TO PERMIT SALE OF BEER IN PARKS

PARK PREPARES PROSECUTION OF SPINELLI

Alleged Volpe Slayer To Stand Trial In Italy

For the Wylie avenue massacre of three of the Volpe brothers, Big Mike Spinelli will be tried not in Allegheny County, but thousands of miles away—in Salerno, Italy.

And today District Attorney Andrew T. Park was preparing the case against Big Mike.

The case consists of three depositions—stories of a young woman and two men described as eye-witnesses of the underworld murders in the Rome Coffee Shop almost two years ago.

GIRL GETS $500 FEE

The young woman has been under the District Attorney's eye for a year. A few days ago she settled her claim for what amounts to witness fees for $500. This was a concession obtained by Park. At the same time she gave the deposition which will be forwarded to Italy.

Park does not plan to send an assistant to Italy.

Big Mike, a familiar figure in Pittsburgh's racket world as it existed before repeal, skipped the country shortly after the Volpes—Johnny, Arthur, Jim—were blasted out of this world.

WINS LONG FIGHT

He won a long extradition fight, but the Italian government maintained the right of trying him in its own territory. For want of something better, Park accepted this last resort.

Park's dealings are carried on through the state government at Harrisburg, which negotiates with the State Department at Washington.

The District Attorney is awaiting from Harrisburg now the stereotyped questionnaires expected from the Italian government. These will replace the depositions, probably.

Yesterday, at Naples, Italy, the Italian government issued a warrant formally charging Spinelli with the murder.

The trial probably will be scheduled for an early date.

LOW MOTOR OIL BID REJECTED BY COUNTY

Miller Firm Wins at 27½c Gallon, On Specification

Specifications were such as to exclude the Gulf Oil Corporation from bidding to supply the county with oil for motor cars and trucks, William Jones, representing the company, charged at a meeting of the County Commissioners yesterday.

Commissioner William D. Mansfield, supporting Jones, received no second when he suggested Gulf, the low bidder, be supported, and the contract was let for approximately 1,100 gallons, at 27½ cents a gallon, to A. D. Miller & Sons.

Connie Hahn, supervisor of county vehicles, declared the Gulf concern did not meet specifications, which, in effect, demanded Pennsylvania oils. Jones declared that their oil was excluded by such a provision, and declared that it was better in some ways, although it lacked certain properties which the Pennsylvania oil had.

The Gulf oil was quoted at 21 cents a gallon. When Mansfield moved the business be awarded to Gulf, he was asked by Commissioner C. M. Barr:

"You realize they've told you they have not complied with specifications?"

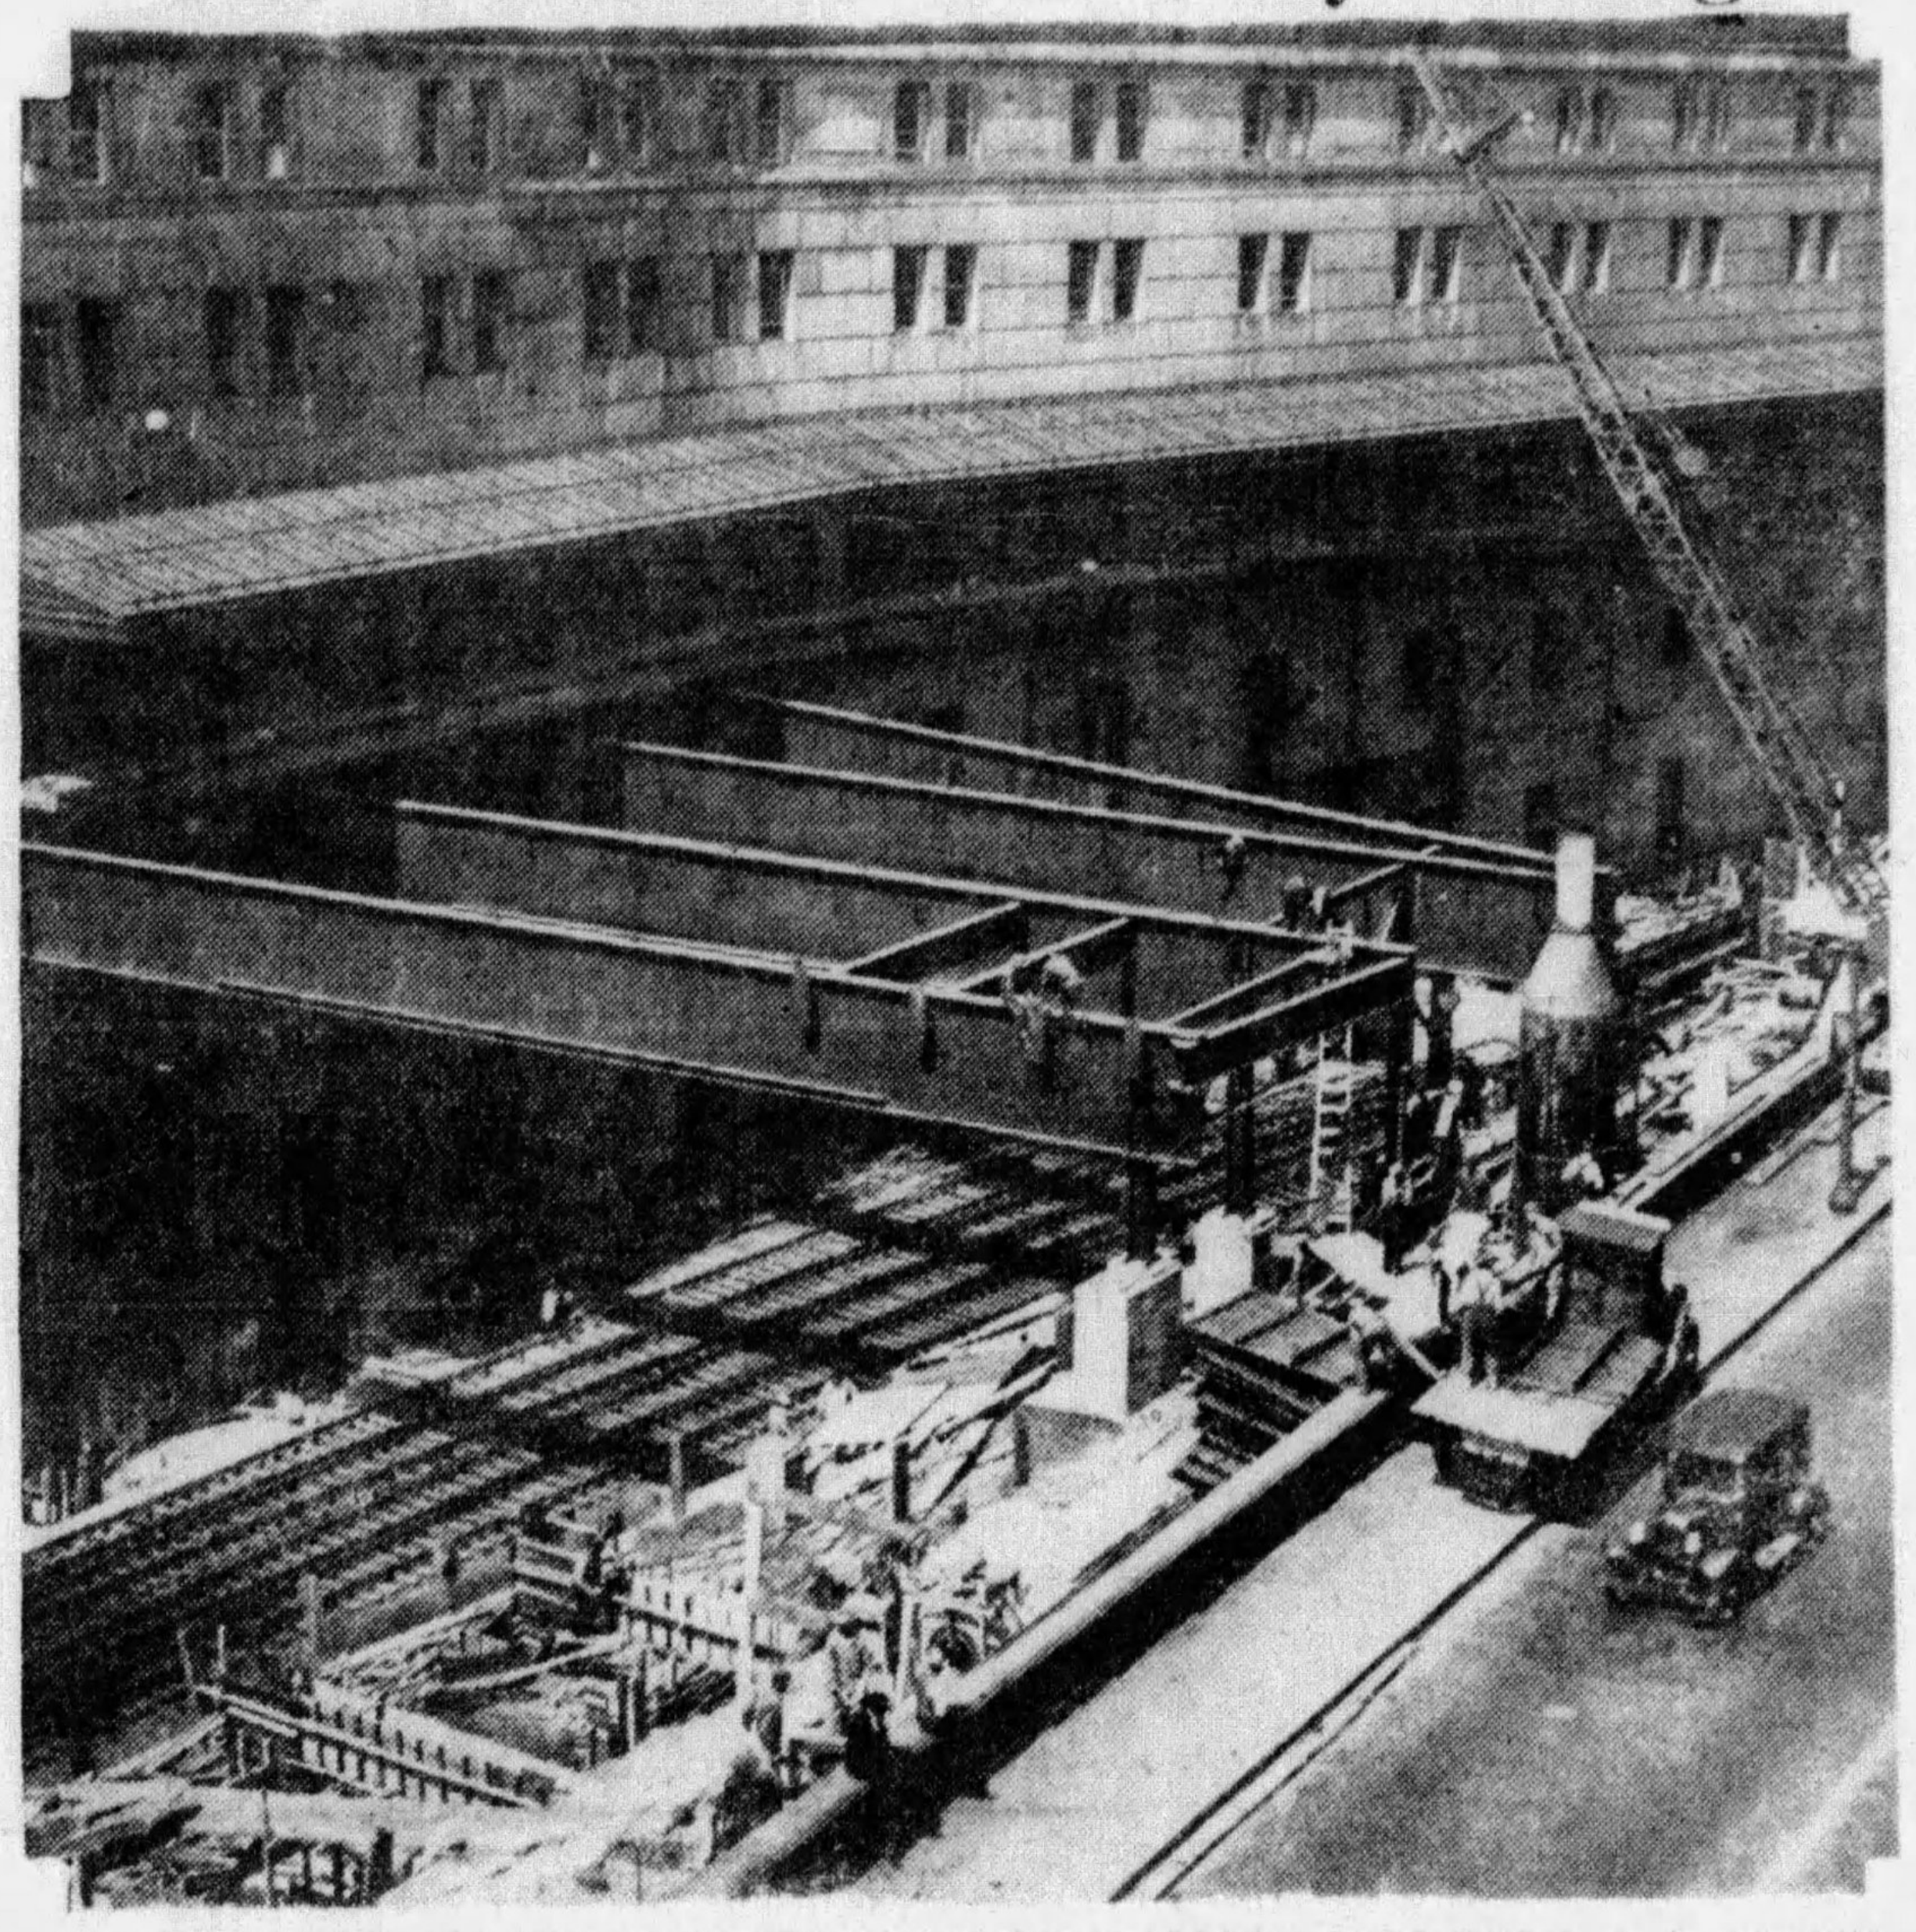
Mansfield answered:

"Well, I don't think the county should draw specifications so that a large local corporation, which pays a lot of taxes, cannot bid."

C. C. McGovern and Barr voted it to the Miller concern after McGovern commented:

"I know nothing about the gravity of oil, but if our motor department wants a special kind of oil, we either have to take their word or fire them."

The Postoffice Driveway Rising



THE FIRST STEEL FOR THE POSTOFFICE LOADING PLATFORM OVER THE P. R. R. TRACKS

The early work in the construction of the large loading platform over the tracks of the P. R. R. on the Bigelow boulevard side of the new U. S. Building. Postal trucks will reach the platform via driveways, use that canopied high platform. This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

BOARD AWARDS CONCESSION TO WOMAN

Cafe Manager to Pay 5 Per Cent of Gross For Rights

Mrs. Edward Clark, of Moore avenue, today is the chief concessionaire of South and North parks, and there's no prohibition in her contract. Which means there'll be beer in the parks this summer.

Col. C. C. McGovern, who sponsored her appointment before the County Commissioners, commented:

"And I think the ham sandwiches will be thicker this year than they were last."

Commissioner McGovern said Mrs. Clark is the widow of Lieut. Clark, who died six or more years ago, after having been gassed in the war.

She will pay the county 5 per cent of the gross. Buffalo Inn, where, McGovern maintains, the best 35-cent dinner in the county is to be had, will be retained by its present concessionaire.

At present there are no concessions in North Park, but plans are on their way to build a stand for the convenience of park visitors.

And as to beer, it was explained that "nobody considers it intoxicating."

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 10. To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

In these days of everybody waiting to see how much they can get out of some government appropriation, its gratifying to find a big man who is willing to spend a terrific wad of his own money. I just saw the laying of the cornerstone of a new Los Angeles Times Building. I don't suppose Mr. Chandler absolutely had to build a new building, and if he had been like lots of our wealthy he would have said:

Will Rogers

"Well, I will just wait and see how things turn out."

He evidently don't believe that in a year's time we will be calling each other "comrade."

Yours, WILL.

DAYLIGHT TIME LEADING 2 TO 1

Advocates of daylight saving were leading by better than 2 to 1 late today in Mayor McNair's postcard poll.

The count stood:

For—10,098.
Against—4,879.

Two trays filled with cards were on the Mayor's desk. William McCracken, budget accountant of the Mayor's office, was delegated to keep count.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey, of Johnstown, was referee in the count for an hour this morning.

There appeared no way to check repeaters, but all cards sent in from outside Pittsburgh were excluded.

Asked as to whether he would issue a proclamation, making daylight saving effective at 2 a.m. April 29, the Mayor said:

"I'll wait until the cards slow up and then see how things stand."

Road Construction Supervisor Named

John R. Wilson, of 333 Melwood street, was named temporary construction supervisor at $200 a month by the County Commissioners yesterday, supplanting J. G. Bennett, who resigned. Wilson will supervise road construction.

Success Indicated For Police Benefit

Reports today indicated a capacity attendance for the twelfth annual dance, minstrel and vaudeville show by the Fraternal Order of Police, Fort Pitt Lodge, No. 1, at Syria Mosque, April 18. It is a benefit affair for the order's sick and accident fund. General Chairman Peter J. McCullough said there would be continuous entertainment from 8 to 1.

District to Hold Health Institute

Sponsored by church and civic groups of the district, the Sixteenth Ward Health Institute will be held at Spring Lane School, Clover street, tomorrow and Friday night. Addresses, motion pictures, plays and other features are scheduled.

MAN ON TRACKS KILLED BY CAR

An unidentified man, about 35, died in Montefiore Hospital of a fractured skull early today, several hours after he had been struck by an inbound Highland Park street car on Fifth avenue, near the Soho Bath House.

George Hathazy, 1613 Bedford avenue, motorman of the car, told police the man was crossing the street and was clear of the car tracks when he suddenly turned around and stood on the tracks with both arms raised.

Hathazy said he applied the brakes, but could not avoid hitting the man.

$50 in Prizes Weekly for News Tips

Are you alert? Do you wish to make your alertness pay? The Sun-Telegraph is presenting the opportunity. Every week it is offering a total of $50 in prizes for NEWS TIPS telephoned to the News Tip Editor, Grant 6500.

If you know of any accident, of a business merger, of a big building project—that is NEWS. Watch especially for unusual stories about children and animals and for stories that lend themselves to interesting pictures.

For the best exclusive news tip of the week $15.00 will be given, for the second best, $10.00, and for the next 25 best, $10.00 each.

TRACTION JOB STILL 'IN AIR'

Wavering by Mayor McNair on his $5,000 Traction Conference Board appointment for Safety Director Ralph E. Smith has resulted in another delay in Council. Action on the job has been held over until next Monday.

One Councilman has reported that three other individuals have told him that their names are to be sent in by the Mayor. The attempt to get the Mayor's wishes in the matter straightened out has Council in a whirl.

Councilman Walter R. Demmler, who has been acting as the Mayor's floor leader, suggested the delay yesterday. Demmler stated that since the majority in Council had gone on record against dismissing W. Edgar Reed without naming a successor to the traction board job, the Mayor should be given more time to tell Council who he wants.

Suspect in Relief Order Theft Held

Emory Castleberry, 40, Negro, of 1412 Whitcomb street, accused of stealing from a private mail box on Arthur street a letter containing a welfare relief order for $1.50 worth of groceries and selling it for 75 cents, was held for court by the United States Commissioner. In default of $1,500 he was committed to jail.

D. H. Stephens, postal inspector, said Castleberry admitted stealing the letter. According to the postal inspector complaints have been received of the theft of a large number of letters with relief orders mailed by the Allegheny County Emergency Relief Board.

FAILS TO HALT RIVER LEAP

With "So long, buddy!" as his parting words, an unidentified man, about 45, leaped into the Allegheny River from the Sixth Street Bridge early today, police reported.

Wilbert Fornof, 910 Arch street, said he was walking across the bridge and saw the man standing on the railing. He tried to stop him but the man replied:

"It's too late now."

Don't Eliminate Gambling, Make It Illegal to Lose

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

Looks like Wall street and Washington can agree on all stock market transactions except the margins.

The margins are like a doctor's smile. It's the last thing you see before you go under the ether.

Margin is the most important thing about a stock transaction. We have never actually understood the procedure. It's something like losing your hoss and wagon because you couldn't pay for the whip.

Your stock and your margin operate exactly like two moles meeting in an underground tunnel. Neither will back up and they chew each other's heads off.

Nobody wants the government to eliminate gambling altogether. We'll be satisfied if it just makes losing illegal.

MUSIC LOVERS HONOR CADMAN ON RETURN

Hundreds Hear New Work of Composer On Return

Yesterday was homecoming day for Charles Wakefield Cadman. The Tuesday Musical Club did its utmost to make him welcome and to give his works a worthy hearing.

Mr. Lissfelt

About noon the Schenley ballroom was filled with this amiable American composers' friends and admirers. During the luncheon one nodded to important promoters of good music in the tristate district, women who keep alive the study of music and some enthusiasm for the American composer and young artist who might otherwise be lost in pellmell of public music-making.

Mrs. Martha Meyers Murdoch, president of the Tuesday Musical Club, maneuvered some of the shortest addresses in the history of public banqueting. She cordially and aptly spoke both of Cadman and of Mrs. T. C. Donovan, who shared honors with the composer at this time. In honor of her devoted service to the Federation of Musical Clubs, both state and national, Mrs. Donovan received a life membership in the National Federation.

The assembly then adjourned to the upper hall in Soldiers' Memorial Hall, where more hundreds met to hear the program to honor Cadman and where we heard new music from his latest works.

A most agreeable ensemble of women's voices under the direction of Mrs. James H. Greene first sang Deems Taylor's "Rantin' Rovin' Robin;" Frank Bornschein's "Wood Nymph," and D'Indy's "St. Mary Magdalene."

I need name but the singers—Helen Bell Rush, Mary Dickinson, Marie Crawford Pease, Ruth Parker, Sarah Logan, Carolyn Mahaffey, Mable King and Rose Leader Chislett and you will know that the best voices in Pittsburgh were there.

Mrs. Greene, being a composer of some good songs, knows how to reproduce a song, and so we had a leader who did much more than wave her wand, and music which had pertinent meaning and effect. Hazel Peck Speer and Marian Duell McDade played accompaniments.

Cadman offered a new work for two pianos, "Dark Dancers of the Mardi Gras," his sonata for piano and violin, and a rather recent song cycle, "White Enchantment."

It was a good group from which to judge his latest tendencies, and I must say that my admiration for Cadman's music is still based upon his Indian song cycle.

Marion Clark Bollinger joined the composer in playing the two-piano work in which he had been listening too intently to George Gershwin. In the sonata Mary Redmond played violin. The sonata is commendable for its free form and slow movement.

"White Enchantment" again is Cadman at his best, for there the grace of his melodies is given full play, and with this quality he excels. Carolyn Mahaffey, Ann Vernon Root, Percy Dorrington and Arthur Davis capably presented the song cycle.—J. FRED LISSFELT.

Convicted Voter Fights 'Banishment' by Board

The move to strike off the registration lists names of a score or more persons convicted in election cases in Federal Court will shift to Common Pleas Court, it was indicated today.

Attorney Sebastian Pugliese representing seven of those whose names were stricken off last night at a hearing before the Registration Commission, declared he would appeal on the basis of one case, that of Charles P. Betters former election official of the [illegible]th District of the Third Ward.

Pugliese will maintain he told the commissioners that the state constitutional provision depriving those convicted of suffrage did not apply to Federal Court cases, but only state courts; and that since appeal to the Circuit Court had been granted, all penalities due to jury conviction were held in suspension, and as such, the names should be retained on the registration books.

At the hearing, Pugliese, Attorney John F. Murphy and Commissioner Jacob Frank agreed that the test case of Betters would apply to other parallel cases.

Edward C. Boyle, solicitor for the commissioners, maintained that it was within the province of the new permanent registration law to strike off names of those convicted for such offense, and that court action would be required to replace the names on the lists.

Fireman Rescuer of Cat, Buddy to Get Medals

When Fireman John S. King, of Engine Company No. 43, fell more than 20 feet from a tree to which he had climbed to save a cat, last November, he didn't fail to earn a medal.

And when his "buddy," Fireman Thomas Neville, of Engine Company No. 47, threw his body under King's to break King's fall Neville didn't expect a medal.

But both will receive medals Tuesday from the Humane Society, celebrating "Be Kind to Animals Week" next week.

Both firemen were hurt when King was sent to Garfield avenue North Side, to rescue the cat, marooned 35 or 40 feet from the ground. King saw his friend Neville nearby, and asked him to hold the ladder, which wasn't long enough.

He clambered to the whining cat, he says, and started to slide down toward the ladder. As he put his foot on a limb, it broke.

Neville, King says, threw his body in the way of King's fall. Both were hurt. The injuries sent King to Mercy Hospital for over six months with a fractured pelvis.

A number of dogs will also receive medals next week for their acts of heroism.

Put away your dark clothes . . . salt down the last few rags and tags from winter days and prepare to embrace spring with open arms and no reservations! . . .

Beginning with a pure dye wash silk frock that will carry you through mornings at home and at market right now . . . and all sorts of sportswear a bit later. One of the stores has their sports salesgirls trotting blithely about in these now (or did the day we were there!) greens, blues, orange, browns in striped tri-colors, and costing but $6.95. Those nice shirty ones that button down before with great white square buttons of composition (sewed on with a loop of the fabric just to make them more interesting!) . . . and pocketed over your heart. Sizes 14 to 20.

* * *

We haven't taken up pipe-smoking in spite of the fact that we hear its "being done" but nevertheless we DO keep an eye out and hence this discovery about the genuine briar pipes that are being sold now for only 24c (because a manufacturer got mad and decided to close out the whole line, just like that!) In 17 different styles, and all very fine we're told. Might just pass the word along to your masculine pipe-smokers!

* * *

Remember our dissertating not long ago about the new polo shirts that had cantered in? Here is more news . . .

Not about the same shirts, however. For these are of a knitted synthetic crepe . . . belted, and monogrammed with one letter in color . . . and come in what-ho-ish shades like pink, aqua, rose, blue, green, maize and white. Misses and women's. For an only $1.00.

* * *

When polo is mentioned . . . Ascot is not far away and of course we WOULD up and think about the Ascot scarfs we have found at next-to-nothing. Grand ones to knot about your lily-like neck with a suit . . . flattering ones to drape loosely across your upper boosum just sorta careless-like! And costing such sums as $2.95 and onwards with $6.95 the utterly topmost figure you can possibly hit!

Such Ascots as lapin in all shades (and very good lapin at that, little bunnies!) . . . and broadtail . . . and galiak—in all the greys, beiges, browns, and taupes that a Spring costume can think up to demand! Average length about 40 to 44 inches.

* * *

Sportive creatures that you are, you'll love this news about the sleeveless suede jackets that have come to the fore now at $2.98.

Soft, supple affairs these, in tawny yellow, green, or bright orange . . . with side buckling to make them tightfer or looser at the waistline . . . a vest front effect . . . and 2 pockets to stow away your hankie and lipstip (for even a feminine Nimrod needs her feminine gadgets like these!) Grand little snuggle-intos for sports and gay warmer-weather-wear!

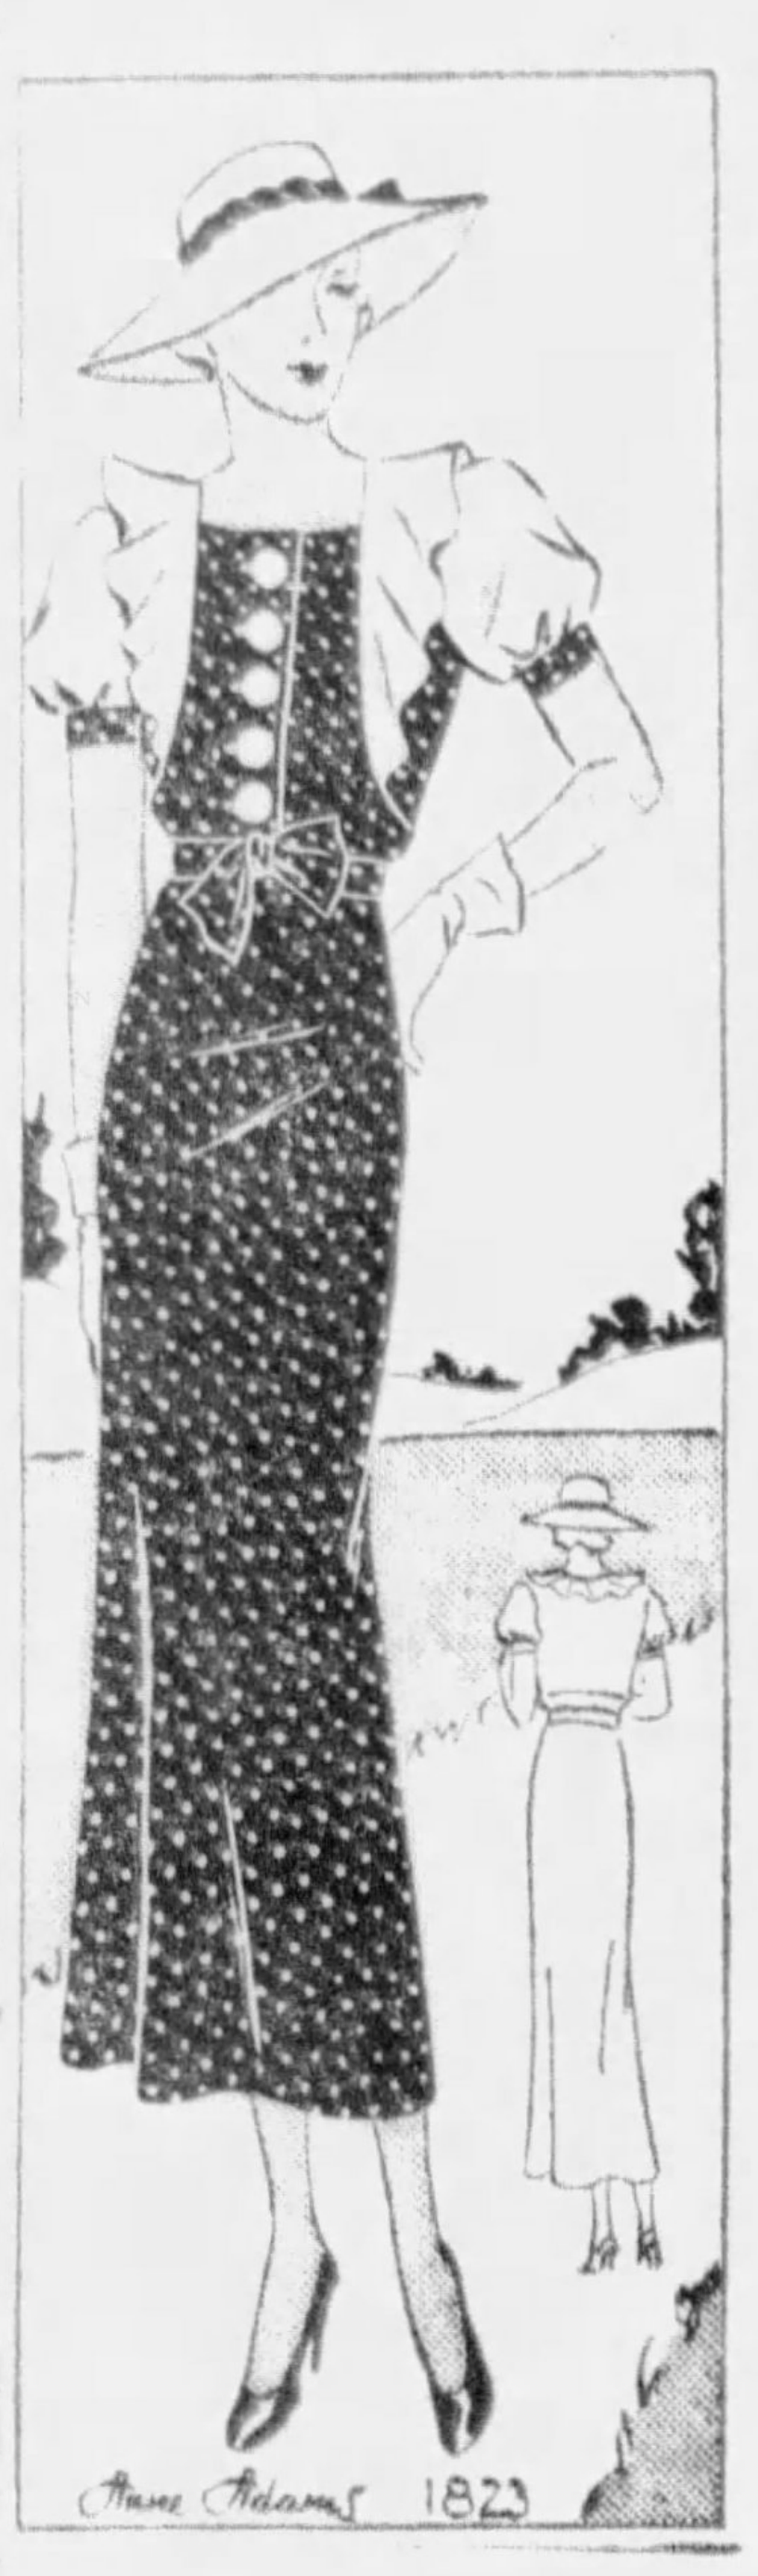
Pattern 1823

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern



The fabric of your frock will tell more than half of the fashion story. There's a wide scope for combining fabrics cleverly in the attractive model shown here. We had it made of blue and white dotted swiss, contrasted with white organdie—and it's very striking, don't you think? If you've a flair for the bright plaids, candy stripes, or captivating prints in vogue, they'd be equally effective. There's youth and chic in the way the flares ripple over the shoulders, and the sleeves perk up. The bodice closing is accented with large buttons that repeat a color of the print. Cool, feminine and smart for all daytime affairs.

Pattern 1823 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 36-inch fabric and 1⅜ yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with each pattern.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Foolish to 'Diagnose' Your Ills

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." This is an axiom that can well be applied to the average person when it comes to the human mechanism.

Dr. Copeland

A case in point is that of a man who recently told me he had drawn his will and settled his affairs, because he knew his time was limited. I asked him what proof he had for such a statement. His amusing reply was, "I have not consulted a doctor, but I know I have cancer. I once read a book that explained that certain symptoms are sure signs of cancer."

After much persuasion, this man, I am glad to say, finally consulted a surgeon. To the amazement and delight of the patient, he learned he was merely a victim of piles and had no signs of cancer. He submitted to the minor operation which gave him complete relief and he tore up the will.

I tell this story because it is probable many of my readers are suffering from the same ailment. It is true that blood and pain may sometimes be important signs of cancer, but it is equally true that these symptoms rarely mean cancer. Even if they should prove to be, it must be borne in mind that cancer is not always incurable, by any means. In most cases of cancer, early recognition and prompt surgical attention mean complete recovery and permanent cure.

The trouble I am discussing is a common affliction of mankind. As a rule, it is found in elderly persons, but it is frequently encountered in young adults and even in children. It is a not uncommon sequel of chronic constipation.

When the ailment is present, there is a tender swelling of the tissues. One or several veins may be involved. The swollen veins may be inside or outside the vent and are spoken of as "internal" or "external hemorrhoids." The condition resembles varicose veins which sometimes involve the legs of stout persons. It really is a varicose condition of the region.

The congestion causes discomfort and sometimes real pain. This grows worse with the movements. This is particularly the case if the victim is habitually constipated. Sometimes the varicose vein ruptures, causing bleeding, more or less severe.

Of course, everyone who has repeated attacks of pain and signs of blood should consult a physician. Not every case of hemorrhoids calls for an operation. Often a change in diet and correction of the constipation are sufficient to cure the disorder. A soothing ointment or suppository is beneficial. The doctor will advise what to do.

Answers to Health Queries

J. H. Q.—What can be done for large veins in the hands and arms? I have been told to avoid keeping the hands and arms in hot water but apart from this nothing definite has been advised.

A.—Some persons have more prominent veins than others. In this case nothing can be done to correct the condition. Exertion and strain will naturally tend to make the veins more noticeable.

F. F. Q.—What causes a severe pain right above the left hip? 2: What should a boy of 19, 6 feet 3 inches tall, weigh? What should a girl of 22, 5 feet 4 inches tall, weigh?

A.—It would be difficult to advise without making an examination. Consult your doctor and he will give you full information along these lines. 2: They should weigh 173 and 126 pounds, respectively. This would be about average for their respective ages and heights as determined by examination of a large number of persons.

—what it means — to store 70 million dollars worth of tobacco

—4½ miles of warehouses

Everything that Science knows about is used in making Chesterfields.

One thing we do is to buy mild, ripe tobaccos and then lock up these tobaccos in modern storage warehouses to age and mellow like rare wines.

It takes about 3 years to age the tobaccos for your Chesterfield, for Time does something to tobacco that neither man nor machine can do.

It means something to keep 70 million dollars worth of tobacco in storage. It means just this:

We do everything possible to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

WELFARE HEAD HITS MEDICOS AS CRITICS

Physicians accepting federal funds for serving families on relief are howling loudest in opposition to "state medicine," according to Mrs. Alice F. Liveright, secretary of the state's Welfare Department.

Addressing the thirteenth annual conference of the Hospital Association in the William Penn Hotel today, Mrs. Liveright said:

"Today federal funds are paying thousands of physicians for home visits to families on relief, also for nursing services and medicine for those families.

"Yet many of the physicians now accepting federal fees howl loudest in opposition to 'state medicine.'"

Stating clinics are not being imposed on by people able to pay for medical care, Mrs. Liveright said, but the present state control of home service has made for better medical standards.

C. Southard Hay, Pittsburgh welfare director, told the conference today that the committee appointed by Mayor McNair to investigate municipal hospitals has suggested in its report to the Mayor that a Department of Hospitals be created.

The new department would have complete control of the three municipal hospitals. Hay explained that the report will soon be submitted to Council by McNair. Heading the committee was Dr. Alexander Colwell.

Election of officers and reports from the committee on constitution and by-laws were to occupy the business meeting at 3 p. m., following round table discussions during the afternoon.

Other speakers scheduled for this morning's meeting were Southard Hay, director of the Pittsburgh Department of Welfare; Lewis N. Clark, of Philadelphia; Maj. Roger A. Greene, superintendent of Pottsville Hospital; M. H. Eichenlaub, superintendent of West Penn Hospital; Dr. Donald C. Smelzer, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Irvin D. Metzger, chairman of the State Board of Medical Education and Licensure.

The conference will end tomorrow.

State Jobless Drug Service Advocated

A setup of public laboratories to administer drugs to fill prescriptions for the unemployed was advocated yesterday by the Employe Pharmacists' Association of Greater Pittsburgh. The association held that thousands of persons in Allegheny County are forced to go without medicines because the state emergency relief board has failed to provide funds necessary to purchase the drugs.

It was revealed that the state board allows 50 cents for each prescription, but will not go above that amount for costly ingredients needed in many medicines.

Dr. Harold I. Miller, medical director of the state board in Harrisburg; Eric H. Biddle, executive director of the board and George P. Mills, executive director of the county relief board, this week will receive recommendations for the laboratories from the association.

Hospital Guild to Sponsor Benefit

St. Joseph's Hospital Guild will sponsor a benefit reception and card party in Hotel Schenley tomorrow. Proceeds will go to the hospital for new equipment to improve and modernize the service. The institution receives no aid from the state, officials point out. It maintains its own free dispensary and clinic service available to thousands of South Side residents.

New officers, recently elected are: President, Mrs. James Campbell; vice presidents, Mrs. J. A. Martin and Mrs. J. W. Stevenson; secretary, Miss Isabel Kearney; corresponding secretary, Sister M. Irenaeus, and treasurer, Sister Anna Regina.

Edmund Arthur 'Sells' Nature to City Folk

THE COUNTRY RAMBLER AFIELD WITH TWO YOUNG FRIENDS

'Country Rambler's Work Preserved In Book

By PENELOPE REDD

The work of Edmund W. Arthur, known to a large circle in Pittsburgh as "The Country Rambler," has recently been secured for the future by the members of the Audubon Society who have issued a volume selected from his writings appearing for the seven years after 1920. Mr. Arthur has probably directed the attention of more people of all ages to the charm of nature that still persists within a radius of a dozen miles of Pittsburgh than any other person.

Miss Redd.

His education prepared him for a leadershhip that a more specialized technical training might have limited. His father was an amateur astronomer and early taught him to note the constellations. His uncle selected botany as his avocation and attained distinction as a voluntary research observer. As a youngster, Edmund Arthur, had studied intensively the flora of Allegheny County. When he enrolled as a student at the University of Pittsburgh, he had the good fortune to have courses in geology and astronomy with Professor Very, who was well informed on this neighborhood.

VICTIM OF ILLNESS

As a young lawyer, by chance, he became the associate of an elder colleague, William Thomas, the "Argus" of "The Country Rambler," who was an alert observer of birds. From 1907 until 1914, he spent every moment with a band of congenial friends, exploring this countryside. "The Little Brown Fellow" is John Brown, who undertook the labor of chaperoning Mr. Arthur's writings through the intricacies of printing. A dozen others shared these woodland cruises. These were interrupted by a serious illness which exiled Edmund Arthur from active life. Despite the obstacles, however, he continued his interest in nature through the good offices of an acquaintance, who went forth collecting for him while he was ill at Saranac, New York.

Upon his recovery, he became an appraiser of coal lands throughout Western Pennsylvania. From 1915 until 1920, he was continuously out of doors and carried on his observations of nature along with his work. At night in lonely farmhouses, he recorded his day's adventures with nature.

SOCIETY FORMED

In 1916, several hundred individuals interested in the pleasures of the local landscape were brought together through the formation of the Audubon Society. By 1920, interest had grown to such an extent that Mr. Arthur as "The Country Rambler" commenced a series of seasonal reports on the land, the creatures habitant in this community, and the flowers and herbs that signal the passing of the seasons.

About 10 years ago, Mr. Arthur was one of the leaders of a group of 40 of the city's most prominent citizens, who went to visit Jack Miner's Sanctuary for wild geese at Kingsville, Ontario. Thereafter every May, the group has made some special week-end pilgrimage. Presque Isle off the coast of Erie, the Laurel Ridge country, and other places rich in nature's resources. This year Pymatuning Swamp will be the objective.

Edmund Arthur, "The Country Rambler," as a volunteer agent in the field of adult education, deserves civic recognition.

SCHOOL BOARDS CHOOSE HEADS IN DISTRICT

Harry E. Brumbaugh, for 12 years supervising principal of schools of Irwin and vicinity, Westmoreland County, was chosen superintendent of Bellevue schools for a four-year term last night by the Borough School Board. He succeeds J. Nelson Mowls.

In McKeesport, Dr. J. B. Richey, for 32 years superintendent of schools, was re-elected for a one-year term. He will reach the retirement age next year. His salary was cut from $8,500 to $6,000.

H. D. Teal, superintendent of Clairton schools was re-elected for a four-year term, his salary being fixed at $6,300.

In Braddock, Dr. Thomas G. McCleary was re-elected for his fifth four-year term.

Re-electing Charles F. Young, the East Pittsburgh school directors lopped $1,000 off his $5,000 salary.

Elections of county superintendents in nearby counties gave these results:

Armstrong—J. A. Mechline, assistant, to succeed C. M. Heilman.

Blair—Robert E. Larmay, re-elected and salary cut $1,000.

Forest—Frank Watson to succeed Neil Cunselman.

Erie—E. R. Hadlock, re-elected.

Somerset—Guy H. Hartman, to succeed W. H. Kretchman.

Venango—L. H. Pefferm, re-elected.

Westmoreland—Charles F. Maxwell, re-elected.

Butler—John T. Connell, re-elected.

Crawford—P. D. Blair, re-elected.

Cambria—M. S. Bent, re-elected.

Clearfield—W. O. Trostle, re-elected.

Mercer—W. M. Johnson, re-elected.

New York Jurist, Child Threatened

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—A postcard threatening County Judge Lester W. Patterson, of the Bronx, and his 6-year-old daughter, Joan, was received at the Patterson home April 4, the jurist revealed today. Written in ink and signed "XYZ," the note said:

"You'll be sorry for sentencing that young fellow to the reformatory. Something serious will happen to you or your daughter, Joan, before the end of the week."

2 Fire Companies Meet Dashing to Opposite Goals

WOODBURY, N. J., April 11.—(AP.)—"Let's go, boys! There's a fire in Sewell!"

So cried the Barnesboro boys, with a lusty wail from the firehouse siren. They had seen a glow in the sky.

"Let's go, boys! There's a fire in Barnesboro!"

So shouted the Sewell firemen on hearing the siren.

The two fire companies met halfway between the villages and halted for explanations. The fire, it seems, was in some grass which the Sewell laddies had burned for "practice."

EGAN DENIES RED THREATS

Threats of reprisals, said to have been sent to judges of Superior Court, hearing the motion of James Egan, Communist leader, for a new trial after his conviction for inciting a riot in Pittsburgh on President Roosevelt's inaugural day, did not come from Egan's organization or any of the members, Egan said today. He added:

"Such threats and such individual acts are not the policy of the workers' movement and I doubt very much that any worker or workers' organization sent in such threats."

The threats contained in letters asked the unconditional release of Egan. Egan is national secretary of the Steel and Metal Workers' Industrial Union.

Pension Association Will Discuss Bill

The Hatfield-Wagner Pension Bill will be discussed at a meeting of the Railroad Employes National Pension Association in Malta Hall, Freeport, at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Joseph Gray, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Twenty-seventh District, will speak.

BALDWIN BOARD HEADS OUSTED

Appointment by Judge W. Heber Dithrich of men to replace the removed leaders of opposing factions on the Baldwin Township Board of Commissioners was being awaited today.

Late yesterday the judge suddenly halted the three-month controversy over the deadlock of the Baldwin Commissioners, by removing from the office W. E. Armstrong, former chairman and leader of the four holdover members, and Peter A. Kuenzig, whom he characterized as leader of the four new members.

When the board became deadlocked and was unable to elect officers and transact business soon after the first of the year, both factions petitioned the court to remove the other faction, on the grounds that it was blocking township business. Protracted hearings of petitions and counter petitions have been held, and yesterday Judge Dithrich heard the final arguments. Previously he had sent the factions back time after time, advising them to seek a compromise and settle the deadlock among themselves. The commissioners would proceed to meet, sit and glare at one another, and go home without result.

In removing Armstrong and Kuenzig the judge said he had become convinced the board could never get together while they were members, and said he would replace them as soon as possible.

For three good reasons, 8:30 P. M. (Standard Time) is the best time to telephone out-of-town friends. At half-past-eight, your day's work is done. At half-past-eight, your friends are at leisure. But best of all, at half-past-eight, most out-of-town rates are greatly reduced—as much as 40%!

Man About Town

Speaking of irony, Alice Faye, mentioned by Mrs. Vallee, is doing a ditty called: "Foolin' With The Other Woman's Man" . . . Eleanor Ambrose's current is an old pash, E. Jeffe, Edison official . . . Kathryn Ray would have won her abrogation, plus alimony, if she brought the action in New Jersey where they were blended . . . Dorothy Mackaill, recently unwound, may become one of the rich Chicago Strauss tribe . . . Frances Williams and her groom will have theirs unravelled amicably . . . The Dr. Jose Laras he's sec'y at the Cuban embassy, are infanticipating . . . Henry King the orchestra conductor, is dreading a forthcoming front page mess . . . Moss Hart says H'wood has improved—the stupidity is now organized.

Estelle Taylor is deaf to the long-distancing of H. Richman's pianist, Jack Carroll, a sad lad . . . Jimmy Mattern will try a flight from London to Australia—backed by H. Jamieson of Chi. . . . Pathe News, after praising the newsreelers as "the best," cut their wages a second time and added a three-week-without-pay bonus . . . Major George Beaumont, who was sent to yell: "Cease Firing!" when the Armistice arrived, is now a uniformed watchman in Hollywood on the RKO-Radio lot . . . Who's gonna pay for that Philly photographer's $120 lens?

Townsend Martin, whose lovely mother passed away, has been sent abroad to keep from being consoled by a "commoner" . . . They are saying—no wonder "You Ought To Be In Pictures" is so good—the melody is practically Drigo's "Serenade" . . . Lew Brown's "Stand Up and Cheer" flicker, according to reports, is a cinch click . . . Heywood Broun wonders why he cannot be taken into that old trio, arguing that they need alter only one letter—thus: "DeSylva, Broun & Henderson" . . . Margaret Sullavan's ex-groom, H. Fonda of "New Faces," and Imogene Coca of the cast are in a lather . . . "Female Pipings In Eden," withdrawn in January, has been laundered, and was released last week . . . Frances Langford is Ken Dolaning.

Gloria Stuart of the phhlms, and A. Sheekman, the jokesmith, are parted by the coasts, but what's a couple of coasts? . . . Aina (Paree) Constant, the skyscraper of the blonde nudists, puts 10 lumps of sugar in her cup of coffee . . . Madeline Ruffalo, an ex-"Follies" doll is now the "Follies" wardrobe mistress . . . Add fascinating diversions—skimming the magazine ads to see how many of the models you know . . . The Cotton Club's Pops and Louie, two youngsters, doubling in "Varieties" . . . The Ubangi jungle (on the Connie's Inn site) in Harlem's Dixie . . . The Gordon & Revel score in "We're Not Dressing"—particularly "She Reminds Me Of You," a sassy jingle . . . The tune christened "How Do I Know It's Sunday?" . . . Conde Nast's mag's forthcoming contest to decide the popular and unpopular celebrities, and that platter by Ramona titled: "I Wonder Who's Keeping Him Now?"

One of the famously known symphony conductors, and one of the operatic canaries, are having a mad romance. His squaw just intercepted one of her love letters! . . . The Paree gigolos rate no wages, leaning on tips, as they are called . . . Jack Haskell, the dance director, is in the Murray Hill sanitarium . . . Barbara Caswell, once a local toast, is now peddling wine and hooch . . . Evelyn Langford, Rudy Valoo's sec'y, has lost 20 pounds. Not from opening his fan mail, one hopes . . . Coasters are risking the predictions that George Raft will "positively" marry Virginia Pine in July. It takes much longer than that to get a divorce—even if Mrs. Roft wanted one . . . Mrs. D. Sorter, dotter of Lucius Eastman, is Reno-vating.

Mrs. Marion Saportas is wearing mourning for her late pal, Lilyan Tashman . . . Alexia Thurn-Taxis, the writer-director, and his sec'y, Edith Watkins, are plotting to middle-aisle it, or have they? . . . Toscanini is a warm admirer of Lotte Lehmann's art and misses it greatly since she went abroad . . . Richard Crooks, when he sang "Mandon" at the Met, wore Enrico Caruso's costume, lent by its present owner, Granville Vernon . . . Bobbie Anderson, an alleged sensation in Miami Beach, opens at the King's Terrace Thuzdee. He's a blond whose hair is marcelled!

The Irving Aaronsons (he's the baton juggler) and she is Christine Marson, are divorcing . . . Because she danced in Europe, she says, he is divorcing her for "desertion" . . . Commander E. Edmonstone of His Majesty's Navy, and Betty Sundmark of the Hollywood baddies, are swapping accents . . . Add Americana: When Vallee led the Cambridge, England, students at that rendevous, singing "God Save The King," the audience warbled: "My Country 'Tis Of Thee!" . . . Mary Kirk Brown, who met Bobby Martyn, an Irish-Cuban, in Miami Beach and married him after four days, went home to mother a fortnight later . . . The tribe is having it annulled . . . Add Optimists: Abe Lyman, who is trying to get exclusive rights to Eleanor Powell, the jigger—haw, haw! . . . The waiters at the Casino de Paree will tell you that the night society took over the spot the tips were amazingly less . . . Sam H. Harris lost $200,000 in that gold mine.

Benefit Show Sunday

According to John H. Harris, Ed. Lowry, former master of ceremonies in the Stanley, will fly here from California to handle the big benefit vaudeville and photoplay show to be held at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night in the Penn, under the auspices of the Variety Club. Eddie is one of the most popular boys ever to show his mastery over a ceremony in Pittsburgh, always ready to urge the audience to give the other performers a big hand.

There will be a feature picture as well as acts from New York and local show places. Tickets are proclaimed to be a bargain at only $1 apiece, and they will be on sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the following theaters: Loew's Penn, Stanley, Warner and Davis, Downtown; Enright, Family, Sheridan Square, East Liberty; Schenley, Oakland; Kenyon, North Side, and neighborhood houses, including South Hills, Mt. Oliver, Manor and the Harris-Beechview.

Harry Kalmine, manager of the Warner theaters in the Pittsburgh district, is general chairman of arrangements for the show.

Rush of Rich Hits Film Studios

By JIMMY STARR

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—Hello! Royalty, blue bloods, social registerites and millionaires find Hollywood an easy city to "capture," from all indications given by the large number of rich folks and aristocrats working in the movie village today.

Many are here and more are coming. The influx of these persons is declared due to the dawning new social area in America, in which inherited "position" and wealth take the background when talent is the competitor.

Mrs. J. D. Spreckels III, 22, and with that many millions to her bank credit, is the latest to capitulate to cinemaland. She'll be in the new Jack Haley film, "Here Comes the Groom."

Another recent arrival is Eleanor Phelps, social registerite in Baltimore. Her father is French Consul there, and her uncle is Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, of the United States Navy. She's playing a bit in "Cleopatra."

Winnie Flint, whose name is in the Chicago blue book, and who is the wife of Gil Barry, all-American halfback, plays extra in "Murder at the Vanities."

Miss Bobby Stoffregan, of St. Louis, is in "Cleopatra," but will not permit local newshawks to use photographs for publicity. And the Paramount Studio, according to her attorney, is not allowed to announce her film work.

Merry Fahrney, of Chicago, thinks film work is "just too, too divine!" Mabel Forbes, widow of the tooth-powder king, makes her debut in "Down to Their Last Yacht."

Janet Snowden is another cinema addict, and so is Doris Duke, now visiting Hollywood incognito—and she would just love a movie role!

Hollywood, with all its red-blooded persons, is a "sucker" for the blue-blood racket!

* * *

Wanderings Around Hollywood . . . . Porter ("The Dark Tower") Hall is in town for a role in "The Thin Man" at M-G-M . . . . Jed Kelly, once a man-about-Paris, is dishing up the script of "The Criminal Within" for Columbia . . . . Valentin Parera, Grace Moore's hubby, has passed the crisis in the illness which for a time threatened hospitalization . . . . You probably don't care at all, but, in collaboration with Lionel Barrymore, Eddie Lowe once composed a "Tone Poem." You're right—it was never published . . . . The Olsen and Johnson version of "Take a Chance," which opened Friday night, knocked the local yokels for that W. K. loop and may get a lengthy run . . . . Ted Lewis is slated to play a one-night stand at the Del Mar Club, a beach spot in Santa Monica.

* * *

At last Erin O'Brien-Moore gets a break! R-K-O grabbed her for a role in "Sour Grapes," and Producer-Playwright Myron C. Fagan engaged her for the local footlight ditty, "Memory," starring Helen Morgan.

Buzzing Bround Town . . . that BEEG BUMP on Larry Weingarten's head came from a careless waiter in a gay spot. The tray carrier skidded and a filled highball glass JUMPED right at Larry, landing squarely. Larry saw more stars than M-G-M has under contract . . . Bartlett Cormack is sunburning at La Quinta, the desert playground, while grinding out the script of "One Woman" for Paramount . . . Larry Adler, the harmonica BLOWER, is headed for one of Chicago's cafes . . . Johnny Mack Brown is TRYING to outhairgrow Johnny Weissmuller for his new role with Mae West . . . Patricia Ellis gets awfully EXCITED when she thinks about Henry Willson, the fan mag. scribbler . . . The Mae Clark-Sid Blackmer cupid stuff is on again.

* * *

Sneaking up on the romantic billboard, the HEART scoops for the week are William Janney and Lucille Lund, Mary Carlisle and Dick Cromwell and Muriel Kirkland and Speed Post!

* * *

Richard A. Rowland annoys Ricardo Cortez by calling him Jack. You see, Dick knew Rick when he was Jack Crane, on Broadway. Funiest thing on Rick, however, is the movie fan magazine article which said he owned a large ranch in the Argentine country and his papa was known as Don Cortez. Rick's real name is Jacob Kranz!

Next Children's Play 'Rip Van Winkle'

"Rip Van Winkle," play based on figure of Washington Irving's famous story, will be presented on the stage of the Nixon by the New York Children's Theater Company on Saturday morning, April 21, under the management of May Beegle. It will be presented here with an all-professional New York cast of players. A feature will be the appearance in the cast of Lone Bear, young Indian, a great-grandson of a Pawnee chief, White Eagle. He will give Indian songs and authentic dances of the Pawnees. Lone Bear's tenor voice was trained by Marcella Sembrich.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Charles Withers, veteran vaudeville performer, whose portrayal of the rube type manager of a small town "Opry House," is well remembered by lovers of variety, will bring his newest creation to the Pitt Friday. This is "Broadway to Hickville," a unit production with Muriel Gardner as the featured dancer. James Dunn and Claire Trevor will be seen on the screen in "Hold That Girl."

* * *

"Catherine the Great," will be the next attraction in the Harris Family, opening Saturday. This photoplay, suggested by incidents in the life of a historic Russian empress, co-stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Elizabeth Bergner.

* * *

Dennis King and members of the "Richard of Bordeaux" company, now playing in the Nixon, were honor guests at a reception at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the drama department of Carnegie Institute of Technology in the Tech Theater on the campus.

* * *

According to a telegram received by Mike Cullen, manager of the Penn Theater, "Tarzan and His Mate," Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's sequel to "Tarzan," will be seen on the screen of that theater for one week, opening Friday, April 22. Johnny Weismuller, the original Tarzan, and Maureen O'Sullivan will play the principal roles, as they did in "Tarzan." Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanagh, Forrester Harvey and Doris Lloyd are in the supporting cast.

* * *

Tryouts will be held this week for a musical revue to be sponsored by the Y Playhouse, Bellefield avenue. Anyone who is interested is asked to be present tomorrow, Friday or Saturday evening.

* * *

Gilbert Miller, America's only international producer, is en route to London to make final arrangements for the opening of a production of "She Loves Me Not," April 30. Another American venture in the British capital will be Dwight Deere Wiman's production of "Roberta" by an American company that will sail Saturday from New York, accompanied also by Howard Lindsay, who will direct.

* * *

His honor the Mayor, whose stage name will still be William N. McNair, is going to seek theatrical laurels, we hear. It is to be at a minstrel show to be given next Monday in the Nixon by the Amen Corner. His job will be to introduce the interlocutor, Dr. M. F. Walsh.

All In A Day

By MARK HELLINGER

Odds and Ends

HERE'S a true item that should hand you a snicker. In an upstate city, one of the big shots in the fire department has a close friend who runs one of the best bars in town. The cafe man operated all through the prohibition era, and the fire official was not only a good friend, but an excellent customer as well.

The two men knew and understood each other. The cafe owner was a generous bird and he was forever going out of his way to please the fire chief. The latter man begged his friend to ask a favor of him, but the proprietor always shook his head.

"There's nothing you can do for me, George," he said. "If I ever need you, you know I'll call on you. But right now, all I want you to do is to continue being my customer—and my friend." . . .

A month or so ago, a small fire broke out in the basement of the cafe in question. It was only one alarm, and the blaze amounted to a little less than nothing. But the fire official speeded to the scene and took personal charge of the operations. The proprietor remained outside on the street without much concern. He knew the blaze wasn't much and, with his pal in charge, the damage would be slight.

Some 15 minutes later, when the fire was out, the official appeared on the street and summoned the cafe man. They walked inside together—and the proprietor rubbed his eyes in amazement. For the place had been wrecked. Table and chairs had been smashed by axes, and water had ruined the draperies.

"My gosh!" cried the owner. "What's happened here?"

The fire official nudged his pal and winked broadly.

"Told you I'd do you a big favor some day," he grinned. "If the insurance company doesn't pay you the limit on this, I miss my guess. Did a pretty artistic job, didn't I?"

The cafe man fainted on the spot. His fire insurance had lapsed a month before, and he had neglected to renew it! . . .

* * *

A FEW days ago, Mr. Sidney Blackmer, the actor, landed in the newspapers of the nation when the government permitted him to deduct some $1,600 from the gross amount of his 1927 income tax. He had spent some of this money, he alleged, on the "entertaining" of Heywood Broun, Lawrence Stallings, myself and others.

Just for the records, I wish to say that Mr. Blackmer has never "entertained" me at any time. He visited my home on several occasions in years gone by, and he was once my guest at an Army-Navy football game.

The closest Mr. Blackmer ever came to "entertaining" me was when I visited his charming ex-wife, Miss Lenore Ulric, in Hollywood, back in 1929, to do a story on her for Photoplay magazine. I believe I had a brandy and soda with Mr. Blackmer at that time—and if he would like me to refund the price of that drink, I shall be glad to do so.

* * *

A WELL known picture executive has been in the newspapers a great deal lately because of his marital difficulties. For weeks now, he and his wife have been reported divorced, reconciled, engaged, separated, married and unmarried.

Meeting him the other night, I inquired about the situation.

"Just what is it all about?" I asked him. "Are you and the wife together again—or what?"

He shrugged his shoulders.

"I don't know," he replied quite frankly. "I haven't seen the morning papers, yet!" . . .

* * *

ALTHOUGH I seldom do a rave on a picture, I'd like to step out of character on this occasion to call your attention to "The Lost Patrol," a Radio production that is now being shown throughout the country. I caught it at the Rialto the other night, and if it isn't one of the finest pictures of any year, I don't know a good film when I see one.

Beautifully directed by John Ford, "The Lost Patrol" unfolds the somber story of a little group of British troops trapped by Arabs in an oasis in the Mesopotamian desert in 1917. One by one, these men perish until only their leader is left. It is a brutal tale, but it is so skilfully played and directed that the result is gripping from start to finish.

There isn't a woman in the cast, and that may be the reason why the R-K-O moguls were unwilling to place "The Lost Patrol" in their ace house in Radio City. They made a mistake. For "The Lost Patrol," with expert exploitation, will coin money all over the world.

Funny how the unexpected happens in the film world. What the studio heads consider a great picture will often turn out to be a prize dud and something from which very little is expected will coin a fortune.

A few years ago the R-K-O had another little picture of which they thought nothing. It was supposed to have been made as a two-reel serial for release over a 13-week period. But in putting it together they discovered that they didn't have sufficient material. So they put the entire thing in one film, and intended it for release as a secondary feature on double bills.

That picture earned millions of dollars. It was Frank Buck's "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" . . .

'Arrests May Solve Dog Theft Puzzle

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Suburban police said they had solved the mysterious disappearance of more than a score of valuable dogs from Hinsdale and nearby communities with the arrest of three men, Walter Reese, of Downers Grove; Harry Poss and Joseph Randall, both of Westmont.

Little Theater Sets High Standard

By CHESTER B. STORY

For its fourth bill of the current season, the Experimental Theater, at its Little Theater on South Aiken avenue last night night presented two orginal plays written by Pittsburghers—"The Fifth Personality" by Kilburn Blaisdell, and "Eleanora's Portrait," by Mrs. Sarah C. K. Pettit. The plays will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

"The Fifth Personality" is a psychological study in three acts, the scene being "within the mind of an emotionally disturbed bachelor."

The scenic design for this play was unique, two huge profiles in silver and black forming the sides of the proscenium arch. Between the faces stretched a filmy front curtain, giving a dreamy, mystical effect to the action.

STRONG CLIMAX

The rear wall was in three sections, one blue, one crimson, and one a mottled brown, from which emerged three characters entirely costumed in corresponding colors. Respectively, these characters represented tenderness, emotions, and the intellect. A fourth character represented the whole or integrated personality. Death was represented by a voice only.

To a layman the plot of this play is too talky, and the first act especially is vague. The second act, however, has a strong climax; while there is a falling off in act three.

HONORS TO AUTHOR

Acting honors go to the author, who made of the intellect a really compelling figure. Others in the cast were John B. Dwyer, Reid Jackson, Mrs. Ralph Perry (alternating with Margery Taylor), and Oliver Evans.

Mrs. Stewart C. McFarland, the director, gave this play its unique, mystical interpretation; and the cast, despite a compulsory lack of physical action, gave a mentally gripping production.

This first play of the young author gives much promise, although experience will lead him to focus his plot more sharply and eliminate the extraneous.

COLORFUL WORK

"Eleanora's Portrait," the second number, written by Mrs. Sarah C. K. Pettit, was a colorful little play in two scenes. The first scene is laid in a room in a Florentine palace in 1348, the year of the "Black Death."

Eleanora, the Duchess, has fallen in love with a young portrait painter. Her husband, stricken by the plague, uses his dying strength in avenging his honor. The curtain falls as the painter, returning, discovers the body of his murdered mistress.

Scene two, entitled "The Heirlooms," occuring in the same room in 1931, tells the rest of the story, and at the same time has a sarcastic fling at a Chicago descendant of the original Duke.

The artist, although innocent, had been executed as the murderer of the Duchess. This fact adds enough interest to cause the Chicago "bootlegger" descendant to buy the portrait of the golden-haired Duchess.

TYPICAL OF AIM

The cast consisted of Jean King, Robert Lee, Ferdinand Fillion, Duncan Bruce Smith and Joseph Fetcko, and the play was ably directed by Freeman Hammond.

These first productions of original plays are typical of the aim of the Experimental theater in giving expression to all forms of dramatic art, from the play-writing to the performance. The energy and enthusiasm of the group augur well for the future. The remaining two performances, on Wednesday and Thursday nights, will undoubtedly maintain the standard set by the opening production.

Mystery Play By Masquers Difficult of Solution

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The Masquers, last night, in their playhouse in Shady avenue, turned to mystery for their fourth and final production of their second year as a prominent Little Theater group. The vehicle of their creditable endeavor is "In Times Square," a novelty in the melodrama line, written by Dodson L. Mitchell and Clyde North, originally presented in New York, but never played here professionally. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

The scene of the play is a New York theater, long unused, but about to be occupied by a company recruited by its owner, who has written a mystery play and is producing it himself in order to turn his vacant house into one of activity. The drama is to turn upon a murder committed in rehearsal. Then it transpires that an actual murder does occur in exactly the same manner as the author had written it in his play, and as exactly as it had been rehearsed. Ain't that something?

And that's all the insight that shall be given here, for what good is a mystery play if everybody knows how it is to turn out? Suffice it to say that there are several queer characters upon whom amatuer detectives in the audience may turn their deductive talents.

They may suspect the author-producer, played by W. Kirk Gilmore with the manner of a good business man. Or his house superintendant, a surly fellow, realistically portrayed by C. Hays Long, Jr. Or a crazy old actor, well characterized by Ralph Wilson. Or a down-and-out actor, too suddenly redeemed from the inebriate stage, nicely done by Ralph Radcliffe. Or a dope, an emotional impersonation by E. P. Rafferty.

As a comedy relief there is a brash young juvenile who is made real by Howard Blaine. Feminine roles are done capably by Ruth Simpson, Marie Mulhallen and Keith Sterling. Also in the cast are W. W. Woodside, Roy Vance and Louis Kline.

The play is produced under the direction of George M. Rowland, Jr., the production manager being Gordon B. Brown. Other credts are due to the staff, includiing Mary Sawders, for the set; A. Brandin Vestal, lightinig; Norman Blackmore, staging; Ann Rowland, costumes; Dorothy Shellady, properties, and Frances Wooddridge, bookholder.

Dismissed Employes Granted Hearings

The Civil Service Commission has granted hearings to four inspectors in the Department of Health who were dismissed after their titles and duties were changed by Council in arranging the salary bill. William Kane and Joseph W. Farrell are to receive hearings tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. and Edward L. Workmaster and Albert L. Schleider Friday at 9:30 a. m.

Pitt Thespians Stage Three Plays

By E. REEVES COCHRAN

The class of play production at the University of Pittsburgh, under supervision of Prof. Carl Cass offered its fourth and last bill of the school year at Falk Elementary School last evening. The performances are part of the college curriculum.

Last evening's bill consisted of three one act plays, all interesting, but by far the most successful was "The Eligible Mr. Bangs," a very clever farce by Robert Housum. Miss Anna Rose, as a young lady who trapped her quarry into a proposal and made him like it, brought a surprising sense of comedy to the play, which met with instant response from the audience. John Hesselbein, as the trapped young man, displayed poise and ability. The two were well supported by Marian Epping and John Luttrell.

Barrie's well-known "Twelve Pound Look," made to order for Ethel Barrymore's peculiar excellences was rather too mature for undergraduate abilities but Edna Horvitz carried off the Barrymore role well, while Margaret Lewis was effective in a part for which she was well cast.

"Will o' the Wisp," a fantasy by Dorothy Holman, produced an eerie effect with very simple means, the cast being all feminine. Rhea Kolker, as the poet's wife come to trace the source of his dreams, acted with pleasing grace and distinction. Frances Goodwin, as the country woman, set the tone of the play, and difficult roles were capably played by Janet Savage and Mary Rubino.

The plays will be repeated this evening and Thursday.

HISS VILLAIN FOR VILLAINY

Century Club Stages Drama Written In 1829

By CHESTER B. STORY

Hisses and catcalls for the villain, cheers for the handsome hero, and tears for the hapless heroine greeted the performance last night at the Twentieth Century Club of the Stage and Play Society's seventy-second production, the very ripe old English melodrama, "Black-Eyed Susan or All in the Downs," a domestic and nautical drama written by Douglas Jerrold and first produced for a run of several years at the Royal Surrey Theater, London, in 1828.

The highly artificial plot and the equally artificial dialogue are endurable by a modern audience only when played in a satiric mood. This light touch was admirably brought out by the directors, Theodore Viehman and James W. Macfarlane.

The 10 scenes of the play were also in old-fashioned sets of "flats" run in "grooves" and added to the amusement by their consistent inconsistency.

The plot concerns the woes of Black-Eyed Susan, capably played by Mary W. Knox, who remains ever true to her absent sailor-husband despite all traps and temptations. William, the husband, returns in the nick of time to rescue her from sundry villians. Then he is himself condemned to death for striking his captain, but at the last moment is miraculously saved. The work of Paul A. M. Snyder in this role was one of the high lights of the play.

Harold Geoghegan, by expressive pantomine, made much of Raker, and another villian, Doggrass, was well done by Bennett Rodgers. Other outstanding performers were Murray Grimes as Gratbrain, James W. Macfarlane as Hatchet, and C. Morrison Fitch as Jacob Twig. Twig's reformation in the second act was an escepially humorous bit.

Others in the large cast were Frani Blough in the second feminene part, Charles S. Wunder, Clark Miller, Reginald Stanborough, Howard G. Wilbert, John S. Schroeder, and Richard Kimball.

Clark Miller's rich voice won plaudits when he sang, unaccompanied, the favorite old sailors' ballad, "The Parting of William and Susan." The lines "Blow soft, ye winds, and waft fair William back to his almost broken hearted Susan" indicate the sentimental quality of the chantey.

In addition to the above, a group of eight performed old English country dances during the course of the play. They were Katherine McConnell, Gwendolyn Holmes, Alice Rust, Ann Hamilton, Jack Evans, Bailey Gordon, William G. Costin, Jr., and John Gibson.

Old Costumes, Lines Provide Laughs For Audience

An amusing yet effective setting was that for the court martial of William. Eight of the captains were silent painted figures, done by Howard Wilbert.

The general stage managers, Mrs. H. Allen Machesney and James W. Macfarlane, did much to aid the directors in bringing out the laughable nature of the whole play. A society audience thoroughly enjoyed the extremely salty tang of the lines, the overdone sentimentality of the characters, and the ridiculous sequence of events.

STOCK MARKET HAS FIRM TONE

NEW YORK, April 11.—Financial markets were fairly cheerful today, but speculative forces were not inclined to let bullish enthusiasm run away with discretion.

Stocks generally were steady to firm, although there were a few soft spots in the motors and other categories attributed partly to fear of more strike difficulties. The activity was not exceptional. Rubber, copper and silver were about steady and grains and cotton were only slightly changed. Bonds displayed a moderately upward slant. Foreign exchanges were featureless.

Shares up around a point included several specialties and such issues as Case, du Pont, American Tobacco B, American Can, United States Gypsum, United States Steel preferred, American Rolling Mill, American Commercial Alcohol, National Distillers and Armour preferred. The alcohols probably were the most active on rumors that some of the distilling companies might declare a dividend. General Motors, Chryslers and Nash sagged. United States Smelting lost a point and the other metals eased. American Telephone and most of the utilities were a trifle lower. The various steels improved, as did several of the rails.

Pending further clarification of scattered labor situations and the much-dispute exchange control bill, brokerage circles were advising discrimination in both trading and investment commitments.

BANKS ASSIST U.S. PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, April 11—(AP.)—Columns of paid advertising in newspapers scattered throughout the country was the ready banking response today to Secretary Morgenthau's appeal for co-operation in speeding the exchange of new Treasury bonds for a billion in fourth Liberties maturing April 15.

The Treasury's request for aid in reaching holders of 1,250,000 separate bonds went to 13,800 banks belonging to the deposit insurance corporation.

The difficulty of reaching many small bondholders was stressed by Morgenthau in pointing out that in the called Liberty series, there are 340,000 separate $50 bonds and 400,000 of $100 each.

At the close of business last night exchange subscriptions came to $675,000,000. The offer closes tomororow night and interest on the outstanding bonds ceases April 15.

Pittsburgh banks responded whole-heartedly to the Treasury's request for aid in the program. The Union Trust Company and others advised their clients and friends through advertisements of the desirability of the exchange.

RULING BREAKS RYE PRICE

CHICAGO, April 11.—Sharp breaks in rye quotations carried the rye market down 2⅜ cents a bushel late today, and had some bearish effect on other grains.

Unfavorable reports of the rye crop in North Dakota failed to counterbalance Washington news that enforcement of an additional duty on imports of Polish rye into the United States had been officially refused. The trade also ignored the all-time record low condition the government crop report showed for rye.

Auto Output to Break Four Year Record

By GEORGE H. SYNDER
Business Editor

THE AUTOMOBILE makers have scheduled the greatest production for April of any month in the past four years. Unless labor troubles reach a serious stage this output will be attained with a consequent stimulation to many Pittsburgh industries which supply materials and parts to the motor trade.

The industry expects to build between 375,000 and 400,000 cars and trucks this month. This would be from 17 per cent to 25 per cent more than the output for March which has been estimated at 320,000 units and which was more than double the output for April, 1933.

The indicated output for this month is the greatest since May, 1930.

Future Rests With Labor

THE SETTLEMENT of the strike at the Motor Products plant removed one of the greatest menaces to a large portion of the motor car production. This company supplies window ventilators, instrument panels and interior metal trim to most of the automobile companies outside of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler are its biggest customers.

At several other points, however, labor troubles either are at an acute stage or are threatening. This will make news of the labor situation in the automobile industry of extreme importance in the coming weeks and the success of efforts to keep peace will have much to do with the continuation of recovery in the Pittsburgh district.

Steel Shipments Have Big Gain

SHIPMENTS MADE by the United States Steel Corporation in March and announced yesterday greatly exceeded expectations. They totaled 588,309 tons for the month. This was an increase of 202,809 tons over February. It was more than double the shipments of March, 1933.

Current gains in steel production and orders indicate that further expansion will be reported in shipments for April. The expansion in steel use now taking place is not entirely attributable to the automobile trade. Other industries are taking their share. Railroad buying, in particular, is helping mills in the Pittsburgh district.

Auto Financing Up 100% From Year Ago

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(INS.)—Automobile financing both wholesale and retail showed a gain of approximately 100 per cent in February, compared with the same period last year, according to figures reported today by the Commerce Department after a survey of 282 identical organizations.

Wholesale financing during February this year totaled $61,513,896 as compared with $27,514,654.

News and Views

SHOE PRODUCTION RISES

January production of boots and shoes totaled 25,180,079 pairs, an increase over the previous month and January a year ago, according to the Department of Commerce. December output totaled 20,094,994 pairs. Production for January 1933 was 22,715,815 pairs.

MARCH FLOUR OUTPUT

March flour production in the country's principal milling centers totaled 5,588,186 barrels against 5,671,696 barrels during March a year ago, reports General Mills, Inc.

VISIBLE TIN SUPPLY

World's visible supply of tin decreased 1,271 tons to 20,243 tons during March. Straits shipments for the month totaled 5,181 tons.

LOCAL STOCKS IN BETTER DEMAND

Prices were steady to firm on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today as the markets gave further evidence of improved feeling following yesterday's substantial rise on the "big board." Stocks continued to push ahead in New York, slowly but with noticeable persistence. A little profit-taking made its appearance but offerings from this source were not sufficient to impair the general tendency of the market. Heavy industrials were the favorites but there was a fair market for specialties also.

On the local board, the changes were narrow as a ruel but a few stocks showed decided firmness. Pittsburgh Plate Glass pushed up steadily to above 50, reaching new high ground for the year. Pittsburgh Brewing preferred held yesterday's gain and the company's 6 per cent bonds made a round top of 100, up 1½ from the last previous close. Low priced brewings were quiet and narrow.

COTTON HOLDS STEADY

NEW YORK, April 11.—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 4 higher on trade buying of near months and on a constructive view of prospective legislation on silver and crop control. May, 12.08; July, 12.17; October, 12.31; December, 12.41; January, 12.49; March, 12.55.

Houses with foreign connections were buying at the opening and there was a scattered demand, but it was supplied at about the initial prices and the market eased slightly under realizing or liquidation. July contracts after selling at 12.17 reacted to 12.15 and active months ruled about net unchanged at the end of the first half hour.

Except for further May liquidation and switching from May to later deliveries, the market showed no special trading feature later in the morning and prices moved within a very narrow range.

After selling off from 12.17 to 12.14, or about 2 points net lower, July was ruling around 12.15 at midday, with the general market net unchanged to 2 points lower.

Republic Operating At 55% of Capacity

NEW YORK, April 11.—(INS.)—The annual stockholders' meeting of Republic Steel Corporation, one of the leading independents, today brought further evidence of the recovery in the industry.

Republic is currently running at 55 per cent of capacity, T. M. Girdler, chairman and president, told stockholders. This rate is higher than that of the industry at large.

Gasoline Supply Shows Decrease

NEW YORK, April 11.—The American Petroleum Institute reports stocks of finished gasoline at refineries and at bulk terminals in transit and pipe lines totaled 57,583,000 barrels during week ended April 7, a decline of 304,000 barrels. Domestic crude oil output averaged 2,337,650 barrels daily, up 12,800 barrels over previous week.

'NEW DEAL' NOT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY

By LEWIS HANEY

Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, April 11.—The other day some one said that schemes of reform always come after business depressions. His idea seemed to be that the new deal, and other "deals" proposed in such periods in the past, are just a sort of political measles, and will pass in time.

Accordingly, such persons try to belittle anyone who fears social revolution now. They say that the older anti-trust movement, and the attacks on the "oil trust," the "beef trust," etc., were once feared as entering wedges for socialism. They add that railway rate regulation was feared by some as leading to general price fixing.

Then they jump to the conclusion that there is nothing more to be feared in the "reforms" now proposed by new dealers.

But the whole force of this argument depends upon the assumed similarity of the new deal problem and the "trust busting" or "railway regulating" proposals of earlier times. I think that there is a deep and essential difference. I do not believe that criticism of the radical philosophy back of the new deal program should be hushed by saying, "Oh, well, it will blow over. It is just another wave of depression discontent."

For example, I, like many economists, have always advocated the prevention of unnecessary combinations, the regulation of monopolies, and control over railway rates. But I, like most economists, do not favor forcing industry into cartels, encouraging monopolistic practices, or general price fixing.

I believe in the existence of important economic laws, and in adjusting government policies accordingly; not in denying economic laws or seeking some idealistic scheme of "social justice" which runs to such laws.

MAINTAIN COMPETITION

In earlier reforms, following depressions, the idea in this country has always been to maintain and foster competition, not to destroy it and establish monopoly. The idea has been to help the little "independents," not to weaken them.

But now the fundamental issue is between individualism and social control. (A symptom is the attack on "rugged individualism.")

Now the government goes into controlling the dry cleaning and delicatessen business, and controls cotton farms.

Now the distribution of incomes is to be controlled, and "profits" are to be transferred to "wages."

Never before have we had an administration in power that deliberately adopted a monetary policy which runs counter to the established body of economic thought, by abandoning the gold standard, repudiating government promises to pay gold, and devaluing the dollar.

Note that the new dealers have stood for control, not for regulation. They are not satisfied with merely establishing rules to govern the economic game, but desire to organize and direct it, deciding how much shall be produced and at what prices products shall be sold.

HASTE SIGNIFICANT

Their haste to seize "emergency" powers and put across "emergency" reforms, has more signification than at first appears. It has led to premature action which could not be based upon careful study and appraisal of causes. In some cases, a punitive spirit has been apparent. In general, the demand for "emergency" powers has gone along with acts which have been so revolutionary that they could not be justified under the Constitution.

So the issues raised by the less radical thinkers are not to be dismissed so lightly. The plain fact is that the President must now decide what the way is which we are on. Are we on the way to "the left" (radicalism), or to the right" (conservatism), or to "the center" (liberalism)?

Tell us, Mr. President.

POWER OUTPUT GAIN LESS

NEW YORK, Apil 11.—(AP.)—The Edison Electric Institute reported today that last week's output of electricity in the United States was 1,616,945,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 1,665,650,000 the previous week.

The increase over a year ago was 15.5 per cent, compared with an increase of 18.8 per cent registered for the week before.

Regional gains from 1933 for last week were:

New England district, 16 per cent, against a rise of 17.3 per cent the week before; middle Atlantic states, 10.5 per cent against 14.4; central industrial, 21.3 against 27.4; west central, 11 against 10.5; southern states, 14.3 against 17.2; Rocky Mountain, 20.8 against 22.1; Pacific Coast, 12.9 against 12.75.

ForbesTells Investment Method

By B. C. FORBES

"WHAT SHALL I BUY?"

THAT QUESTION constantly comes to the writer. It is not within his province to tell others what securities to buy or sell. I have no particular objection, however, to telling occasionally, anyone, who may be interested, the path I myself am following investmentwise.

Mr. Forbes

When second-grade bonds were selling from 30 to 50 cents on the dollar, I adopted this plan: I tried to figure out which companies would remain solvent. Then I selected whichever bond of such companies offered the highest yield, regardless of the specific security behind it.

At that time it was possible to obtain an income yield of 10 to 15 per cent.

The majority of bonds then purchased have since doubled in market value. As the price rose towards a point where the yield on the current quotation approached 6 per cent, I sold out and reinvested the proceeds in issues offering a return of at least 10 per cent.

Thus far this plan has proved extremely profitable.

So many common stocks ceased paying dividends that, in order to obtain a reasonable amount of income from my holdings, I sold such issues as seemed most unlikely to attain dividend rank in the measurable future and invested the proceeds in bonds paying a very handsome return.

Moreover, some time ago I decided that there were various preferred stocks netting 10 per cent or better which were worth buying. So far, not one issue selected has stopped its dividend. Here, also, the results have been most satisfactory.

For anyone who is carrying a large assortment of non-dividend paying common stocks, or for anyone owning mainly government bonds yielding a return insufficient to live on, this policy of putting some money into high-yielding bonds of well-established companies and also preferred stocks of companies that promise to maintain their preferred payments may possess appeal.

My reasoning was that we were headed for more or less inflation and that it would be desirable to increase one's investment income if this could be done without incurring undue risk. The dollar has already been reduced to 59 cents, the general price level has advanced materially during the last 12 months, and the prospect is that this trend will continue.

If recovery goes on, the great majority of corporations that have been able to pull through the depression should better their financial position, and thus be able to maintain their interest and whatever dividend rates they have been paying during lean years.

Of course, those who have so much capital that they can afford to accept a very low return would be foolish to invest in any bonds or preferred stocks or other stocks whose stability might occasion them concern. First-class securities still are preferable to second-class securities where rate of yield is unimportant.

DON'T ENVY President Roosevelt. 'Tis to be hoped he doesn't know the numerousness or magnitude or complexity of the problems which will be dumped into his lap immediately on his return to the White House. He will find himself confronted with the necessity of stepping towards the left, or towards the center, or towards the right. The growing expectation is that he will not step towards the left.

Among other subjects, the President will find countless tariff questions urgently demanding his attention. Which products should be kept out, which let in? Which tariff rates should be raised, which should be lowered?

"But," President William Berg, of Health Products, points out, "there is not enough cod liver oil and halibut liver oil in America to supply the demand—nor is the quality ideally suitable for medicine. Consequently, the suggested tax would probably raise the cost 50 per cent, putting it beyond the reach of millions of modestly-circumstanced families."

Don't envy President Roosevelt!

PIT HEAD RAPS CONTROLL BILL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Declaring that legislation of the past 30 years has worked against the farmer, Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, today asked that action on the commodity exchange control bill be postponed until the next session of Congress.

A statement by Carey was read before the House Agriculture Committee by Robert P. Boylan, vice president of the Chicago trade body.

Carey said that the grain exchange code had been signed only 10 days ago and had not yet been given a trial.

Carey predicted that if the commodity exchange control bill is approved by Congress under present conditions futures markets would be wiped out within a few months.

HIGHER PRICES SPUR STEEL BUYING

NEW YORK, April 11.—Iron Age says:

The general advance in iron and steel prices had the effect of driving in an unusually large volume of business. In some products bookings for the second quarter are two to three times those of the first quarter and contract commitments, as a whole, are fully 50 per cent larger than in the initial period. Certain classes of mills already have made commitments for all the steel they can roll provided consumers take out the maximum tonnages covered by their contracts.

Raw steel requirements of mills are increasing with ingot output up to 49½ per cent from 48½ per cent a week ago and still further gains in production are looked for during the remainder of April and in May, barring another outbreak of labor difficulties in the automobile industry.

While rail contracting will probably be concluded shortly with the placing of orders by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Norfolk and Western, a sizeable car and locomotive program including both the purchase of new equipment and extensive repairs to existing rolling stock remains to be carried out.

Pending the effective dates of new prices, the Iron Age composites for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $16.90 a gross ton and 2.028 cents a pound, respectively. The scrap composite also is unaltered at $12.58 a gross ton.

Corporate Earnings

Electric Products Corporation report for 1933 shows net profit, before taxes, of $25,390 compared with a deficit of $139,000 in 1932.

Madison Square Garden Corporation earned 38 cents a share in the quarter ended February 28, against 29 cents in the like quarter of 1933.

SECOND BASE REMAINS PROBLEM WITH BUCS' PILOT

JAMES J. LONG'S SPORTS COMMENT

Buc Rookies Unusual Lot
None Proves Real Failure
Ice Trailers Now Champs
Old and Modern Baseball
Army Men Stay on Grid
Boxer in Three Classes

It isn't often that any major league baseball club can boast a spring crop of rookies without a single total failure: that is, even one recruit so lacking in promise as to warrant an outright release. But that's the unusual record of the Pirates for 1934.

Lloyd Johnson

Every newcomer not retained is being sent out merely for further experience, with a view to a later trial. Art Veltman and Cookie Lavagetto have made good and are fixtures. Nick Etten went to Little Rock in the Southern Association with a string attached. It's under an option also that Elmer Trapp goes to Albany in the International League, this big jump from the sandlots to Class AA speaking volumes for the natural ability of the Wilkinsburg infielder.

Lloyd Johnson, who needs only to recover the fast ball he is known to possess normally, is one of those t be dropped later, but he will be pro ed by a repurchase privilege. If Cy Blanton is not actually kept, he will be farmed only under an agreement providing for a recall on short notice. And if Bill Brubaker may be counted in, though this is not his first trial with the Bucs, he also will be under option when he departs. Out of seven recruits, two have made the grade, another still has a chance, and all the rest are considered good enough for future tryouts. Not a real failure in the lot, which is a rarity in spring experiments. It says much for the quality of the Pittsburgh rookie division as a bunch far above the average, and is a big boost for the judgment of the Pirate scouting staff.

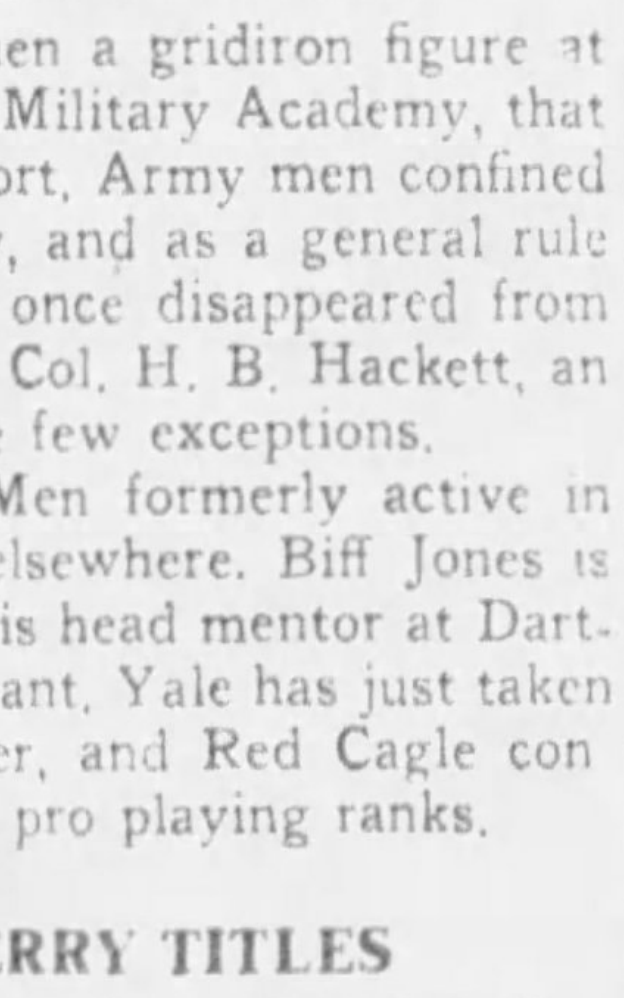
HOCKEY TRAILERS CROWNED WORLD CHAMPS

When you're licked in any other sport, you're licked, and the honors of victory rightfully go to the one that really won them, but in hockey the ridiculous money-getting play-off system makes it possible for a club that was defeated in the true test of a full season to become champion of the world in a few games afterward. This absurdity is in evidence again in the capture of the Stanley Cup and the world title by the Chicago Black Hawks, who made it three out of four from Detroit and took the final play-off round by defeating the Red Wings in Chicago last night, 1 to 0.

The National League spent five months to eliminate only three clubs out of nine. The best that Chicago could do in the regular season was to finish second to Detroit in the American division. Disregarding the ties, Detroit won 24 games and lost 14, while Chicago's record showed only 20 victories against 17 defeats. In the International group, Toronto did better than either, winning 26 and losing only 13. Chicago, therefore, ranked no higher than third in the league. And in the matter of games won, Les Canadiens with 22 and the New York Rangers with 21 also surpassed Chicago, so that the Hawks ranked only fifth, as measured by victories. Yet, the Stanley Cup now goes to these same Hawks, and they're called champions of the world because they won a short series from a club which, in the regular season, they were able to beat only once in six games. Toronto, the team with the best record of all, did not even get into the final round. Neither of the first-place clubs was in the deciding series of 1927-28. One of them was missing from the 1928-29 final. A third-ranking club won the cup in 1929-30, again last year, and again this year. Why have the regular hockey season at all? Seemingly it doesn't mean anything.

PLAYERS OF PAST AND PRESENT COMPARED

Asked whether he considered baseball's old-timers superior to the present generation, Connie Mack, who has seen them all since 1887, replied that in the old days there were more GREAT ball players and today there are more GOOD ball players; that the general standard of play is higher today. In olden times, Mack recalls, there were from 15 to 20 men who stood head and shoulders above the field, and who would have been great players in any decade of the game.



Connie Mack

There are more good ones now, Connie goes on, because in the old days baseball paid little. A man could earn about as much being a day laborer as he could earn in baseball, and being a day laborer carried a lot more security as to steady employment. Therefore few really capable men were attracted to the diamond sport. But today a player of ability can earn more money in baseball than in doing anything else, and that's why far greater numbers are attracted. Connie sees an edge for players of the present in the matter of condition. He says it took the old-timers many weeks to get into shape, and often they were not fit when the season opened.

ARMY FOOTBALL MEN CARRY ON ELSEWHERE

Football folk used to say that when a gridiron figure at West Point wound up his career at the Military Academy, that meant the last of him in the pigskin sport. Army men confined their football activities to the Academy, and as a general rule when they had finished there they at once disappeared from view and the game saw them no more. Col. H. B. Hackett, an official for many years, was one of the few exceptions.

But that no longer holds good. Men formerly active in football at West Point now carry on elsewhere. Biff Jones is coaching at Louisiana State. Red Blaik is head mentor at Dartmouth and has Fats Elinger as an assistant. Yale has just taken on Frank Wandle, former Army trainer, and Red Cagle continues to be one of the standouts in the pro playing ranks.

KLICK SEEKS THREE QUEENSBERRY TITLES

Boxing fans may be pardoned for wondering to what class Frankie Klick belongs. He appears to be a sort of adjustable fighter, suiting himself to whatever division happens to offer an opportunity for the winning of a championship. Klick is bent on bagging a title, and evidently isn't a bit particular as to where he gets it, for he is on record as a challenger for no fewer than three different crowns.

Frankie Klick

After knocking out Kid Chocolate in an over-the-weight match, Frankie promptly filed with the New York Commission a challenge to Chocolate for a title fight, and when the commissioners deposed Chocolate as champion for his failure to accept that challenge, the Californian at once filed his entry for the featherweight championship elimination tournament. Last month Klick got a draw with Barney Ross in a non-titular meeting, and at once challenged Ross to a championship match, and now it is announced that Frankie will seek a bout for the welterweight crown with the winner of the proposed Jimmy McLarnin-Barney Ross fight on May 28.

And Now It's the International Team for Buff Donnelli

ALDO (BUFF) DONNELLI IN CLOSEUP, AS HE APPEARED AS A FOOTBALL PLAYER FOR DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY AND AS A SOCCER STAR TODAY

A new chapter in the brilliant athletic career of Aldo (Buff) Donnelli, dawns with his selection to represent the United States in the international matches in Rome, Italy, beginning May 24. He has starred in athletics for Bridgeville High School and Duquesne University and as a district soccer player and is the freshman football and basketball coach of Duquesne University and a candidate for the Legislature. He captained the Duquesne University football team two seasons. He has had several offers to play soccer professionally in this country and England, but has declined them, only to be rated a professional in the end because of his football coaching. Buff is considered the greatest soccer goal kicker ever developed in these parts, and, with his brother, Fred, has been starring for the Curry team. They helped Heidelberg to win national honors in the days when that team was at its peak. These are Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph pictures.

INTER-LEAGUE RACE CLOSE

NEW YORK, April 11.—(AP.)—With only a week to go before the big show opens, the National League clubs still held a comfortable margin over their American League rivals today in the Grapefruit League competition.

The margin, however, was smaller than it was a week ago, due largely to the consistency with which the Cleveland Indians have beaten the World Champion New York Giants in their spring series. To date the National League clubs have chalked up 42 victories in inter-league competition against 35 for the American League entries.

Last week the National had a nine-game margin. But since then the Indians have beaten the Giants four times in five clashes to climb up among the leading teams in the competition and a couple of other American League teams have shown signs of improvement.

The results, which will be wiped out as soon as the regular season opens, points to the St. Louis and Chicago National League clubs as a couple of dangerous customers and Cleveland as a standout in the junior circuit. The Giants, despite their trouble with Cleveland, have been the heaviest winners in the inter-league competition with nine victories. But they also have the largest loss figure, 10. The Boston Braves, with seven triumphs, and Chicago's White Sox, with six, also rate up among the big winners.

The Cards head the list individually with five victories and two defeats, followed by Cleveland with 6 and 3, and the Cubs with 4 and 2. The Boston Red Sox, touted as a coming first-division team, are largely responsible for the American League's poor showing, winning only two of their ten games with National League clubs. The results to date:

Kittanning Mushers Plan Fast League

KITTANNING, April 11.—The Kittanning Mushball League, reorganized at a meeting here last night, probably will start six or more teams in a flag race during the first week in May. Officers elected at last night's meeting included Wayne Owen, president, Walter Morris, secretary, and R. G. Best, treasurer.

A constitution and by-laws committee, including Edward Cree, Paul Libarakis and Walter Morris, was directed to report at a meeting scheduled for next Monday night with the rules which will govern the league during the coming season.

Cambridge Booters Crush Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., April 11.—(INS.)—The Cambridge University rugby team, of England, defeated the Princeton fifteen, 40 to 10, here yesterday, the English team outplaying the Nassau team, scoring almost at will. Graham Parker was high point man for the visitors, making two tries and four conversions.

Princeton scored once in each period. Herb Cragin took the ball from a scrum on the 10-yard line and went across for the first Tiger try. Jim Sinclair, Tiger forward, made the other Princeton try two minutes before the game ended after Halton had run the ball down. Halton converted both tries.

BUCS TO PLAY NATS HERE

Joe Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators, will return to familiar scenes when his American League champions oppose the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition game at Forbes Field Saturday afternoon.

Back in 1925, when the Pirates, then National League champions, defeated the Senators in the world series, Cronin was trying to break into the regular Buc lineup as shortstop. He remained with the Bucs during the next two years, but was unable to make any headway and was sold to Kansas City.

The Senators purchased him in 1928 and he immediately blossomed into one of the brightest stars in the major leagues. Saturday's game finds Cronin not only returning to Pittsburgh as a full-fledged star, but manager of a major league championship club.

An added attraction is in store for Pirate fans Saturday. The Nats will be accompanied by their famous comedy team of Nick Altrock and Al Schacht.

GOLF PROGRAM FOR SEALS

The Trained Seals of the Sports Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph go agolfing tonight.

They'll feature two of the golf celebrities of the Pittsburgh district in a 15-minute radio program over WCAE at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Chester H. Lehman, president of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania, and Sam Parks, Jr., professional of the South Hills Country Club, will be the guest speakers, being interviewed by Tom Birks, golf editor, and Harry Keck, sports editor.

Parks has played from coast to coast during the winter season and will tell of his experiences, while Mrs. Lehman will reveal the plans of the women golfers of the district for the season just getting under way.

Heller Resigns Johnstown Post

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 11.—(AP.)—Resignation of Warren Heller, former all-America halfback at Pitt, as assistant coach of athletics at Johnstown High school, has been announced.

No statement accompanied his resignation or the school board's acceptance of it. Heller has been assistant to Head Coach Joe Harrick for a year. It is understood he will play professionally with the Pittsburgh Pirates next fall.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 11.—With the start of the National League season less than one week away, Pirate Manager George Gibson today is unable to say who will be at the second base post in the jump-off contest. Gibby also said he was undecided as to the identity of his opening day pitcher.

Touching on the keystone situation, the pilot said:

"You may say it will be either Lavagetto or Thevenow at second base next Tuesday when we open in St. Louis. Right now I am unable to say which of the two will be in there when the gong sounds. Both Harry and Tommy are in the pink. Thevenow has not been starting the games, but he is in action on the infield every day. He will be ready to play second if called upon."

YOUNG AT THIRD

Gibson also made an important disclosure concerning Infielder Pep Young, who was ushered onto the third base job yesterday. One of the most improved players of the Pittsburgh recruits, Young has endeared himself to the manager. Speaking of Pep, Gibby exclaimed:

"I guess you noticed where I had Young in yesterday's game. He looks pretty good on third, doesn't he? Well, I hope Pie is able to stay in there, but you know his arm is a source of some concern. Pep has a great arm and he can play the position. If an emergency arises at the hot corner, we want to be ready for it and that's why we're grooming Pep as Pie's understudy."

The Pirates and White Sox players were tickled to be out of the desert sand belt as they continued their warfare in Oklahoma City this afternoon. The major league stars frolicked on a sandy ball orchard yesterday at Tucumcari, the Buccos winning, 12 to 7, to take a six-to-five advantage in the long barnstorming series. The big leaguers opened a new park in the little desert town. Spectators came from great distances and upwards to 2,000 enjoyed the spectacle. The playing field was the largest the athletes had yet seen. Homers struck by Suhr, Grace and Chamberlain were all hit inside the park.

The drive of the White Sox rookie was so deep he strolled in from third as Woodie Jensen shagged the ball. Suhr's homer was struck with the bases filled.

FRENCH GOES ROUTE

Larry French added another full game to his spring training jousts, the hard-working left-hander pitching shutout ball for five innings. The White Sox committed no less than seven errors while the Pirates injected three into the proceedings.

Gallivan, Pomorski and Stine pitched for the Fonseca clan. The first-named has been chosen to pitch the opener Tuesday. Pep Young, subbing for Pie Traynor at third base, was slightly cut by Recruit Bocke's spikes in the eighth inning, but the injury was very slight. Red Lucas was slated to face the White Sox this afternoon.

CHILLYSAUCE

The ball park opened by the Pirates and White Sox at Tucumcari yesterday is in keeping with the desert waste lands in its size. The fences are 600 feet or more from the plate. A local business man got some free advertising by offering $1,000 to any member of the two major clubs that hit a ball out of the lot. That is the equivalent of a 400-yard golf drive to give you an idea of the chance the merchant was taking.

When Honus Wagner came into the vast playground he glanced around the outskirts and shouted: "Well, we finally found a park that Al Simmons can't hit one out of."

One of the curious correspondents asked a native how many acres were included in the ball orchard. The native replied: "Well, stranger, we don't go in much for acres around here."

The job of retrieving foul balls during the batting drills of the major leaguers was entrusted to a mounted cowboy. It wasn't much of a trick for this clever rider to run down the balls. The Buccos lost about three dozen balls in the melee.

The hunger of desert fans for baseball was reflected in their actions at Tucumcari. Early birds were parked in the little wooden stands before noon and almost 200 automobiles fringed the playing field at gametime. The fence is being made of adobe brick.

When Zeke Bonura singled to center in the sixth inning, the big Italian rang up his twenty-first consecutive game of hitting. The big rookie will have to overcome a fielding weakness to be rated as a high class defense man, but he surely can hit.

Shortstop Elmer Trapp is on his way to Pittsburgh. Transferred under option to the Albany club of the International League, Elmer will await instructions at his Wilkinsburg home. The Pirates feel he will make the International League grade.

SCHMERTZ ELECTED PRESIDENT OF DISTRICT NET GROUP

LOCAL TOURNEY DATES ARE SET FOR SEASON

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The Pittsburgh Tennis Association convened at the P. A. A. in annual session last evening and ran the gamut all the way from election of a virtually brand new slate of officers to adoption of a constitution and indorsement of a resolution urging Mayor McNair to sign the daylight saving proclamation.

Robert C. Schmertz, former Princeton star, unanimously was chosen to succeed his Stanton Heights clubmate, J. Phillips Davis, as president of the association. As a matter of fact, Chairman Karl Wolf's entire nominating committee slate went through unopposed with the following result as to the remainder of the official group: Charles Lockhart, Pittsburgh Golf Club, first vice president; James MacKay, Minnetonka Canoe Club, second vice president; John H. Miller, Jr., College Avenue Tennis Club, treasurer; the writer, secretary.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Under the freshly ratified constitution, P. T. A. governing power will be vested mainly in an executive committee composed of the five officers, one representative from each division of the Inter-Club League, and three past presidents of the organization. Frank S. Smith, late of Edgewood and now of Stanton Heights, was elected delegate from Division 1, with J. M. Dixon, of Rockwood, carrying the standard of the secondary portion of the circuit. Davis, J. Howard Moore, of College Avenue, and Frank S. McClintock, of University Club, comprise the ex-presidential trio.

The forty-sixth Western Pennsylvania championships were awarded to Stanton Heights, the North Aiken outfit thus bagging the district classic for the sixth consecutive year. Competition will get under way on Saturday, June 16, and will terminate on Sunday, June 24. Meanwhile the Allegheny County championships, revived on the Westinghouse Club layout out the Greensburg Pike last summer, were re-awarded to the Electrics, the affair to begin on or about June 28 and to wind up on Independence Day.

The West Penn Junior and Boys' meeting was set for July 16 and ensuing days and goes, as usual to the Carnegie Tech lot. The Pittsburgh Center Junior and Boys' event starts on July 25 and the P. A. A. lands the nod.

MAY ENLARGE GROUP

Outgoing President Davis announced that there is excellent prospect that before the outdoor campaign is far along the association will be augmented by addition of such outstanding outfits as the Fox Chapel Golf Club, the Westmoreland Country Club, the Edgeworth Club, and the Pittsburgh Country Club. Two or more of these may enter teams in the 1934 Inter-Club loop race, as may Pittsburgh Golf Club, long a passive member of the P. T. A.

There is talk, too, of a minor league to be built around the nucleus of Gilbert Keisling's Fifth-Shady contingent.

The capacity throng in attendance included:

J. Phillips Davis, Robert S. Schmertz, Karl G. Wolfe, G. D. Henderson, Frank S. Smith and H. M. Rinehart, of Stanton Heights; William J. Clardy and S. L. Burgwin, of Westinghouse; Ferd T. Weil, of Westmoreland; Charles W. Hatch, David S. Thomson and J. M. Dixon, of Rockwood; James I. Patin, of Belmont; J. D. Mattern and A. D. McCabe, Jr., of University Club; Dr. Charles H. Cochran and Frank Broida, of Edgewood; John K. Brown, of Mt. Lebanon; Julius Boise, of Allegheny Country Club; Gilbert E. Keisling, of Fifth-Shady; Robert R. Miller, of Shannopin; Clarence P. Tiers, Austin Famariss, Rogert Deney and J. Howard Moore, of College avenue; James MacKay, of Minnetonka; R. J. Moore, Jack Redmond, Dr. W. S. McEllroy, Dr. David L. O'Loughlin, Dr. John L. O'Loughlin, Edward D. Seitz and Harry Seymour.

UPSETS MARK GOLF PLAY

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 11.—(AP.)—Two major upsets marked the first round of match play in the Mason and Dixon amateur golf tournament as Roof Gilson, of Jackson, Mich., the defending champion, and the veteran Harrison Smith, of Oklahoma City, were eliminated by the same scores, 3 and 2.

Gilson, husband of Georgia Coleman, the Olympic diving champion, fell before the steady playing of Robert A. Stranahan, of Toledo, O., yesterday, while Smith lost to James Watt, of Lynchburg, Va., a Washington and Lee sophomore.

All of the other favorites advanced to the quarter-final round, although Arthur Lynch, co-medalist with E. G. Livesay, of Columbus, O., had a close call before winning from John Forsman, New York, on the nineteenth hole. Livesay easily defeated Gerald Shattuck, New York, 5 and 4.

BOBBY JONES LAUDS PLAY OF RUNYAN

By BOBBY JONES

Only Golfer to Win U. S. and British Amateur and Open Titles in Same Year.

The Augusta tournament, although it gave me little satisfaction so far as my own game was concerned, nevertheless provided me with two extremely interesting playing partners in the persons of Paul Runyan and Walter Hagen. I was most anxious to form some opinion of Runyan's game, and no better opportunity could be had than to play two competitive rounds in his company.

It may be said that Runyan lived up nobly to the high rating which had been given him, based upon his splendid and consistent scoring on the winter circuit. The fact that he came to Augusta fresh from his great scoring spree at Charleston weighed rather against him than otherwise, for no one can keep going at top speed for an indefinite period. A golfer's game goes in cycles while he is playing up to the top, at the peak, and down the slope until he begins to work up again. With these considerations Runyan's total of 286 was remarkably good, especially after his mediocre first round.

EXPENDS GREAT EFFORT

Paul is neither large nor powerful and one has the feeling that what distance he gets off the tee costs him a great deal of effort. By hitting the ball a bit upward to give it roll he manages to keep up fairly well, but he appears to have little in reserve. He himself confesses that he is not a good long-hole player, because stretching out for extra length more often than not causes him to mishit his drive. This proved to be true in this first round, when a slight adverse wind prevented his even trying to get home on the fourth and sixth, two holes which the longer hitters were fetching with two good shots.

However, this is not such a serious handicap when one considers all of his capabilities. Indeed, if he could overcome it at the Augusta National, where all the par 5s are designed to be reached by two powerful shots, it should not destroy him elsewhere, for the disadvantage is removed as soon as the hole becomes so long that no one else can reach it in 2.

When he is driving for normal length, Runyan is very, very straight and long enough. He is an amazingly accurate spoon player, and as good as anyone I have seen with the short irons. On and around the greens he is marvelous. When his putter is hot, I can conceive of no one beating him often over a short course. The average American course, made up of a number of drive-and-pitch holes with two or three very long ones thrown in, should be exactly to his order.

I always enjoy playing with Hagen. I like the way he plays the game and takes the breaks, good and bad. In the third round—our first together—the old boy was hitting the ball beautifully, and although he slipped one or two putts he might have holed, his score of 70 was very good, indeed. The next day things did not go so well, but I am sure I must have been a consolation to him, as he was to me.

Far East Olympic Games in Danger

SHANGHAI, April 11.—(AP.)—Further doubt was cast that the scheduled far-eastern Olympics would be held in Manila May 12-19 when the Chinese athletes, who would have participated also, announced their unwillingness to compete if Manchukuo was admitted.

Conferences here between delegates from athletic organizations of Japan, China and the Philippines ended in a deadlock with Japan declining to compete unless Manchukuo athletes were admitted, and China threatening to withdraw if they were.

The Chinese delegates were officially backed in their stand by the nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek.

SAVOLDI CELEBRATES

BALTIMORE, April 11.—(AP.)—Joe Savoldi passed cigars around among fellow-wrestlers, newspapermen and sport officials last night in honor of the birth of a 10-pound son in New York earlier in the day and then went into the ring to celebrate the event by throwing Abie Coleman, of California.

Vince Dundee Stops Rice in Eighth

MERMAIDS OPEN TITLE MEET

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—America's speediest mermaids, led by Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa., and Katherine Rawls, of Miami, Fla., hit the water for more championships and records here tonight.

Lenore Kight

Opening their drive for 1934 titles, they will compete in the National A. A. U. indoor championships with every title in the competition before the meet ends Saturday night.

Miss Kight and Miss Rawls, sensations of last year's championships, defend two of their crowns tonight, Miss Kight meeting the challenge of a fast field in the 100-yard free style, and Miss Rawls competing for retention of her 300-yard individual medley crown. Each was expected to win, but only after lively battles.

Olive McKean, of Seattle, Wash., and Alice Bridges, Whiting, Mass., were regarded as Miss Kight's foremost rivals in the 100-yard dash. Each has been swimming the event in near record time during the week's workouts in the Lake Shore Athletic Club pool, but Miss Kight has a reputation for meeting such challenges by swimming just a trifle faster. Most observers predict Miss Kight's record of 1 minute 4 3/10 seconds will be broken.

Johanna Gorman, of Homestead, Pa.; Helen Lee Smoth, of Indianapolis, and June Burr, a teammate of the champion, were expected to extend the 15-year-old Miami miss, one of the most versatile swimmers to skim across water. Jean Kolinski, Milwaukee, also was given an outside chance—all any swimmer gets against the cherubic-looking champion.

Bill Terry May Recall Weintraub

NEW YORK, April 11.—(INS.)—Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, may be forced to reverse himself and recall Phil Weintraub, the Jewish outfielder, from Nashville. The demand of the Jewish baseball fans in New York for a glimpse of Weintraub in action has been so great the business office may step in and ask Bill to recall the player for a month at least.

The Jewish fans have been aroused over Weintraub's release because they have noted he had been outhitting all the other Giants in the South. As a matter of fact, the Giants are more eager than the fans for a great Jewish player to develop, for such a player would be a gold mine to the owners. Pitcher Clyde Castleman has been purchased from Nashville.

BOWMAN SIGNED

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., April 11.—Rex Bowman, promising Weston pitcher, has been signed by the Johnstown club of the Middle-Atlantic League for a tryout this year. Johnstown is a farm of the New York Yankees.

Bettor Collects $2,171.80 On Daily Double

SAN BRUNO, Cal., April 11.—(AP.)—The highest daily double ever paid at Tanforan track—$2,171.80—was won yesterday by a man who declined to give his name, who had purchased the only ticket on two outsiders, Silk Covering, winner of the second race, and Star Royal, winner of the third.

Silk Covering paid $45.80 and Star Royal returned $13.80.

The Eureka, feature race, was won by Vermont Rose, Pantages entry which stepped the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5. Little Son was second and Melting Pot third. Vermont Rose set the pace and led all the way, winning by a length and a half.

SMITH, KOUBEK SCORE WIN

First and second round action comprises today's bill for the annual Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., senior doubles handball title tournament on the Keystone Athletic Club courts. Five tussles make up the card, Champions Theos Manos and Curtis Clark being the lone combination slated to miss hostilities.

A feature fray is listed for 5 o'clock when the Downtown Y. M. C. A. stars, Carl Debberthine and Mike Hrycko, tangle with Vin McGuinness and Eddie Roche, powerful P. A. A. pair. Another torrid encounter looms at 7:30 o'clock as Al McCabe and Bill Rohaly carry Downtown Y colors into battle with Lou Alman and Frank Altmar, Y. M. H. A. aces.

Frank Koubek and Parker Smith, youthful Keystone contenders, breezed through handsomely yesterday in the only tilt actually played off on the inaugural program. Teaming together well, the Keystoners accounted for Bill Mulhern and Loren Peterson, Y. M. C. A. glovesters, 21-19, 21-11. Other engagements went by default.

Five Teams Share Lead in Bike Race

CLEVELAND, April 10.—(AP.)—With five teams tied for first place, two more two laps behind, and the last-place pair only three behind the leaders, this city's third six-day bicycle race gave promise of a thrilling finish tonight.

The lead changed frequently during the sprints and jamming last night and early today. The team of Tony Schaller and Mike Defilippo dropped out at 12:30 a. m. when it seemed to be hopelessly outdistanced. The standing at 9 a. m., the one hundred and thirty-second hour:

	Miles	Laps	Pts.

MIDIRON TEAM WINS IN PIN LEAGUE

By PHILIP GRABOWSKI

The Midiron team won the championship of the Schenley Women Golfers' Duckpin League, finishing two games ahead of the Jiggers. Only one game separated the third-place Drivers from the Mashies, with the Niblicks, Putters, Brassies and Spoons finishing in the order named.

Agnes Collins

The championship team was composed of Mrs. C. B. Kissinger, who finished in sixth place in the individual average race; Mrs. William F. Galvin, Miss Agnes Collins, Mrs. D. E. Cutler, Mrs. Victor Rigaumont and Mrs. G. H. Abel.

Mrs. S. I. Agostini, of the Jiggers team, was the outstanding bowler. She took top honors with an average of 128 for 63 contests, and rolled a 480 series to head the list. Mrs. P. A. Daniel, with a 203 score, had the high single game mark.

The champions had a single game team score of 653, while the runner-up team was able to score 1,857 pins for three contests.

One of the best matches on the schedule is promised in the Metropolitan Tenpin League tonight. The leading E. M. Tuckers, the only Pittsburgh team to finish in the money in the annual A. B. C. tournament at Peoria, Ill., battles the second-place Fort Pitt outfit, which won the team championship in the recent Tri-State tournament here.

CLOSE MATCH LIKELY

Even though the Tuckers are considered favorites over their rivals they will be up against a team which lost only two games this season on its home alleys. The last time the teams met the league-leaders managed to score a clean sweep of three games. Now the Tuckers lead the circuit by seven games, with 12 games remaining on the schedule, not counting tonight's match.

In another interesting match, with third place at stake, the Iron City aggregation will match strikes and spares with the Muck Brothers. The Ko Ko Mo Kids will roll Auditorium No. 2. Keystone A. C. invades Homestead to oppose the Nuss Brothers. Aspinwall will clash with P. A. A., Old Reliable travels to Brookline, Braddock Colts meet Silver Toppers, Forward rolls Lawlor, Auditorium No. 1 engages North Side Elks, St. Michael's Lyceum invades McKees Rocks to play Roxian and Old Anchor is pitted against Elba.

Strikes and Spares

The Saint Mary of the Mount Alumni Duckpin League will officially close its season with a banquet and dance in the ball room of the Hotel Roosevelt tomorrow at 7 o'clock. Capo's Fordham Rams, winners of the league championship, will be presented prizes. Individual awards for women were won by Miss Anna Mallon, who topped the women with the best average; Miss Rose Recktenwald and Miss Vera McCullough will receive awards for scoring the most pins in one game and in three, respectively. In the men's division, Boyd Clarke won the high average prize. John Burns turned in the most pins for a single contest and Harry Finn and Regis Gallagher will receive prizes for scoring the most sticks in three games.

Roxian blanked Forests to boost its lead in the Roxian Junior Duckpin House League. Federal No. 2 shut out Ruperts and Ab Fischers, who hold second place in the standing, won two games from Postoffice.

Entries are still being received for the second annual tenpin sweepstakes tournament which opens tomorrow on the Iroquois alleys. Tournament Manager J. D. (Sip) Perry has received entries from Parkersburg, W. Va., Clairton and Donora, Pa., and additional entries from Akron, Youngstown, Canton, O., and from Erie, Pa.

Recreation No. 1, of Waynesburg, won the team championship of the Waynesburg duckpin tournament with a 2,452 score. Monongahela finished second with 2,403. The scores of other prize winners follow: Newell Y. M. C. A., 2,305; Granites, Moundsville, W. Va., 2,302; Mt. Pleasant, Pa., 2,298; Fairmont, W. Va., 2,221; Globe, McKeesport, 2,206; Punxy's No. 1, Morgantown, W. Va., 2,182; W. Va. Alleys, Morgantown, W. Va., 2,103; Recreation No. 2, Waynesburg, 2,103; Washington Eagles, 2,099; Punxy's No. 2, Morgantown, W. Va., 2,039; Belmont, Moundsville, W. Va., 2,003; Recreation No. 3, Waynesburg, 1,949.

FILBIN GETS LINKS POST

By TOM BIRKS

Director of Public Works Leslie M. Johnston has announced the appointment of Johnny M. Filbin as caddiemaster at the Schenley Park public golf course. Filbin succeeds Andy Petrolio, who has been in charge of the bag-toters at Schenley for the past 12 years. Filbin will combine the duties of permit clerk with the caddie position. Three captains appointed by Walter Phillips, the new professional, will guide the destinies of the caddies this season. For many years the caddiemaster took a nickel from the caddies for each round. This year the money will go to the captains.

The Muny layout will not be opened for a couple of weeks, according to Johnston. Greenskeeper John Kaufmann advises that the players be kept off the links until the greens and fairways are well dried out.

Schenley golfers are pleased to learn that Eddie Kunold, the locker room man, is back again. Eddie is a fixture at the Muny links and makes an admirable locker room attendant. Tom O'Keefe will be missed. His pleasing personality made things easy for golfers booking time for play.

Vince Eldred, professional at Highland and chairman of the tournament committee of the Tri-State Professional Golfers' Association, has had a pet peeve ever since landing in this district. The hard-working Highlander feels that the P. G. A. championship played in October and usually in cold weather fails to prove anything. This season he is going to try and have it staged early and expects the pros to back his stand at the annual meeting next Monday.

BERGER GETS MUNHALL JOB

By JULIUS LEVIN

Walter Berger, former Allegheny College football and basketball star, has been elected head gridiron and floor coach at Munhall High School. Berger was named to the position at a meeting of the Munhall School Board last night. He succeeds Dick Toline, former Waynesburg College star, who has held the position for the last three years.

Berger starred in football and basketball at Homestead before enrolling at Allegheny. Although bothered considerably by a bad knee during his Allegheny career, he made an enviable record both as a gridder and basketball performer.

HAWKS TAKE STANLEY CUP

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP.)—Chicago's eight-year quest for the Stanley Cup had ended in triumph today and little Harold (Mush) March was professional hockey's man of the hour.

After more than 90 minutes of bitter, dogged hockey before a crowd of 16,500 spectators, March, the smallest man on the ice, drove a waist-high shot into the net behind Wilf Cude, to give the Black Hawks a 1-to-0 victory over Detroit's Red Wings, the old pewter cup and the world professional title. It was this same March, who slashed home a goal in an overtime period to defeat Les Canadiens, of Montreal, in the final match of the second place series of the National League playoffs.

GREYHOUNDS CHAMPS

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—(AP.)—Taking an early lead and settling down to a strong defensive game, the Kansas City Greyhounds last night won their third American Hockey Association championship by defeating the St. Louis Flyers, 3 to 1, the third straight victory in the league playoff.

High Schools Dine Athletes Tonight

Ambridge and Ellwood City high schools will honor their athletes tonight with banquets.

The Ellwood City affair has been arranged as a tribute to the basketball and football squads, while the Ambridge banquet is for the members of the basketball squad who reached the final round of the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations.

Members of the Duquesne University athletic staff will be the speakers at Ellwood City. Dr. H. C. Carlson, Pitt coach, will be the speaker at Ambridge.

Lutherans Annex Basketball Title

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., April 11.—The Apollo Lutherans annexed the Kiski Valley Sunday School basketball championship here last night downing the St. Catherine, of Leechburg, in the final game of the tournament, which got under way last week, 25 to 23. An extra period was necessary before a decision could be reached.

In a semi-final tussle, Apollo downed Vandergrift Lutherans, 24 to 20.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary E. B. Gordon

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Edwards Boorum Gordon, who died March 24 at Lausanne, Switzerland, were to be held today from her home, 5250 Wilkins avenue. Burial was to be in Homewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Gordon, who was the widow of Attorney George B. Gordon, was one of the founders of the Industrial Home for Crippled Children, a member of the Twentieth Century Club, Fox Chapel Country Club, Allegheny Country Club, Pittsburgh Golf Club and Rolling Rock Club of Ligonier. Mrs. Gordon and her husband gave a memorial chapel to the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Ascension. Following Mr. Gordon's death in 1927, Mrs. Gordon carried out their plan of establishing the Katherine Edwards Gordon scholarship in architecture at the American Academy at Rome.

Mrs. Gordon leaves a sister, Mrs. Arthur W. Bingham, of New York; two nieces and one nephew.

Mrs. Dorothy L. Lasday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Libson Lasday will be held at her home, 4015 Murray avenue, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. She died yesterday.

Mrs. Lasday was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh and for many years had been active in lodge circles. She was a past president of the Women's Club of Hazelwood; a past worthy matron of Squirrel Hill Chapter No. 442, Order of the Eastern Star; past royal matron of Hazelwood Court No. 59, Order of the Amaranth, and a member of Rodef Shalom Congregation and the Jewish Federation of Philanthropists.

She leaves her husband, Dr. Louis Lasday; a son, Albert, and a daughter, Mildred Lasday, at home; three brothers and three sisters.

Dr. James C. McNeil.

Dr. James C. McNeil, superintendent of the City Bureau of Food Inspection under 10 mayors, died of pneumonia last night in his home, 3335 Webster avenue.

Appointed by Mayor Henry P. Ford, Dr. McNeil had seen service under 14 health directors. He was also, for many years, president of the Middle Atlantic Dairy Food and Drug Control Association.

Dr. McNeil spent all his life in the Fifth Ward.

Burial will taket place in Homewood Cemetery on Saturday, his sixty-eighth birthday.

Dr. McNeil leaves his widow, Edith Smith McNeil, a son, James C., Jr., a brother, Donald, and a sister, Mrs. A. S. Whitehead.

George H. Parker.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. for George H. Parker, 68, of 116 East Sixteenth avenue, Homestead, who died Monday at Homestead Hospital. He was a member of Homestead Lodge I. O. O. F., Homestead Eagles and Homestead Elks.

Mr. Parker is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Gensimore Parker; two sons, Leslie and Charles Parker; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Bulmer, of Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. George Stevenson, of Homestead; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson; three brothers, Arthur J., Harry W. and Roy Parker, and two grandchildren. Services will be from the home.

William E. Gardner.

Funeral services for William E. Gardner, 84, were held in the T. B. Moreland Funeral Home, North Highland avenue, today. He died at the home of his son, Edwin M. Gardner, of 6314 Stanton avenue, East End, Monday. Burial will be in the German Lutheran Cemetery, Lemington avenue.

For many years Mr. Gardner was a salesman for several downtown department stores.

Besides his son, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Agnes Armour, of St. Petersburg, Pa., and Mrs. Willis Keating, of Cincinnati, O., and two brothers, John A. Gardner, of Pasadena, Cal., and Milton S. Gardner, of Akron, O.

Charles E. Golden.

Funeral services for Charles E. Golden, president of the Golden-Anderson Valve Specialty Company, who died Monday, will be held in his home, 1998 Crafton boulevard, Crafton, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Mr. Golden founded the specialty company in Pittsburgh and later became a leader in this field. He was a memebr of Crafton Lodge No. 653, F. & A. M.; Crafton Royal Arch Masons, Chapter No. 312; Chartiers Commandery No. 78, Knights Templar, and Syria Shrine.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Burt Golden.

Edward Weiblen.

Funeral services for Edward Weiblen, Sr., 84, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the William Sirlin Funeral Home, 620 East Ohio street, North Side. He died Sunday at his home, 14 Yale street.

Mr. Weiblen had been a resident of Pittsburgh 53 years, and was a member of the Alsace-Lorraine Society of Pittsburgh. He leaves four sons, Charles J., Joseph E., Edward and Alfred Weiblen, and a daughter, Mrs. Anna Hollenshead.

James Francis McShane

Mrs. Ada M. Mitchell

Funeral services for Mrs. Ada M. Mitchell, who died at Hot Springs, Va., Monday, will be held in the R. Hayes Clever funeral home, 534 Island avenue, McKees Rocks, tonight.

She was a member of the Malta Lodge, Pythian Sisters and the Carnation Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Mitchell leaves one son, Aubrey Mitchell.

Mrs. Anna Kate Z. Wilson.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow for Mrs. Anna Kate Zimmerman Wilson, who died Monday at her home, 358 South Atlantic avenue.

John P. Baldauf.

John P. Baldauf, 80, pioneer Pittsburgher and Democratic leader, died yesterday in his home, 97 Pius street, following a heart attack.

Long active in Democratic politics, Mr. Baldauf was a candidate for district chairman at the time of his death. He served three terms in City Coucil in 1903, 1905 and 1907, and was one of the few councilmen not implicated in the famous councilmanic graft inquiry of 25 years ago.

While in Council he sponsored the Mission Street Bridge project and other public improvements. He was a supporter of Joseph F. Guffey, state Democratic leader.

Mr. Baldauf was born in Pittsburgh in 1854. He was the father of 10 children, six of whom survive with 26 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in St. Michael's Church at 9 a. m. Friday. Interment will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Joshua Mendenhall.

Funeral services for Joshua Mendenhall will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in his home, 65 Roycroft avenue, Mt. Lebanon. He died Monday.

Mr. Mendenhall, a member of Marwick-Mitchell Company, of New York, had been a resident of Pittsburgh 40 years. He had been an efficiency engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad and at one time was connected with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, being assigned to the Westinghouse plant in England four years.

He was a member of Duquesne Lodge No. 546, F. & A. M., and the Union League Club of Chicago. He leaves his widow and six sisters.

GARAGE OWNERS BLAME SCHOOLS

Miss M. Emmelinne Pitt, local commissioner of the United States Department of Labor, today was compiling facts given her at a meeting with garage owners in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, in which it was said that garage men were losing thousands of dollars yearly through competition by vocational students in schools.

Due to work done free or at a low cost, 52 garages in the Turtle Creek district are being deprived of revenue and some are facing bankruptcy, it was said.

Other schools cited as being injurious to the garage business were the Arsenal Junior High and the Clifford B. Connelley Trade schools.

Prof. W. W. Lantz, principal of the Turtle Creek High School, said that the school vocational work comes under the Smith-Hughes law, which requires that a certain amount of "productive work" be done. He pledged co-operation of school authorities in seeking a solution of the problem.

Memory Test

Answers to yesterday's Sport Memory Test questions follow:

1—N. B. A. stands for National Boxing Association. N. B. F. for National Baseball Federation.

2—The Wightman Cup matches are symbolic of the world team women's tennis championship. They were instituted in 1923 and so far have been limited to competition between the United States and Great Britain.

3—Senorita Elia de Alvarez, of Spain, bowed to Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in the final round of both the 1927 and '28 Wimbledon championships.

4—Capt. Matt Webb, of England, is generally credited with having been the first man to swim the English Channel on August 24-25, 1875, but this is disputed, the claim being made that Capt. Paul Boynton, an American, achieved the feat on April 10 of the same year.

5—Frank (Home Run) Baker was the home run hitting star of the Philadelphia Athletics during their 1910-'14 reign.

"We Were Lost—But
The Sun-Telegraph Found Us"

So say three little dogs, who, only a few days ago, were very, very miserable little wanderers who couldn't find their ways back home.

HERE ARE THE "LOST" ADS
WHICH BROUGHT THEM BACK

DOG—Black, white vest and feet. Male. License 7181. Reward. Linden 2002-J.

DOG—Boston Bull, black, white; Female. Lost 2068 Dartmore street. Reward. Carrick 4532-J.

ESKIMO SPITZ—Young male; Squirrel Hill, lost or stolen Wednesday, reward. SC 1398.

Simply To Prove that Sun-Telegraph Lost Ads do not specialize in returning wandering canines ONLY, here's an experience of quite a different nature.

Mrs. E. Sundell of 5175 Columbo St., E. E., lost a valuable wrist watch. She placed a "Lost" ad in the Sun-Telegraph and, WITHIN TWO HOURS after the paper was on the street, the watch was returned. Here you have only a small part of the ever-growing mass of evidence to the undeniable fact that NOW it's the

Chickie's Daughter

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER XLI.

Kevin happened to turn. He saw tears in Pippin's eyes. "Well—sweetheart! You're not crying?"

"Yes, I am. Homecomings are sad. You don't seem really here."

Kevin gave his necktie a yank and came with a big, flushed, happy grin and confronted them. Then he looked exactly as long ago, gay, lovable, easy.

Pippin laughed: "Stay like that!"

Synopsis

Pippin, pretty daughter of Chickie, falls in love with Kevin McPike. Pippin and Kevin's sister, Kathie, are fast friends. Pippin is thrilled by the first real kiss she ever had—from Kevin. When Kevin goes to Europe to pursue his studies, Pippin meets Bill Lodge, a young ensign. At a friend's home, Chickie meets Barry Dunne, the man who caused her so much sorrow. Pippin goes to a party with Bill, but after returning seems unhappy. She tells her father what she heard about her mother, and that she thought him responsible. David explains to her what really happened and Pippin is again happy. Chickie tells Pippin the real story of her life. Pippin goes on hikes with Gregg McClintock, senior at college. She then returns to college and has Vivian Drake as a room mate. Vivian's love affair with Sherry wanes. Vivian disappears and sends suicide note. Kevin returns.

Now Go On

"It's true," Kathleen chimed, "we've been working and planning for this day. We've been longing to have you home. You're wishing you were back there. You're all closed up in yourself. You've not told us a thing."

"This is certainly flattering. I tried a dozen times at breakfast to talk. No one wanted to listen."

"We did! We were dying to hear. But families are terrible. Begin with the trip through the Tyrol. Can you really see the Alps at little cost?"

"And about the clinic. Are they better scientists than we are? Are there many women doctors? We've got you here, Kevin; we're not going to let you go till we've heard it all!"

Tells of Germany

Kevin sat on his trunk which had just arrived and was not yet unpacked. He hunched down, seeming happy and pleased.

He took them on a tramp through high, glittering mountains, took them into German homes where the people had been so kind, and into beer-gardens where one sat of an evening and listened to inspired, beautiful music.

"Move over," said Pippin, perching on the edge of the trunk and linking her arm in his. "You look right, now, Kevin. You look wonderful! Go on—"

"I want to hear about the duels. Do the students really fence with swords and never bat an eye when slashed? Oh, what a knightly people!"

"And those girls that were on the farm in that tiny Alpine village—where everyone was so carefree, and the whole nation takes two hours off in the middle of the day for dinner?"

"You bet! Nobody violates your privacy. You can read or sleep or cut your throat. Nobody dares inquire."

Kevin kicked open his trunk: "Now I've given you plenty of entertainment. Get busy—help put these things away."

Pippin knelt on the floor, dreamily sorting socks, underwear, handkerchiefs. They were crammed in helter-skelter. She thought how homelike—how natural this was.

Kathleen, carrying the stacks and setting them neatly in the chiffonier drawers, mused aloud: "Women wait on men in Germany, I guess. You take it so naturally. Do you realize, Kevin Malone, that I've been a servant to you all my life?"

"Any old time! Didn't I get you to your first party?"

Recalls First Dance

Pippin clasped her hands on the open trunk and looked into Kevin's face: "Do you remember that night, Kevin? We thought you were old and elegant. You danced wonderfully—better than anyone since. I've never had such a grand time. You nearly ruined me for life."

Surprisingly the color stole into Kevin's face. He said hastily: "You were a dear little thing," and went to answer the telephone.

There was an extension on the table near his bed. He sat with his back turned and his voice low. They could tell from his tone and the way he laughed that a girl was at the other end. She was asking him to dinner.

Kathleen, fishing books from the bottom of the trunk, whispered: "That's Jane Carew."

Kevin put up the receiver.

The impudent Kathleen made a sharp, kissing sound with her lips. "Twee-twee to you, dear! The dames don't waste much time in getting you back to form." She ran a dust cloth over the books. One of them opened. A picture fell out. "Well—well—and here's your little hot number from Leipsic dropping down to call. Her arm, as usual, draped about your shoulder."

Kevin took the picture from her, looked at it, then in amazement, at his sister. "Is that what you call a hot number?"

"Plenty—plenty! I love the dreamy, expectant look in her heavy-lidded eyes."

"Of all things! That's a nice, pleasant girl."

"Maybe she is—but I'm glad you were generous and left her for the home-town boys. An inlaw is a bad enough reputation without having a foreigner as well. If you were going to marry a girl of another country, you should live in that country and not bring a stranger to this land and have her fighting our ways from morning till night."

Not Marrying

"Who in the world said anything about marriage?"

"I did."

"And did anyone dream I might be marrying?"

"Yes! We had our moments. Bob Nolan brought home a tale."

"What did he say?" Kevin's tone was measured, yet he seemed breathless.

"Oh, just that you and Hildegarde—that's her name, isn't it—Hildegarde Kamla were having a nice time together and for us not to be surprised—"

"He's a regular old woman for gossip!"

"He said it was all cut-and-dried. You were in love with the European manner of life and were bringing home a nice, comfortable haus-frau. I hope you won't weaken when you begin reading the letters she's sent. It wouldn't work out."

"What wouldn't work out?"

"A marriage with a foreigner. Marriage alone is tough enough. But if you brought a strange girl to this bewildering country, made her give up her own ways, her own home, her own people—"

"She'd have a sweet lay-out, wouldn't she? DON'T worry, Kathie! I'm not marrying and I'm not mad. I'm having a confused enough time trying to get adjusted myself and I've only been away three years.

"Besides, I've got to get to work. I'm not looking for any complications. I'll be kept plenty busy."

He threw Pippin a sudden, warm glance: "Lucky for me, getting this chance with David. I'm seeing him this afternoon."

Compliments Father

"Maybe you think you're lucky, Kevin. But when you're working 16 hours a day and he looks at you as if you're demented if you want time off to eat, you won't be so glad. He's a frightful slave driver."

"I know—but it's a grand chance for me. I'll learn."

She said, with her heart brimming: "You mean you can learn from David after years under those great men? Is he as good?"

"They don't come any better. It's worth while being back. He's compensation."

Not realizing the warmth in her tone, Pippin said in a little excited fervor: "Kevin, you're not glad to be home! We haven't got you back. You've hardly looked at us. You don't like us at all."

She was leaning against the book cases. He came over and put his hands on her shoulders. She looked up to his face—so near, so exciting. His eyes—his deep, tender, imperious eyes touched on hers. She went down—confused, lost, floundering in their gaze.

"Don't like you, Pippin? Why, you're lovely. I can hardly believe it—you're so very sweet and lovely."

She clung speechless to his words, wanting the moment to last; wanting to stand here gazing in his face—hours—years.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

One purpose of the vinegar rinse is to clear the hair from soap scum. Getting out the suds is not the simple matter most of us believe. The rinse makes shafts soft and silky. There's many a head of oily hair that is never really free of the shampoo agent. Ask any beauty shop operator. If there's a particle of whitish deposit on the comb, hair has not been thoroughly washed. Soap won't remove itself. Ofttimes it is necessary to use eggs to cut away the gray film. Use six or seven, beat them slightly, friction to a foam. Use a bath spray for rinsing.

Without strong back muscles splendid posture and graceful carriage are impossible. Equally necessary are tight fibers of the abdomen. Women fight fat cells as warriors fight an enemy, but most of them never think of their muscles at all. Let muscles slack up, lose resiliency, and adipose cushions will collect. Every girl, every woman, should have some sort of exercise daily, preferably in the open air. It keeps the step light, the body youthful of outline, spirits peppy.

Moth patches are akin to freckles, sisters under the skin, one might say. They have an alias, which is liver spots, though it is doubtful if the liver is responsible for these unsightly blemishes that appear at middle age. As they spread rapidly, it is wisdom to treat them to a bleaching process when they first show up. A mixture of equal parts of peroxide and lemon juice is recommended; it should be applied every night faithfully. When spots have long been established, it is necessary to use a skin peeling preparation. Get counsel at you beauty shop.

ENGLISH TAX MEASURES EMBITTER AMERICANS—BOSTON MASSACRE—BOSTON TEA PARTY

English Parliament, in financial difficulties, passed the Stamp Act in 1765, compelling Americans—still harrassed by the Indian (Pontiac) War—to stamp each document, pamphlet, newspaper from 1 penny to 20 shillings. Resentment grew, societies of "Sons of Liberty" sprang up, spirit of unification of colonies spread. Riots and violence against the act and its enforcers induced the English Parliament to repeal the Stamp Act, but not the principle of taxation. Other levies followed, arousing hatred toward the English governors, protected by British troops. The "Boston Massacre" (March 5, 1770) was a bloody outcrop of this bitter sentiment. The duties were repealed in 1773, except that of 3 shillings a lb. on tea. Bostonians, disguised as Indians, "unloaded" one shipment of tea into the sea (December 16, 1773) the "Boston Tea Party." In retaliation, British closed Boston harbor, limited the powers of the local governments. Americans responded by declaring administrative relations with England terminated, considering English measures a violation of colonial charters. Such were the preludes to the War of Independence. SITE OF THE ONCE POWERFUL CARTHAGE

Frightful losses of Second Punic War did not check Romans' conquests who subdued Celts, Ligurians in the north, Iberians in west (Spain).

In the east they turned against Philip V of Macedonia, Hannibal's ally, forcing him in 197 B. C. (Second Macedonian War) to withdraw his garrisons from the Greek cities. Uprising in Aetolia (portion of Greece), helped by Antiochus the Great of Syria, was crushed in 189 B. C., Antiochus losing Asia Minor and European possessions to Rome, that also became protector of the Acheans (of Southern Greece). Disrupting the Macedonian empire in 168 B. C. (Third Macedonian War), Rome divided it into four oligarchic republics. Egypt was added to the Roman protectorates.

In 146 B. C. the Third Macedonian War was terminated with the destruction of Corinth, the center of the revolting Achean League. Carthage (Africa) was taken and burned the same year, ending the Third Punic War (149-146 B. C.). (World History)

EMULSIONS—LAUNDERING—PROCESS OF COLLOID CHEMISTRY

Immiscible liquids (not soluble in each other) may be dispersed in small drops by stirring them together, giving emulsions, which are colloidal suspensions (above left). The dispersed drops have great surface; surface tension of liquids tends to pull drops together. Adding emulsifying agent, which forms a film around the colloidal drops, surface tension is reduced and emulsion made stable. E. g. Mayonnaise (emulsion of vegetable oil in vinegar) is made stable by colloidal albumen of the egg as emulsifying agent.

In laundering, the fabric and soap are agitated in water: Oil, grease become loosened, together with soap colloidally suspended. Colloidal soap has great surface, adsorbs (attracts in proportion to the surface) dirt particles, which are rinsed away with the soap (center). In the washing machine (right), clothes are placed in the internal perforated cylinder, revolving alternately in both directions. Soap, washing soda (Na_2CO_3), borax ($Na_2B_4O_7 . 10H_2O$), some caustic soda ($Na OH$) and bleaching powder ($CaOCl_2$) are added and steam introduced for chemical, mechanical cleaning and disinfection. PROTOZOA: ONE-CELLED ANIMAL—THE AMOEBA PROTEUS

Animal kingdom is divided into 13 phyla. The first comprises simplest animals, the protozoa. One common representative is amoeba proteus, microscopic, irregular, jelly-like mass of protoplasm, constantly changing shape by projecting "false feet", pseudopodia. It is found on bottom of ponds and on water plants. The amoeba obtains food by entangling prey with pseudopodia (above). Digestion, absorption takes place in temporary vesicles, excretion, respiration through body walls.

AUTOMOBILE BOOSTER BRAKES—HYDRAULIC BRAKES

Automobile booster brakes utilize the vacuum in the motor-manifold to increase the pressure on the brakes (above left). Booster cylinder is connected by a pipe with the intake-manifold of motor when brake pedal is depressed, causing vacuum on left side of booster piston; atmospheric pressure on right increases braking force. 51III8

The hydraulic brake (above right) conveys the pressure on the pedal by a liquid (alcohol-oil) to the brake cylinders. Pressure on pedal moves piston in the master cylinder compressing the liquid, which presses equally on pistons in brake cylinders of all wheels, giving equal braking effect, avoiding skidding of the car. Off For London to the Movies

News from London gives us a perfect batting average for hitting the ceiling.

Our old pal Roxy is going to build another radio city over there which will put the blinkers on our home town static village.

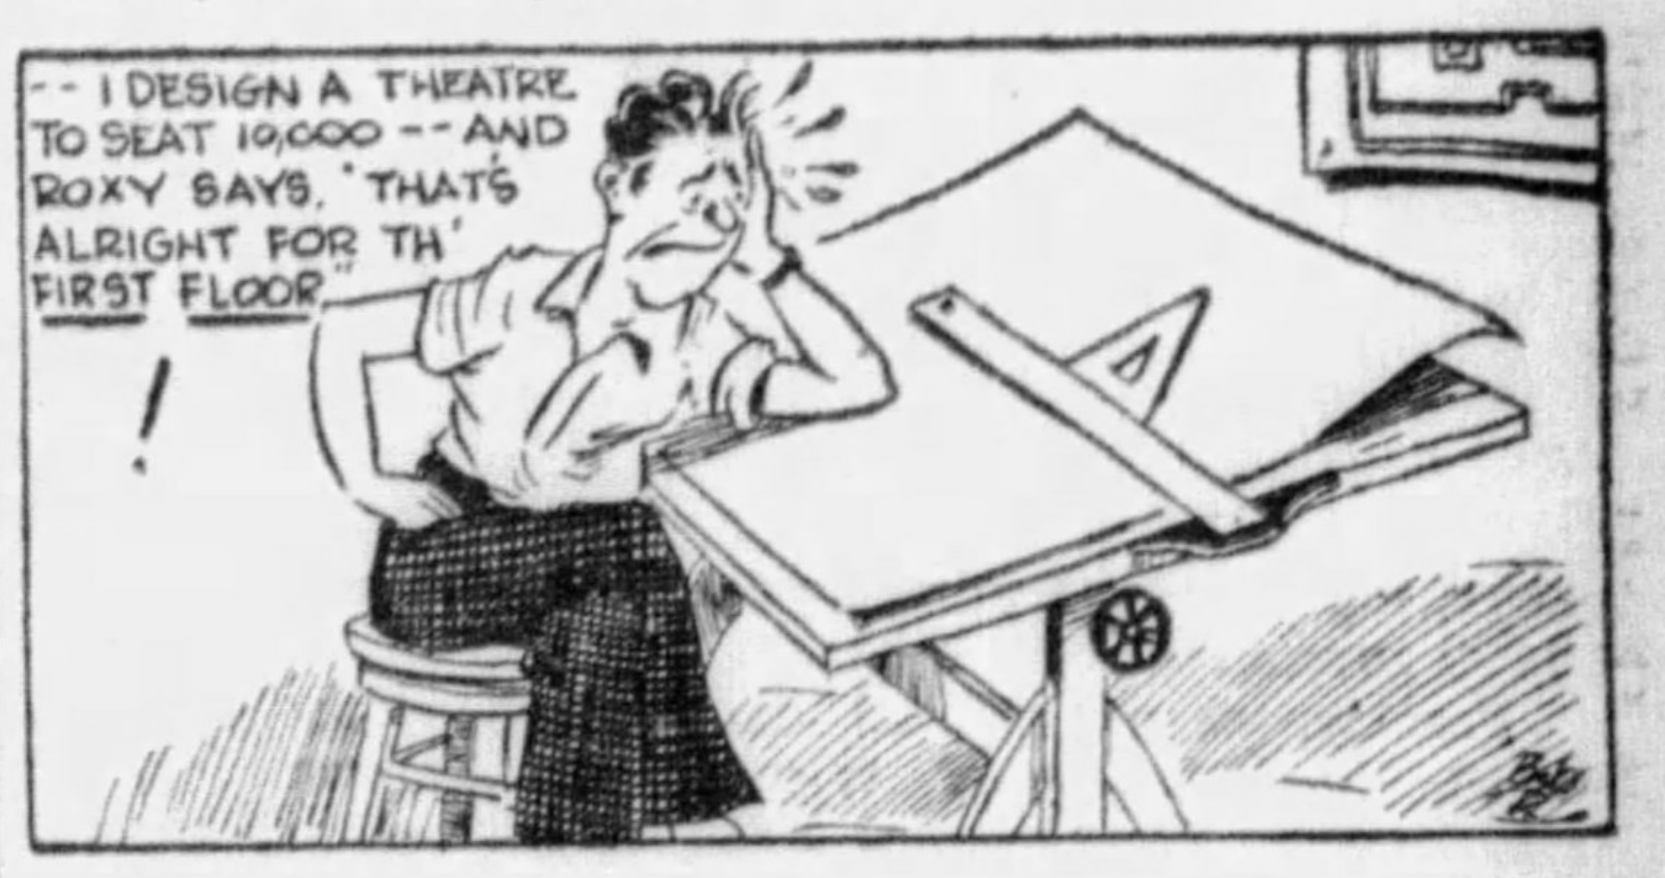
Roxy always had a yen for constructing terrific audience factories.

That first one he built was the Capitol on the West Side of Broadway. It seated about five thousand people edgeways. Then he figured he liked the East Side of Seventh avenue more. A man gets tired of walking through traffic.

So he constructed the Roxy out of blue prints and things. It accommodated six thousand people whether they were in there or not.

An electric light burned out one night. Rather than go to the trouble of changing the light bulbs Roxy got sore and built the Radio Music Hall.

Now, when the average man changes from one house to another the recipe is simple. He packs his trunk, calls the wife, nods to the parrot and they're off.



- - I DESIGN A THEATRE TO SEAT 10,000 - - AND ROXY SAYS, 'THAT'S ALRIGHT FOR TH' FIRST FLOOR'

When Roxy moves it is a parade. First comes Roxy. Then a hundred dancing girls. Followed by the news reels, Mickey Mouse and several hundred musicians playing sweet music upon the zither. After that, the Roxy ushers march 60 abreast with their buttons shining like wolves' eyes in the dark. Then comes the audience in ratio of their seniority and prestige.

Opening night is always a splendid evening. Nobody is sure whether Roxy is going to be there or whether he is breaking ground for a new theater.

The reason he quit Radio City in New York was because he saw a patron come in without a telescope. So Roxy knew his life work had been in vain because the place was too small.

We know he will click in London. He will profit by his earlier mistakes and build a theater so big that nobody will see a thing.

That's what we would call real real entertainment. We will have to take a week's boat ride to see a moving picture.

Why Was He Appointed?

The Placing of W. McK. Reed on the Allegheny County Authority Is Puzzling.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern's refusal to comment on the Supreme Court decision against the old Third National Bank, involving W. McK. Reed, McGovern's appointee to the Allegheny County Authority, is disappointing.

The case in which the decision was handed down has conceivably some bearing on Reed's fitness to serve in the important public position to which he has been named.

The Supreme Court upheld the verdict of a Common Pleas Court jury, which found that Reed, as president of the Third National Bank, now defunct, persuaded a customer to mortgage his home and invest the money in a coffee company which Reed is alleged to have known was in bad financial condition.

The Allegheny County Authority, of which Reed is to be one of three administrators, the others being Joseph C. Trees and Press C. Dowler, will have charge of the construction of bridges, highways and other public works for which a $29,400,000 government loan is sought.

Frankly, we are puzzled, and we believe the public is puzzled, over McGoverns' rejection of ex-Mayor John S. Herron and his sponsoring of Reed for the position on the Authority.

It is an undesirable appointment.

Just Sentences

Judge Thomas M. Marshall Again Shows Himself Devoted to the Public Welfare.

Judge Thomas M. Marshall is winning golden opinions by his devotion to the public welfare.

The sentences of six months in jail imposed by him on Tom Goslin and Tom Dolan for their gambling operations in the Monaca Club should make the citizens glad to have on the bench a judge like that.

Goslin and Dolan have powerful political affiliations, as is proved by the fact that their illegal resort was openly operated for many months, without the slightest interference from the authorities, across the street from the Oakland Police Station.

It has often been found convenient to let such cases be tried by visiting judges from out of town. But Judge Marshall, who smashed the Republican Organization slate when he was elected a few years ago, did not dodge the assignment. And that is characteristic of him.

Six months in jail is a stiff sentence for gambling. Judge Marshall might have let the men off more easily. But he said he could not think of them as trivial offenders in view of their prolonged and brazen defiance of the law.

Again and again Judge Marshall has shown by his attitude in cases involving powerful politicians that he is not afraid of incurring their enmity.

He sometimes brushes aside the technicalities of the law if he thinks they stand in the way of justice and common sense, and this has led to the reversing of some of his decisions. But we doubt if the people think any the less of him for this.

A Betrayal of Trust

The Proposed Tariff on Coconut Oil Would Be Unjust to the Philippines.

Manila dispatches report that consternation has been created among the Philippine people by the threat of Congress to impose a prohibitive tariff on copra and coconut oil.

Philippine leaders have appealed to the President and the Congress for protection against such an indefensible injustice to a dependent people, who are wholly at the mercy of a Congress in session ten thousand miles distant.

These Philippine leaders point out what American opponents of such a prohibitive tariff admit:

That to impose a prohibitive tax, which the House has voted, and the Senate is considering, on copra and coconut oil, would subject the Philippine people to the following hardships:

It would wipe out coconut plantations, which represent one hundred and fifty million dollars of the Philippine Islands' wealth.

It would throw out of employment one-third of the population of the Philippines, living in seven provinces.

It would reduce to destitution and threaten with starvation, four million Filipinos, whose only means of support comes from the coconut trade that is to them in very truth a "tree of life."

President Roosevelt is against this outrage. Secretary Dern has urged upon Congress the cruel consequences and the utter unfairness of inflicting upon the Philippine people an excise tax which would destroy one of their chief industries, and nullify the traditional tariff policy under which the Philippine Islands have long been treated as an integral part of the United States.

Congressman Welch, of California, has put the case convincingly against this iniquitous betrayal of America's solemn trust in the Philippine Islands when he said:

"This proposal strikes at the very vitals of the Philippine economic situation. Coconut oil has only had a 2-cent per pound duty since 1921 from other countries, but under the terms of reciprocity with the Philippines has been admitted free of duty from them.

"This embargo, for it is just that, means that these products will have to compete in the already oversupplied world market, which they cannot successfully do."

It is hard to believe that the Congress will ignore the protest of the President, the admonition of the Secretary of War, or turn a deaf ear to the desperate appeal for justice that comes from a dependent people across the Pacific, who look to the American flag for the same protection and give it the same loyal allegiance that is received and given by the people of continental United States.

What will honorable men the world over think of a Congress that stoops to oppress, by such a betrayal of trust, four million helpless Filipinos whose only security lies in the sense of justice that ought to quicken every Senator and Representative in a Congress that calls itself American?

Is there no limit to the contempt for American honor, and the subserviency to the greedy demands of special privilege which seems to contaminate this Congress, where American responsibility to the Philippine people is involved?

MAN AT WORK
A NATION-WIDE PROGRAM FOR DEVELOPMENT OF WATER-WAYS
JACK MORLEY

Public works that will make employment for thousands of men, that will expend public money wisely and not uselessly, that will improve the whole national domain, and provide foundations for a better prosperity than we have ever known—such should be the objective of the Federal Government.

And among enduring public works, none is more desirable than co-ordinated development of ALL our great natural waterways—the St. Lawrence route from the Great Lakes to the sea, the Mississippi Valley system, the Colorado and Columbia River projects for power production, flood control and irrigation and the Sacramento-San Joaquin program for flood control and inland navigation.

East, West, South and North—the entire country needs and will support so beneficial an undertaking.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 11.—Louis Bromfield has sailed back to his French villa at Senlis on the dreamy edge of a tiny river. He departs as one of the most popular American authors of his day. His books as well as his short stories are in high demand. And Hollywood, indifferent once, craves his presence.

His vacation in the States was spent largely in Princeton, but he came to town several times a week to attend dinners and the plays. Bromfield, a native of Mansfield, O., and a winner of the croix de guerre, has written his best stuff in the isolation of a foreign country.

Formative days were spent knocking around Paris with another good writing man, Ernest Hemingway. They have been close pals. The author is a mine of moods, often ascending the upper slopes of spirit to be the life of the party and then sliding down to the depths where no one sees him for months.

While a close student of the passing scene for material, he is also gifted with powers to describe those he never saw. A story of his with a setting in a New York night club was evocative of more favorable comment than any other of its kind. At the time he had never been inside one.

James Jeffrey Roche, father of Arthur Somers and a great essayist of his day, once wrote a lacey bit of description of a section of South America. It is to this day included in textbooks as the most accurate ever written. The elder Roche had never been in South America.

And the mandarin of essays, Abbe Dimnet, turned out a fantasy paragraph of sailors dying of thirst when becalmed. They refused to believe signals of natives that all around their ship was water good to drink and they only had to lower their buckets. That incident was an authentic fiber of life happening years later to a group of Spanish sailors on the Amazon.

George White's parachute drop on the Hollywood lots adds much to his stature, artistically and financially. He had about dropped stage activities when he decided to film his "Scandals." And in working on the picture suddenly decided to take a part himself, which he did with high critical praise. The whole venture has been a fortunate turn of the wheel in the exciting life of a young hoofer who began as "Swiftly," a Broadway messenger boy "busking" along the curbs. He has not only received many offers to appear and produce in Hollywood but can now choose the pick of angels for New York efforts.

Elsie Janis is likely in the most superb physical trim of anyone of her stage generation. She rarely smokes, never imbibes more than a single cocktail, and despite rigors of her profession, always salvages her full quota of sleep. On ocean voyages she is first in the gym in the morning and the most indefatigable of the deck walkers. And she observes a similar routine on land. In riper maturity she resembles more than ever her mother, whose mutual devotion inspired Edna Ferber's classic story, "Mother Knows Best"—and incidentally chilled temporarily a long friendship.

Chinatown last evening was the droopiest in years. Usually the quarter comes through every depression with bland serenity. But now there are many vacant splotches in the jinkle-jumble. Affairs seem at low tide. The only cheery note was a gramophone in a lichee nut and dried fish place in Doyers street playing appropriately enough, "Chinatown, My Chinatown!"

I never see the Central Park Lake swans glide like lines of a quatrain under the arches without recalling the shuddery legend of Park Row, an old wives' tale of the newspaper shops. It concerns the baffling evanishment of Dorothy Arnold, who seemed almost to evaporate in thin air. The last place Miss Arnold was seen was standing at the lake edge gazing at the swans, there for more than 30 years. Next morning, unaccountably, a black swan rode majestically among the white. Dorothy Arnold was never seen again.

That thorough-going cosmopolite, Frazier Hunt, recalled the other evening that in his entire life he had never taken opportunity to have a manicure at the hands of experts. And his wife, Emma, without looking up from her magazine, observed: "But I'd hate to tell you how many times he has had his nose painted!"

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

It's Our Own Fault If It Ever Happens Again

IT'S OUR OWN FAULT IF IT EVER HAPPENS AGAIN.

"I HAVE A QUAINT, OLD-FASHIONED IDEA THAT THIS GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT BE MAINTAINED TO ENRICH A FEW RICH MEN, BUT RATHER TO PROMOTE THE WELFARE OF ALL THE PEOPLE."

No, you're wrong. It is not Mister Abraham Lincoln speaking, way back in 1865. It is Senator Bone, of Washington (Naval Affairs Committee), rising up in the Capitol of these United States and spilling the dirt on the rottenest mob of racketeers in our national history.

Meaning Al Capone? That's a laugh. Al Capone's just a tiddleywinks player beside these gorillas. For the lads whom Senator Bone is exposing are PATRIOTS. And what these patriots did to your and my tax money in the course of their patrioteering is just—too—bad!

Right at present there's plenty of talk as to whether the government should or should not build its own aeroplanes, run its own merchant marine—in short, conduct its own business. Which you might think was not an original idea. Have we not always run our own business? No, Mabel, we have not! A lot of Nice, Jolly, Smart Men with a Slick Line have run our business.

As you may have heard, we had a war back in 1917. "During that war," says Senator Bone, "the Government had 391,000 horses. For these, the Government ordered 945,000 saddles, over a million sets of double harness, 1,637,197 horse brushes, 2,029,418 horse covers, 2,850,853 halters; and on top of these frightful expenditures it piled a cost of 195,000 branding irons. They made those out of copper, so that they would cost a little more.

"The bright boy who had the branding-iron contract did not get these branding irons ready in time to ship before the show was over, and he made Uncle Sam give him $40,000 for the loss of profits that he would have made had he been able to ship these cute little ornaments over to France!

"We were not satisfied with that sort of a deal with this copper branding-iron boy. He had 20,000 pounds of copper left that he could not use, and the government took it off his hands at 39½ cents a pound, and immediately sold it back to him for 11 cents a pound."

Which is what I call a perfectly darling, generous, warm-hearted thing for dear old Uncle Sam to do! But, unfortunately, who's got to pay—and pay—and pay—for that perfectly darling thing? You and I, Mabel—AND ALL THE OTHER SAPS!

Then there was the case of the concern that had a contract to build howitzer carriages. Now you mightn't think that a howitzer carriage had anything to do with your chances of getting that new kitchen linoleum. But stick around—maybe you'll be surprised!

Of course, since arms and armies aren't anything new in any nation's life, Uncle Sam should have had a factory to build those howitzer carriages. But he didn't. So he let the contract. Then came the Armistice. None of the carriages had been delivered.

"Now let us see what Uncle Sam did," Senator Bone goes on. "He built the buildings where these howitzer carriages were to be made, supplied the machinery, and supplied all the material. The taxpayers paid for that, and the company was to have a commission on the delivery price. The buildings cost the Government $2,987,200. After the armistice, the Government sold these buildings back to the company for $600,000. The materials on hand at that time were worth $5,558,000; and all this valuable war material was sold to this outfit under the classification of junk for $300,000—despite the fact that the arsenals around the country should have taken it over.

"In spite of all that, we allowed these fellows to finish 200 of these carriages, although they were not needed—the war was over—for which the Government paid them $18,582,428. I have often wondered what emotions would move in the breast of a human being who had made 290,999 per cent."

Just 290,999 per cent—not bad for a Busy Little Business Boy, was it? And the other boys were doing pretty near as well.

"Coal operators," says Senator Bone, "reported profits as high as 7,856 per cent. Nearly half the coal mines reported earnings equal to their entire capital that year.

"Meat packers made as high as 4,244 per cent.

"Canners of food and vegetables as high as 2,032 per cent.

"And so on down the line. Profits of eight and nine thousand per cent were quite common; excessive and extortionate profits; frightful profits that simply transcend the bounds of reason.

And that isn't the beginning. If you want to hear the whole story, send for the Congressional Record of March 6, 1934. On second thought, don't send for it. You don't need to read that story. If you're a taxpayer, you're going to learn it, word by word, and pay for it, nickle by nickle, for the rest of your shamed, shackled, cheated life. And after you, your son will go on paying—and his son after him.

Why is America in the red today? Why are millions on the bread line? Why are many of our states bankrupt? Why are we all frantic, furious, utterly bewildered? That is why.

WE'VE BEEN TAKEN FOR A RIDE!

But the dirt's out now—

AND IT'S OUR OWN FAULT IF IT EVER HAPPENS AGAIN.

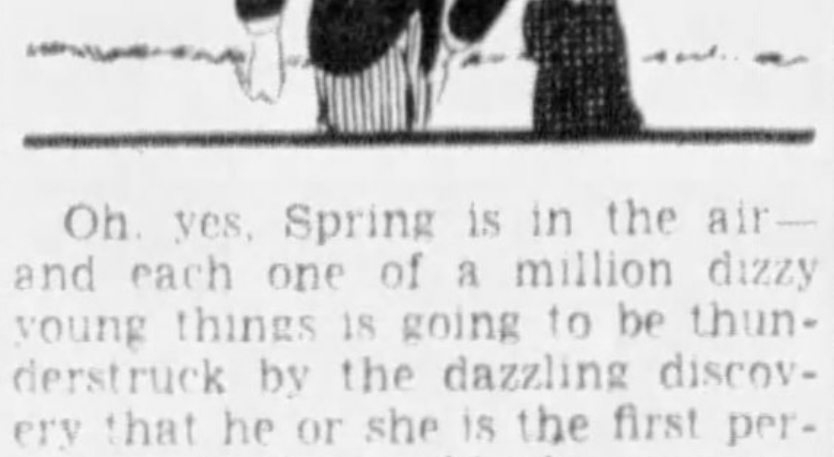
MARRY-GO-ROUND

By Helen Rowland

Love Takes a Holiday

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love"—but an older man just gets women on the brain."



AH WE KNOW TH' REAL MEANING OF LOVE

Oh, yes, Spring is in the air—and each one of a million dizzy young things is going to be thunderstruck by the dazzling discovery that he or she is the first person in all the world who ever understood the real meaning of LOVE!

* * *

A modern wife doesn't exactly expect to OWN her husband, but she is usually unreasonable enough to demand a controlling interest in him, no matter how many other women may be bidding for him.

* * *

At this magic season, every new girl a man meets gives him either a chill or a fever.

* * *

Lots of women are still trying valiantly to keep up the old high-speed social pace of 1929, on an income with a dying engine and four flat tires. Such unquenchable optimism!

In most states, a murderer has two chances of escape, to a married man's ONE. You've got to prove your charges against a murderer; but any woman can go into court and condemn her husband to the payment of life-alimony, just by telling the judge how nervous it makes her when he drops his g's or splits his infinitives, if she calls it "mental cruelty."

* * *

A woman may be an artist at cutting an acquaintance by ignoring it completely; but that is no reason why every husband should try to cut the lawn by the same method.

I'M GOIN TO GET A DIVORCE—MENTAL CRUELTY

As the days get longer, the love affairs get shorter and shorter. A romance which begins in the early spring may go as far as the altar; but, by July, the average love affair is only two weeks long including all the detours.

A girl always has to choose between winning an argument with a man—and winning the MAN.

Plantation Song

It's de dark ob de moon an' de big owl's a-callin';
"Whee, whoo, whee?"
It's de turn ob de year an' de daid leaves is fallin'
Frum each tree!
It's de dark ob de moon; whar de wide ribber glidin'
Gray moss swings;
Wile de ole win' moans an de ole owl's chidin',
What dat sings!

What dat voice dat de nigger hyars chantin',
Sof' an' slow:
"De ole graveyard's still got room fer plantin'
Twelve men mo'!"
It's de dark ob de moon, when de hants goes grabbin'
Tho' de night;
Bes' run pas de chuchhouse, bes' git to yo' cabin,
Light de light!
It's de dark ob de moon, an' a strange voice chantin'
Loud agen:
"De ole graveyard's still got room fer plantin' Twelve mo'men!"

Human Side of the News

Monetary Questions Continue to Occupy the Attention of Statesmen in America and Europe

By Edwin C. Hill

THE momentous questions of currency, tariffs and world trade are crowding into the center of the stage, elbowing their way among the alarms of war and political scandals. Down in Washington, President Roosevelt asks Congress for powers to deal alone and quickly, with foreign nations. At the same time young Henry Morgenthau, who in one short year has come out of the obscurity of being just his father's son to a place next to the President, asks the House Currency Committee to do nothing in the way of legislation for a period of a year.

The tall, thin, professor-like Secretary of the Treasury thinks that the devalution program is working out very well, for as gold goes up the price of commodities rises with it. And since this is just what the administration desires, he would like to ride along with it for 12 months or so. Over in London, Neville Chamberlain, hard-headed businessman and Chancellor of the Exchequer, tells the House of Commons that there is no use at this time entering into conversations with the American government with a view to securing a stable standard of value for the currency of the two countries.

This son of the great Joseph Chamberlain, who was meant for business, but who has stepped into public life to eclipse his brother, the very polished Sir Austen, is playing a waiting game to see if the American equalization fund runs against that of England's. Our cousins would like a four dollar pound, which is not at all in line with the ideas of the American Treasury.

France Clings To Gold Standard

FRANCE clings grimly to the gold standard, and as grimly watches the yellow reserves of the Bank of France grow smaller and smaller under the constant demand for it in exchange for paper and its reshipment to the United States and to England. There is a minority faction, and yet a strong one, in the cabinet of Gaston Doumergue, which favors an immediate devaluation of the franc by from 15 to 25 per cent. But the President of the republic is not prepared to take this step. The citizenry is still in a pretty ugly mood and it would hardly be wise to chip off one quarter of the value of their francs.

But England and the United States were forced to it. Both paid out gold until it hurt, and in the end were compelled to clamp down embargoes. The pinch now is on France, and while she has plenty of gold, the drain on it is steady and severe, and some Frenchmen ask:

"What is the use of waiting as England did until we are forced off the gold standard? Why not devalue now and keep the gold?"

The silver men, like Oliver Twist, are coming back for more, after having about polished off the bone which the President set before them in the form of his silver purchasing plan. The energetic James Rand, Jr., who played football at Harvard in 1908, who manufactures office equipment and who headed the "Committee of the Nation," is sounding the silver trumpet. Testifying in Washington, he regretted that there is so small a supply of silver in the world and he was for re-establishing it on a high basis in the currency scheme.

From across the sea Sir Henri Deterding beats the drum for remonetization by European countries. Sir Henri, managing director for Royal Dutch petroleum, has his finger in oil and commerce in every nook and corner of the world. He says that, whereas the production of silver is 12 times that of gold yet the value of silver is only 1-80 that of the other metal, and he argues further, that the debasing of silver by England was the chief cause of the world crisis. Yet, now as forever, there is always a gold man for every man of silver.

Angel of Chinatown Carries On

WITH the fervor of a missionary in her soul and in every fiber of her five feet and 100 pounds, Rose Livingston came out of Texas 30 years ago, headed for China to bring the gospel to the heathens. She got to New York—to the Chinatown and Bowery of Chuck Connors and Monk Eastman—and there she stayed.

Three decades have gone by and she is 52 now, more frail than ever, her brown hair streaked with gray, and her home a flat in an East Side tenement. Single-handed she has carried on, and still carries on against the most vicious elements in the city's underworld, and to sum up the results of her solitary crusade is to find that over that period she has snatched 5,000 girls from the maw of the criminal, and has sent scores of villains to prison.

They call Rose Livingston "The Angel of Chinatown," and in 1929 the National Institute of Social Science bestowed on her a gold medal. And many a scar she has to show for the title and the decoration. She will tell you, herself, that about three months of every year with her is spent in bed, or the hospital, because of the beatings she has received from thugs.

One night, she had a fight on the roof of a rooming-house where a man walloped her over the head and threw her from the roof, which was two stories high. She broke her leg, and in cold and rainy weather it plagues her. Another encounter has left her with impaired eyesight.

"I get to know a lot of tough fellows," says Miss Livingston, "but most of the time they are agreeable. I act nice to them, but I am really wishing that they were in their graves."

A small group of social workers and ministers support Miss Livingston with $600 a year, furnished through what they call, "The Rose Livingston Prudential Committee." On this pittance, the solitary crusader cares for herself and for her girls. She never turns them over to the police, getting them to their homes, or to places of refuge, and reporting to her committee.

A marked woman, but unafraid, she fights with the valor of an Amazon in the service of the Lord.

Proof Is Still Lacking In Air Mail Charges

By James T. Williams, Jr.

Delay of justice is injustice.—Landor.

IT is two months this week since Congress and the country read with amazement the announcement that the Postmaster General, who is also the chairman of the National Committee of the party in power, would cancel all domestic air mail contracts as of the 19th of February last.

The allegation was then made that all of these contracts had been obtained by "collusion and fraud." The cancellation took effect on the date fixed, without any pretense to procedure that fair-minded men would recognize as just.

Companies holding these contracts, their officials and their stockholders were condemned, convicted and punished without a hearing, without that day in court which is the right of every American citizen.

Since that time, the public has been given no proof, which a court of justice would dignify as worthy of credence, that any of these contracts was obtained by "collusion and fraud," as charged.

Since that time, not one of the officials alleged to have been guilty of "collusion and fraud" has been afforded a hearing, much less a judicial trial. Instead, one and all have been denounced in press releases, in broadcasts on the radio, and by a small minority of politicians in both houses of Congress, but no proof has been offered of the guilt charged, no chance has been given for these American citizens, who under our system of government are entitled to a presumption of innocence until proven guilty, to get protection from punishment pending a judicial trial.

* * *

Seek to Make Conviction Stand

INSTEAD of a judicial trial, instead of proof of the charges, the instigators of Postmaster General Farley's cancellation order have been frantically searching for ways and means to make the condemnation, conviction and punishment inflicted upon the holders of the canceled contracts both swift and permanent.

As soon as the tax bill is out of the way in the Senate, the proponents of the McKellar-Black air mail bill will attempt to jam that measure through after a minimum of debate and by a strictly party vote. They will try to make the public believe that the widespread resentment against inflicting punishment without judicial trial is only a political attack on President Roosevelt by Republican politicians.

Apparently in an effort to speed up the passage of the McKellar-Black bill, the Postoffice Department has invited bids for temporary contracts for carrying the mail, to be opened on April 20.

The terms upon which bids for these temporary contracts have been asked are as unfair as the provisions of the McKellar-Black bill. In fact, the terms of the two proposals are substantially the same in that they forbid the companies holding the canceled contracts to bid on any new contracts without reorganizing. And officials of the old companies are excluded from holding office in the new companies.

This is the first time in the memory of men now living when any cabinet officer has been so audacious as to threaten Congress with executive action unless Congress legislates the proposed executive action into law before a certain date.

Yet this is what the Postmaster General apparently attempted to do when he announced the other day that if Congress passed the McKellar-Black bill before April 20, the bids for temporary contracts might not be accepted.

* * *

They Labor Under A Delusion

OBVIOUSLY, the instigators of the cancellation of all domestic air mail contracts without a hearing labor under the hallucination that the plain people of this country can be fooled into believing that right is wrong, or lured into forgetting that either legislative or executive punishment of American citizens without judicial trial is unconstitutional, un-American, and utterly repugnant to the sense of fairness that distinguishes the plain people of this country.

Unless the United States Senate can be made to jump at the crack of the whip of the Postmaster General, who is also chairman of the National Committee in power, and the dispensor of patronage and the distributor of Congress funds, courageous Senators on both sides of the Senate aisle will refuse to be stampeded into enacting either the McKellar-Black bill or any other air mail bill until all the truth about the cancellation of air mail contracts has been dragged into the light and thoroughly debated.
